AFTER the clerk had pulled down everything in the store without satisfying his customer, a woman, she asked him if there was anything else he had not shown. "Yes, ma'am," he said, "the cellar; but if you wish it I will have that brought up and shown to you."

A WOMAN is said to have hit upon a happy idea when she was puzzled what to do in order to tell her mince and apple pies apart. She was advised to mark them and did so, and complacently announced:—"This I've marked 'T. M.'—'Tis mince; and that I've marked 'T. M.'—'Tain't mince."

THE Newcastle Advocate says: "The Captain of the bark Squando, recently wrecked at Bathurst, was in town on Saturday. He says the vessel cannot be got off the beach by any means. Speaking of the ghosts that are said to be seen in the cabin of the vessel, he says it is no laughing matter. He, himself, had seen a headless man in the cabin; so had many of the crew. The Captain is a Swede.

MR. A. LORD, the Agent of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, announces in another column that after the Steam Navigation steamers have ceased running, the Neptune will ply between this port and Pictou as long as the weather permits, after which she will be transferred to the Georgetown-Pictou route, where in conjunction with the Northern Light she will ply for the remainder of the season.

THE Sisters of the Convent de Notre Dame, Souris, intend holding their annual Tea and Bazaar on the evenings of the 21st and 22nd inst., when they will, doubtless, be well patronized by a large number of friends and well wishers. The good Sisters, aided by the fair ladies of the place, are determined that all who attend shall enjoy themselves, and that the Bazaar will be one of the most brilliant and successful ever held in Souris.

A PROPOSAL was made some time ago to erect a statue of the Queen at Ottawa as a memorial of the jubilee year. Lady Macdonald proposed instead the building of a permanent art museum and industrial science in which artisans and others could secure a training better fitting them for their occupations. The plan took and a committee of ladies has been formed to carry it out. It will cost about $100,000. Plans have been prepared and submitted to the Governor General.

"THANK GOD, Canada has a Man!" Thus spoke some one, says the Globe, who heard Mr. Blake for the first time the other evening. It must, of course, be assumed that the gentlemen who made the remark said "Man" with a big M, or our contemporary wouldn't put it in that way, and it will be disheartening to the rest of the male persuasion in this country to learn that they are only "men," with a little m. However, some people think that Mr. Blake is a politician, without a policy except on the prohibition question, and on that it is a negative one.—Toronto Mail.

THE St. John Sun remarks:—"We have another illustration of the zeal of new converts in the demand of the Telegraph that a tax of ten dollars per head should be imposed on unmarried persons. It is only a few days since we had the pleasure of announcing the marriage of the editor of the Telegraph, and already he is asking parliament to impose a fine on all who refuse to follow his example. In its eagerness, the Telegraph's inaccuracy increases. The announcement 'that there are probably a million bachelors of a marriageable age in Canada' is a terrific exaggeration. There were only at the date of the last census 1,175,000 males over 18 years old in the Dominion, and this number included 600,000 married men and 50,000 widowers. To obtain the one million bachelors, it is necessary to include all males over six years old. Our contemporary should [illegible] things."

TWO young men got into an altercation about two young women at the Salvation Army barracks on Sunday night last and settled the affair at the Stipendiary Magistrate's Court this forenoon. His Honor fined the defendant $1 and costs and he went on his way rejoicing.

One young lady was nearly suffocated and had to be carried from the hall.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. Prominent Land Leaguers Arrested.

DUBLIN, Dec. 16.

John Dillon, M. P., for East Mayo, Wm. O'Brien, editor of the United Ireland, Matthew Harris, M. P., for East Galway, and David S. Sheehy, M. P., for South Galway, were arrested, charged with conspiracy to defraud. The prisoners have been acting as trustees in conducting the "Plan of Campaign," and have been receiving from dissatisfied tenants reduced rents refused by the landlord's and landlords agents.

In making the arrest, the police took away from Mr. Dillon eighty (80) pounds, which he had just received in trust from tenants.

It is alleged that Dillon was roughly treated by Inspector Davies, who arrested him. The specific charge against the four men is, that they were conspiring to induce tenants not to pay their lawful rents.

The Trainor Case.

JOHN J. TRAINOR was brought before His Lordship Chief Justice Palmer this morning on a writ of habeas corpus. The facts of the case appear to be that an information was laid before the Magistrate by City Marshal Flynn, charging Trainor with a third offence against the Scott Act. Trainor was convicted and sentenced to two months' imprisonment in Queen's County Jail. A warrant of commitment was issued and placed in the Marshal's hands for execution, and Trainor was arrested and put to jail. An application was made for his discharge on two grounds:—(1) That inasmuch as Marshal Flynn was prosecutor, the warrant could neither be directed to nor executed by him; and (2) on the ground that Mr. Fitzgerald is not properly appointed. This last ground, however, was not argued, His Lordship intimating to the counsel that it was too important to be heard before him alone.

The first ground was argued at length Trainor alleged in his affidavit that he had been arrested in the first instance by the Marshal and passed over by him to the other policemen, who conveyed him to jail. This allegation, however, is flatly contradicted by the Marshal and policeman McGonnell. The former states that the warrant was given him to execute, but that before proceeding to arrest Trainor he handed it to McGonnell, and that then they went to Trainor's house; that he (the Marshal) was standing in Trainor's door, and that Trainor was coming out, and that he put his arms out and stopped him, and that then McGonnell came up and made the "formal" arrest. McGonnell, in his affidavit, corroborates this version of the affair. His Lordship took time to consider his decision and Trainor was remanded.

Mr. Hodgson, Q. C., appeared for Trainor, and Mr. Davies, Q. C., appeared for the other side.

It was argued by Trainor's counsel that it was no part of the Marshal's duty to lodge the information, and that having done so he should not be permitted to execute process wherein he himself was prosecutor. A case was cited in support of this view, which was decided a very short time ago before the Court of Queen's Bench of England. The case is one which may be of interest to the City Council of this city. There the Magistrates of the city of Exeter directed the Chief Constable to lay an information against a man for fraud, which turned out to be unfounded. An action was subsequently brought against the Constable for the illegal prosecution, and the Constable was mulcted in damages. The City Council passed a resolution to pay these damages and costs, but certain rate-payers objected, and the Court of Queen's Bench stoppel the Council from paying the money, and that Court laid down the law to be that it was no part of the Constable's duties to lodge informations, and that the order of the Magistrate to do so was one which he was not bound to obey.
