Are You Protected Against BLACKOUTS?

Some day you will have a serious power failure. A storm, an accident, deliberate sabotage or simply a blown fuse will black out your lights in a critical area. Are you adequately prepared to meet the attendant hazards of sudden darkness, possible panic, property damage, financial loss, injuries, or perhaps loss of lives?
In a blackout, the first 60 seconds are vital. You can have emergency light instantly.
Consult CHAPPELL & COMPANY for your requirements on Automatic Stand-by Lights. Truly dependable lighting equipment frequently pays for itself in one power failure.
Each unit is self-contained, completely independent of any other source of power during an emergency. If central power fails, or a fuse blows and lights black out, each emergency light instantly and automatically floods its designated critical area with light from its own power... providing light for the operation of safety and other controls, orderly evacuation of premises if necessary, or the continuation of normal operation.
CHAPPELL & COMPANY will be glad to furnish additional information.
