Suchan Traded Violin For Gun

TORONTO, Sept. 25 — (CP) — A violin-maker and five cab drivers added their testimony today to a first trial murder trial in years. Leonard Jackson and Steve Suchan have been charged with the slaying last March of Det. Sgt. Edmund Tong. Today, the fourth day of the trial, George Kindness, snow-haired violin-maker, said Suchan, whom he knew as Val Lesso, a musician, had visited his shop frequently over a period of years. Kindness testified that Suchan traded him the violin for a Smith and Wesson .38-caliber revolver—the gun which the crown alleges killed Tong. The violin-maker said the Ontario Provincial Police officially approved the transaction. Later five taxi drivers, who carried two men in relays from Port Credit to Hamilton the day Tong was shot, identified Suchan and Jackson as the men who were in their cabs. Last night the suburban North York barn in which Leonard Jackson, Steve Suchan, Edwin Boyd and another alleged member of the gang were captured last week following a jailbreak was burned. It was believed a sightseer's cigaret was responsible for the blaze.

Oil Refinery Officially Opened At Sarnia, Ont.

SARNIA, Ont., Sept. 25 — (CP) — A new $23,000,000 refinery, which processes 20,000 barrels of Alberta crude oil a day, was officially opened today by Production Minister Howe. Premier Manning of Alberta and Premier Frost of Ontario shared the duties of the official opening of the plant built by Canadian Oil Companies Limited at Froomfield, half a mile south of Sarnia's city limits, newest completed development in Canada's bustling chemical valley. The plant, which uses about 10 per cent of Alberta's current oil production, has been in production since last June. It replaces Canadian Oil's old refinery, built 50 years ago at Petrolia, 16 miles southwest of Sarnia, in the heart of Canada's first oil fields.

The refinery, said Mr. Howe, was the outgrowth of Alberta's booming oil development of the last five years—the first refinery in Eastern Canada specifically designed to process crude oil from Western Canada. "We all know that the finding of a Canadian source of oil had had a profound effect in reducing imports of petroleum products from other countries," Mr. Howe told an audience of 1,200 which included 800 business men from many parts of Ontario. "One of the reasons why the Canadian dollar now is the strongest currency in the world is the reduction in the former drain on our supply of United States dollars required to pay for imported crude oil. I look forward to the day, not many years distant when oil from Canada will supply, not one-third of our requirements, as at present, but the whole of our requirements. This will not be an easy task and I am not minimizing the obstacles that lie ahead."

He admitted firing five shots at a man who he took to be the night watchman "to scare him."

WINDSOR, N. S., Sept. 25 — (CP) — Mr. Justice John Doull today sentenced Russel Clarke Spence of Newport Station to two years in Dorchester Penitentiary and ordered his motor license revoked for five years. Combines Work Through Night On Prairies

EDMONTON, Sept. 25 — (CP) — Fingers of light are criss-crossing the Prairie landscape at night this week as Western grain growers press for completion of the biggest harvest ever. The crops' estimated worth is in excess of $1,500,000,000, and the farmer is working round the clock to get it in. Early-September rains held up the harvest for a while. But then the weather turned warm and clear the dry air reducing night dew to a point where round-the-clock field work would be carried on under near-perfect conditions. Frost no longer is a major hazard. The crop is too far along. It could do damage to some backward areas. In Saskatchewan, which is counting on a record 428,000,000 bushels of wheat alone (worth an estimated $700,000,000), the harvest may be completed in another week. Alberta reported combines going from one end of the province to the other. Motorists driving along the highways at night could see the flashing of a myriad distant lights from the millions of dollars worth of farm machinery working overtime in the fields. In Manitoba about 90 percent of the crop has been harvested. The favorable harvest picture follows two disappointing years when early winter forced farmers to leave large quantities of grain unharvested in the fields until spring. The big yields this year have created acute storage problems. The country elevators are plugged and many farms have had to pile their threshed grain in the fields.

Ceylon Hits Hard At Canadian Imports

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Sept. 25 — (Reuters) — Ceylon's new ceiling on imports strikes heavily at Canadian and American products and will reduce annual dollar expenditure to about $10,500,000. This is a major slash, since Ceylon's total imports for the current year will not be allowed to top $15,760,000. The import restrictions, announced last night, follow measures announced last week-end to meet Ceylon's financial crisis and food shortage. Goods from Britain and the Commonwealth—except Canada—are not touched, but Europe and North and South America will feel the cuts.

Utopian-Type Taxation Plan Is Endorsed

TORONTO, Sept. 25 — (CP) — The Canadian Congress of Labor today endorsed a Utopian-type of taxation platform, demanding major tax concessions and greater social benefits from the Federal Government. It called for a boost in old-age pensions to $65 a month for those 65 years old and over, without a means test. It urged the government to eliminate the eight-per-cent sales tax gradually, and knock off the four-per-cent floor on medical bills for income tax purposes. Further, the 350,000-member labor body demanded that basic income-tax exemptions be raised to $3,000 for married persons, $1,500 for single persons and $500 for each dependent. It threw out a resolution proposing that taxpayers be allowed federal income tax because that would "favor the wealthy" but gave complete support to demands for a boost in family allowances to keep them in line with cost-of-living advances.

Elections Today

Nearing the end of its week-long sessions, the C. C. L. waded through a huge stack of resolutions, clearing the decks for the big election battle tomorrow. Left-wingers heckled and manoeuvred for advantage positions in debate, but without success. The 900-delegate convention took this action: 1. Served notice on the Quebec Government that it plans a terrific battle against the government's alleged anti-labor front, to batter it down with a big union organizational drive in Quebec's small towns. Money and manpower for the drive is to come from C.C.L. affiliates. 2. Heard from Labor Minister Gregg by telegram that the Cabinet has approved of an insertion in all government contracts to block discrimination against employees on the grounds of race, color, religion or national origin. 3. Blasted the Federal Government for its immigration policies. 4. Heard a cry from the convention floor that wages in Quebec are 30 cents an hour lower than in Ontario and a suggestion from an American labor leader that the C.C.L. should strive for a national minimum wage of 75 cents an hour. On the surface, the convention appeared to be sailing smoothly, but beneath the surface, plotting and planning continued. Left-wingers continually tried to steer the convention into agreeing to unite with expelled unions—including those expelled for Communist activity. There was some applause on these suggestions, but the majority of the convention rejected the manoeuvring. More significant was the under-the-surface battle for power between Donald MacDonald, secretary-treasurer, who faces opposition of William Mahoney of the steelworkers in the election battle tomorrow. St. Keen was the fight for votes that A. R. Mosher, C.C.L. president, rose at one point to main-

Irish Sailor Dies En Route Home

MONTREAL, Sept. 25 — (CP) — A 40-year-old Irish-born sailor, who hitch-hiked his way across a continent to find a ship to take him home to his two motherless daughters in Scotland, will be buried here tomorrow. The seaman, Mike Donogh, died Sunday in immigration detention barracks a few hours after being notified that authorities had found a Scotland-bound ship. He suffered a heart attack from over-excitement. Mike shipped out of Scotland several months ago on a vessel bound for Vancouver. The ship, originally due to return to Scotland, was ordered to proceed to Australia and Mike jumped ship and hitch-hiked to Montreal. Here, he reported to immigration authorities who detained him until he could be booked on another ship. He never made it.

Six Boxes Taken

Continued from page 1 was the work of the gang who stole $80,000 in gold at Sudbury two months ago. The gold in transit was stolen from an unguarded mail car at the Sudbury station while being shipped from British Columbia mines. One report was the missing gold was bound for Europe. The four boxes sent out on the plane contained bullion valued at approximately $180,000. Soon after, Canadian National Railways investigators were called in on the case—T. C. A. is a subsidiary of the government-owned railway system. North America's largest rail service—R. C. M. P. Detectives from Toronto headquarters joined them Police from Toronto township, in which the big airport is situated, also assisted. A Transport Department official at Malton, asked whether he had any official word that the gold had been stolen, replied: "It could be just misplaced." When the Brinks truck delivers the bullion to the T. C. A. sign shed, T. C. A. signs for it and then cares for it. The gold is usually kept in the cargo-room cage for three to four hours before it is loaded onto a plane. The cage is locked with a padlock. When the plane is ready, the bullion is taken from the cage to the plane by a cargo attendant who gets a key to the cage from the superintendent. The bullion is put on a truck and taken the 100 feet to the plane as normal cargo. Gold is usually put on through flights. The value of the haul ranked it with such major Canadian crimes as the $397,000 International Nickel Company pay cheque robbery at Sudbury, Feb. 20, 1951 and the $310,000 bank robbery at Sud-
