PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

MUST CONTINUE

TO GROW

NEW JOB OPPORTUNITIES

WITH MORE

NEW INDUSTRIES

The new, $1,000,000 frozen food plant underway near Montague will provide jobs for up to two hundred people, require the produce from 1,000 Island farms and use 1,000,000 pounds of fish annually. Other new industries, bringing new jobs to the province are in various stages of negotiation.

1. A food processing industry for West Prince.
2. A major tobacco company plant.
3. A cold storage plant for the Charlottetown area.
4. The combination of two inactive cheese factories into one new producing factory for Morell.
5. Following the success of Enheat, a survey will be made of the Charlottetown area and new, defense production industries will result.

Raise the standard of living of our people, provide new jobs to keep our young people in the province, training our people through the new Vocational School at Summerside and the Technical Training School under construction in Charlottetown—this is the continuing policy of the Government of Walter Shaw.

SPARE TIME INCOME

OPPORTUNITIES

RESOURCES DEVELOPMENT

PROGRAMS

Sixteen new resources development projects have been proposed to Ottawa under the Agricultural and Rehabilitation Development Act. The Federal Government will contribute $1,390,000 for these projects. Six have been approved.

1. The development of five ponds and dams to conserve water and wild life and provide new recreational areas.
2. Watershed and recreational areas will be restored through re-forestation of large tracts.
3. Cedar Dunes Park at West Point will be purchased and developed.
4. An engineering study will be made to establish a ferry service between West Point and New Brunswick.
5. Additions of staff will be made to the Division of Research.
6. A technical survey is underway on prospects for an instant mashed potato industry. Preliminary reports are favourable. Peat manufacturing possibilities are being studied.

People will have new opportunities to earn money in their spare time. A Director and three instructors have been appointed to establish an Island-wide handicrafts industry. Training will start at once so we may be ready to sell handicraft products to tourists next summer. In addition to the home production of handicrafts, other new jobs will be available teaching tourists the crafts we will learn.

A $48.00 SAVING

FOR EVERY ISLAND

FAMILY

Your vote for Conservative candidates on December 10th gives the Shaw Government your mandate to abolish premiums and pay for Hospital Care from general revenues. This action on your part will have three benefits.

1. An immediate saving of $48 for every family, $24 for every individual.
2. A substantial increase in the share of Hospital Insurance costs paid by the Federal Government.
3. A sharp reduction in provincial administrative costs.

Editorial Excerpts,
The Charlottetown Guardian,
Nov. 16, 1959

"Drunken Sailors, or What?"

We hope, for their sake, that the Liberals will have a satisfactory answer to Provincial Treasurer McQuaid's statement that in the period of little more than a fortnight between election of September 1 and the time the Liberals relinquished office on Sept. 16, they piled up bills to the hefty tune of $1,500,000. This means that while acting merely as caretakers for the incoming government, they overspent the taxpayer's money at the rate of about $4,000 an hour.

What urgent requirement was there for this huge splurge that brought the bank overdraft and other unfunded debt to eleven and three-quarter millions of dollars? We realize that expenditure demands are increasing every year, but there was no indication that this state of affairs was being reached when the last budget was presented in the Legislature. And, but for the Atlantic Provinces grant given by the Diefenbaker Government, we would be another $2,500,000 in the hole this year . . .

. . . We should like to know what they have to say particularly about their post-election binge which beats anything we have heard about drunken sailors.
