Weekend Golf Action

ONE of the season's most popular golf tournaments takes place over this holiday weekend at the beautiful National Park course at Cavendish.

It's a three-day show and the promoters have worked hard on the project so that things may come out better than ever. Each year appears to eclipse the one before and the 1962 tournament gives promise of bettering anything yet offered.

Entries close this evening at 6 o'clock and the draw will appear in tomorrow's Guardian.

PLAY commences Saturday for Juniors and third division male competitors. The junior group is divided into two sections, ages 16-18 years, and 12-15 years. The later section goes nine holes Saturday and the 16-18 year group goes through 18 holes on the same day. Third division players have 18 holes on opening day.

Sunday everybody sees action. First, second and championship divisions play 18 holes on Sunday. All three groups play 18 more Monday with the top ten and ties in the championship group going an additional nine holes Monday to decide the winners.

The ladies' divisions are championship first and second, and all three swing into action on Sunday. The second division plays 9 holes but the other two go through 18 holes on Sunday. Monday the championship and first division groups play another 18 and the second division another 9.

Juniors are not in action on Sunday but complete their play Monday when the 16-18 year group play 18 holes and the 12-15 year bracket gets in another nine holes.

The seniors will play in other divisions according to their handicaps.

They're Hoping

ALL that is needed now is to have good weather favor the big tourney through the three days. There seems no doubt about a very large entry list and all divisions will be jammed packed.

Some exceptionally fine golf is expected, especially in the championship division where the 'cream of the crop' will be participating.

A total of 50 prizes will be distributed Monday night at the completion of play.

Everything points to a most successful tournament and Green Gables should be one of the busiest golf centres in the Maritimes on Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Local Golfers Away

TODAY five Island golfers are competing in the Saint John Exhibition Open which concludes on Saturday. Then Sunday and Monday they will move to Moncton for The Moncton Open which goes on those two days.

The five are Charlottetown pro, Cecil 'Bubby' Dowling, Cavendish pro Errol Nicholson, amateurs Joe Malloy and Reg Mabar, and George Arnold, assistant pro at Belvedere.

Local golf followers will be pulling for these five to come through with top performances in these New Brunswick tournaments.

Softball Finals

THE Prince Edward Island Softball finals between MacKenzie's House of Fashion and Canadian Tire Pistons commences Saturday afternoon at Summerside.

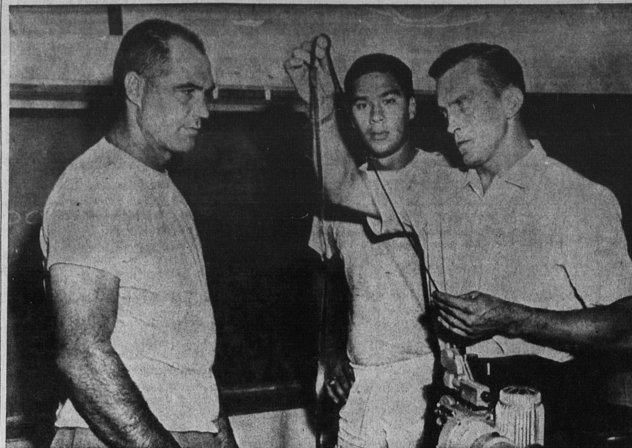
This is the first of a best-of-three series with games two and three scheduled for Charlottetown Saturday September 8.

MacKenzie's are the defending champions but they will have quite a job on their hands retaining that crown. The Pistons were underdogs in both the semi-finals and finals in City Softball League competition. However they bounced from behind in spectacular fashion and reached the spot they've wanted all season. Last September MacKenzie's put the Pistons out of the running for the Maritime crown and went on to win the three-province crown themselves. The Pistons haven't forgotten and they are determined to repay these Fashionmen.

It should be a great series and some pretty fancy softball is certain to be served up before a provincial winner is declared.

Loads Of Racing

HARNESS RACING fans are reminded that cards are scheduled for Charlottetown Driving Park tonight, Saturday and Monday. All three program have a great lineup of horses and some great times are expected.



FILM-FOOTBALL FROWN

By W. R. WHEATLY

MONCTON (CP)—Brian McCormick of Kelowna, B.C. and Norm Mogil of Toronto won their semi-final matches Thursday in the Canadian junior golf championships and will meet today in the 36-hole final.

McCormick, 18-year-old high school student, squeezed past Bob Jamieson, Ontario junior champion from Peterborough, one up in a tight match in which there was never more than a hole difference between the players.

Mogil, also 18 and a student at Forest Hills Collegiate, finally shook off tenacious Jack Bryant of Halifax down the back nine to beat the 16-year-old Nova Scotia youngster 3 and 2.

McCormick came out of the morning quarter-finals with a 3 and 2 win over another Nova Scotia boy, Brent Austin of New Glasgow, and Mogil won two up over Wayne Vollmer, a highly regarded youngster from Vancouver.

In the other quarter - finals Jamieson entering the back nine and lost it twice. He went ahead to stay at the 14th with a par four while Jamieson hree-putted the green and took a five.

Mogil also had a one-up lead at the turn in his match with Bryant and went two-up at the 10th. The Halifax boy was never able to catch up.

McCormick had an approximate medal score of 72, two over par for the Moncton Golf Club course, and Jamieson had 73.

The two boys halved the first three holes in pars and Jamieson won the par-five fourth with a six against McCormick's seven.

The Kelowna boy was in rough behind the green with his third shot and barely on with his next. He three-putted.

The fifth and sixth were halved in pars. McCormick took the seventh with a par. The eighth was halved and McCormick went on up at the ninth, sinking a 20-foot birdie putt.

Jamieson's second shot at the 10th was only two feet from the pin and he sank his birdie putt to square the match. McCormick made a recovery at the 12th to win it with a par but lost the 13th to Jamieson's par.

Jamieson three - putted the 14th to go one down. The remaining holes were halved in par fours. Jamieson's try for a birdie at the 15th rimmed the cup.

PLAYED IN DRIZZLE

Thursday's matches were played in cloudy weather with intervals of drizzling rain.

The only hole the Bryant and Mogil didn't halve on the front nine was the par - four third where Bryant was short with his second.

Bryant missed a chance to get even at the par-four ninth when Mogil hooked his drive. The ball hit the trees and dropped on the fairway. He was short 25 yards with his second, chipped 30 feet from the pin and two-putted for a five.

Bryant's second was on the edge of the green, 75 feet from the pin. He chipped from the fringe and two-putted from six feet.

Bryant put his second shot in a trap at the 10th and went two down. He won the 11th with a par. The next three were halved. He went two down again when he three-putted the 15th and Mogil ended the match on the 16th with a par when Bryant's second was short.

McCormick was three over par for his medal score for the 16 holes played and Bryant was five over.

The two rounds for the Friday final are scheduled for 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

HUNTER'S CORNER

Bonshaw Dam Once Again Is Reality To Fishermen

The Bonshaw Dam is once again in the trout producing column and this, I know, will be welcome news to all ardent trout fishermen. It was a tougher project than last year. There was at least three times the volume of water flowing in the river and the 'fill' was so waterlogged trouble was experienced with 'spreading.' In any event that is now ancient history and the dam is once again a reality. The water was shut off at 10.00 a.m. on the 24th and within five hours had flooded the dam bed to the mouth of the bypass. Once the 'buffer' dam. . .constructed to hold the stream up until the main dam embankment was sealed off. . .let go the dam bed filled like an immense boiling spring.

A causeway was built across the bypass to allow 'fill' to be pushed from the off side and this was only partially removed. Early Saturday morning the barrier was dozed out and a red torrent of water, resembling Niagara Falls, roared seaward. Early in the morning a fisherman arrived and launched a boat. I watched him round a wooded bend and he never came back. . .not within five or six hours in any event. . .so he must have hit pay dirt. The following will be of interest to those of the angling fraternity who argue about how long a dam must be up before trout will ascend the bypass.

Early in the afternoon, around one o'clock I'd say offhand, a lone angler arrived carrying his fishing gear and a well stocked lunch kit. I showed him the bypass, that was running as red as any Communist that ever came out of Russia, and tried to discourage him with respect to trout prospects. He was very philosophical over the matter and told me he had all afternoon with nothing to do on his hands and might as well sit here in the sun as anywhere else. I watched him heave out his line, slightly to the left of the bypass current, and settle himself comfortably. About an hour and a half later I walked over to where he was sitting and inquired as to his luck. I was in for a surprise. He told me he had just lost a heavy trout that fought its way into a weed tangle and secured the leverage sufficient to break the leader. He never saw the trout but knew it was large because he couldn't hold him off.

BIG SPLASH

He also informed me that a few minutes before I came a large trout had made a big splash at the mouth of the bypass. . .like a heavy rock tossed into the water. The water in the bypass was blood red but once trout ran that gauntlet they reached blue water in the dam proper. At this moment he shouted: "Look, there he goes now." He was right. Well out in the blue water I saw a dorsal fin cutting didoes like a miniature shark. During the afternoon I watched intoxicated trout besporting themselves near the surface. Some showed the dorsal fin while under water disturbance indicated other 'tackle busters' were enjoying the spree.

Trout, large ones in particular, are not inclined to move up a bypass in daylight hours, unless under cover of a screen of roil, but do so under cover of darkness or deep dusk. We had to stop the work of 'landscaping' the embankment due to the dozer tracks cutting deep depressions in the 'fill and I left before ascertaining what luck the anglers had. The minute a dam is constructed on a stream trout appear to know. By what means I can only guess and I'd guess some form of 'water telegraphy' I have constructed quite a number of dams and have yet to stock a single one. I have found out from experience that they stock themselves naturally and in abundance.

The Bonshaw Dam is a trout fishermen's dream world of blue water winding between high hills bedecked in Nature's finest greenery. Its a joy to be there even if the trout at times are inclined to be un-cooperative. When fresh run sea trout first enter a fresh water dam they appear all keyed up and cut some wild didoes. When this wears off they appear to stay on the bottom and have a sulking spell and are not tempted by any offering no matter how enticing. They act quite human at times. May the angling fraternity have good luck in the Bonshaw Dam. In any event pleasurable hours may be spent there even if the trout are not willing to play ball. If they hit every lure offered, in any type of weather conditions, the joy and thrill would go out of angling.

Race Card Going At Ch'town Oval

Another great harness racing program is going tonight at the Charlottetown Driving Park.

It's an eight-dash card with all horses getting double trips for the night. The classifier appears to have come through with another 'hard-to-pick' affair and mutuel bettors could be in for a night of difficulties.

It's never easy to pick them but tonights entries look just a little bit tougher. Four dashes find seven facing the starter and the other four have the full complement of eight.

The feature finds Just Gary leaving on the rail in trip one and with this kind of a going-away spot, Mike O'Brien will be hard to beat. But the other seven are bearcats that will bear plenty of watching. They are Dreamy Guy, Torrid Waters, Jean Clegg, Miss Kemble, Homestretch Lady and Gay Laird. Any horse has a perfect license to head the summary in these events.

Dashes three and seven will be equally as tough to pick. Mai Kai has the rail in the opening mile of this class and the opposition will be supplied by Jeanie Brewer, Elmer C. Mighty May, Buddy Lybrook, Dennis Herbert, Loraine's Watchim and Wing Victory.

It shapes up like one of the season's most entertaining cards and a good crowd should be on hand to watch the excitement.

Tonight's cooler, presented by the Horse and Sulky Club, goes to the horse with the best summary in dashes four and eight.

First dash goes promptly at 8 o'clock.

Rider Players Are Paid Off

OTTAWA (CP)—Two Ottawa Rough Rider players injured and placed on waivers before the season began have reached a financial settlement with the football club.

Dick Desmarais and Bob Beattie turned the matter over to their lawyer after the club offered them 10 per cent of their full salary. There was no official mention of the amount of settlement, but the Journal says Desmarais will be paid $7,000 contract and Beattie will receive $4,000 on a $7,000 contract.

John Uelses Is Suspended

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — John Uelses, the first man to pole vault 16 feet, Thursday was suspended by the Florida Gold Coast chapter of the AAU from further amateur competition.

Chairman Mrs. June Krauser said Uelses was accused of "demanding and receiving $185 from the Hollywood (Fla.) optimist Club . . . before jumping in the Hollywood Optimist Relays March 24, 1962."

Mrs. Krauser said the demands by Uelses violated AAU rules.

Sanford Nabs 19th Win As Giants Nip Braves 3-2

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

San Francisco's Jack Sanford, given a huge ration of bullpen aid, won his 13th straight game Thursday as the Giants beat Milwaukee 3-2 in the lone day action in the majors.

Willie Mays hit his 40th home run of the year and Orlando Cepeda and Jim Davenport each added one for the Giants. Frank Bolling and losing pitcher Warren Spahn rapped consecutive homers for the Braves.

Sanford, winning his 19th game against six losses, equalled his personal victory high achieved with Philadelphia as a rookie in 1957. But as has been the case in nine of his last 13 victories, he needed relief help.

It took Bob Bolin, Billy O'Dell, Stu Miller, Mike McCormick and Don Larsen, to preserve Sanford's victory string.

Larson stabbed Tommy Aaron's liner to the mound and turned it into a game ending double play when Milwaukee had the bases loaded in the ninth. Two singles and a walk off Miller and McCormick fill the bags. Hank Aaron rapp a hard grounder between sh and third that Davenpo speared and threw to the pla for a force play and the fi out.

HAD TWO STRIKES ON MAY

Spahn who had won si straight, retired the first tw Giants in the first inning a had a count of two strikes Mays when Willie lofted home run 400 feet over the le field fence. Then Ceped stepped into a 2-1 outside pitc and rapped it over the rig field fence for his 32nd home

Sanford allowed only a gam opening double by Amado Sam uel until Bolling and Spah homered with one out in th seventh.

When Gus Bell singled afte the two homers, Sanford de parted.

Milwaukee loaded the bases off Bolin and O'Dell in the eighth, but Miller fanned Bolling and Spahn flied deep to right to end the inning.

Exhibition Open Underway Today

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — The fifth annual Saint John Exhibition Open Golf tournament opens this morning (Friday) at the nearby Riverside Golf and Country Club with the finest field in the history of the meet competing.

Heading the list are defending Open champion Cecil Dowling of the Belvedere Golf Club, Charlottetown and Bill Ezinicki, a former National Hockey League star now playing golf out of the Hillview Country Club, North Reading, Mass.

Dowling, who last year won the tourney with an even par 142 total, a record for the event, finished four strokes ahead of Ezinicki. The Belvedere pro is a two-time winner of the Open and broke his own mark of 143 which he set in 1958, inital year of the meet. He is the only man to win the tourney twice.

Ezinicki won the Moncton Open last year with a record 137 total. In the second round at the Gunningsville layout he broke the competitive course record with a five-under-par 65.

All former amateur and professional champions are competing in the two-day 36-hole tourney. Bill Bishop, 1962 N.B.-P.E.I. amateur champion and winner of the Mike Fitzgerald Memorial trophy emblematic of low amateur honors in the Exhibition Open, will defend the title he won last year.

TOP PROS ENTERED

Top professionals in the Atlantic Provinces and New England are entered in the two day competition with many outstanding shotsmiths. Jim Maxwell, Nova Scotia Open champ for the past two years, tops the list of Canadian competitors, Maxwell plays out of the Chester Golf Club, Chester, N.S.

Other top men are Errol Nicholson, 1959 Open champ from Cavendish, P.E.I., John Munroe, of Amherst, home professional Don Sinclair and Ron LeClair of Waterville, Me., top money winner in 1960.

In the amateur field, some of the Maritime's finest competitors will be gunning for low honors. Included are Peter Doig of Halifax Ashburn, a former Nova Scotia Open and amateur title holder. Don Fleet of Digby, N.S., Eddie Crowell of Halifax Ashburn. Nearby Westfield's John Estabrooks, and Gene Mealey, Jim Gibson, former Riverside ace now playing in Toronto.

A total of $1,500 in professional money and another $1,500 in amateur prizes are at stake in the meeting being held over the par 71 layout.

Bob Brook Wins Truro Feature

TRURO (CP) — Bob Brook, with slow miles of 2:09 and 2:10 on a rain-soaked track, won both halves of the $2,000 Maritime Circuit free-for-all here Thursday night over six of the the Maritime's top harness horses.

The four-year-old Glace Bay horse, who played second fiddle to Dartmouth's Dee's Boy in the B. C. Cruickshank Memorial Pace at Sackville Downs near Halifax last Saturday, shook off tough opposition to take home the prize money.

Bob Lee Boy, owned in Dartmouth, took the lead in the first race but moved aside for June Byrd of Charlottetown who made a bid going down the back stretch Bob Brook took over on the back stretch the second time round and coasted in for a win. Charlottetown's Hi Jay edged out June Bryd on the homestretch.

Bob Lee Boy managed fourth position ahead of Dee's Boy who broke at the half and received a minor leg cut. He was withdrawn from the second dash. A third Charlottetown entry, Tammany Hall, finished sixth.

June Byrd took the lead from the start in the second race and held it the first time round the half-mile oval. Bob Lee Boy and Tammany Hall took over at the quarter and were neck and neck at the half. At the three-quarter pole, June Byrd was again leading. Bob Brook made his move and went on to lead the field under the wire in 2:10.

June Byrd finished second, Hi Jay was third and Bob Lee Boy and Tammany Hall finished in order.

Another double winner was Free Agent who won one dash in 2.10.2, only two-fifths of a second off Bob Brooks second miles

Single winners were Effie May Clay. Merry Note, Borderview Flash and Scottish Knight.

Highest pay of the night was a $135.60 exactor on Scottish Knight and True Shirley Hal.

A crowd estimated at about 4,500 packed the Truro Raceway for the feature event despite a heavy mist over the track.

Lions, Eskies Play Tonight

EDMONTON (CP) — British Columbia Lions stalk Edmonton Eskimos tonight—the only team they managed to defeat in the 1961 season—in the first match of this season between the two Western Football Conference teams.

Both teams have a 2-2 won-lost record this year. A win for either will give the victor at least a precarious perch among the cluttered top ranks of the conference standings.

Lions will be travelling to eastern Canada and two interlocking Canadian Football League games after tonight.

For Eskimos the game will be a warmup for the Labor Day weekend. They meet Calgary Stampeders in Calgary Monday.

Junior Abbies Hold Practice

A baseball practice has been called for Junior Abbies this evening on Memorial Field beginning at 6 o'clock. The workout is in preparation for the first game of the Island Junior finals in Summerside Saturday afternoon at 3.30.

This is a replay of the game which was thrown out because the Abbies had used an overaged player.

The second game in this series goes Sunday on Memorial Field at 2 o'clock.

Coach Irv MacKinnon urges a full turnout for this evening's practice.
