

SUPREME COURT.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given, that His Majesty's Supreme Court of Judicature, Court of Assize, and General Gaol Delivery, for this Island, will be held at Charlotte-Town, on Tuesday the Thirtieth of October next, at the hour of ten o'clock forenoon of the same day—of which all Justices, Coroners, High and Petty Constables and Bailiffs within this Island will take notice, and laying aside all manner of business and excuses whatsoever, be then and there to do and fulfil those things which by reason of their several offices shall be to be done.

Given under my hand, at Charlotte-Town, in the Island Prince Edward, this 24th day of September, 1832.

THOMAS BILLING, Sheriff,

D. R. HUNT'S STOMACHIC MIXTURE.

The Proprietor of this Medicine offers his services to the afflicted; particularly in affections of the Stomach, as Dyspepsia, Cardialgia, commonly called heart-burn, Pyrosis, or Water-brash, &c. and in Asthmatic affections, Incontinent Phlegm, Coughs, &c.

The result of long observation has led him to this conclusion, viz. that those persons whose powers of assimilation are enfeebled (no matter from what cause), must by rapid strides advance towards a diseased state in some of its varieties.

Premising thus, he begs leave to observe, after repeated trials, he is convinced, that (if there be a specific medicine for any disease) his chemical Stomachic Mixture approaches the nearest to one of any he is at present acquainted with.

It is not necessary here to point out the importance of keeping the stomach in good order.

It is not necessary to explain how, by applying a remedy at once safe and efficacious to those suffering under Dyspepsia, Heart-burn, or any similar affection the complaint disappears.

It is not necessary to say, why the morning sickness (if present to that degree requiring the aid of medicine) caused by sympathy with other parts of the system, is relieved by the Chemical Stomachic Draught. Nor why it removes indigestion and of course sweetens the breath; the fact of its giving relief in nineteen cases out of twenty, is a sufficient testimony of its merits.

Neither is it necessary to reiterate, why that sort of collapse, so often experienced by the votaries of Bacchus, (known by certain tremulous motions, head-ache, want of appetite, and real Debility,) is relieved, and disappears after taking a dose of the Chemical Stomachic Mixture; but it may be necessary to say, as a Febrifuge Medicine it bears a palm.

In cases of Fever, where hot and dry skin, white tongue, and thirst are present, by adding a single grain of the powder of Ipecacuanha of three fluid drams (about three tea spoonsful) to the Chemical Stomachic Mixture and diluted with tepid water, and taken at intervals of from three to six hours the most beneficial effects may be expected from it, while toast water, thin gruel, or any simple diluent drink will accelerate its medicinal effects.

To this Medicine are added 12 Pills, 4 of which may be taken occasionally going to bed, but they not only have a gentle aperient effect, but have actually removed severe pains in the stomach, in a short time, and in those Fevers where active purges are improper, these Pills are very valuable.

The Dose of the Chemical Stomachic mixture is, for an Adult, one large tea-spoonful, diluted with water, or syrup and water, to be taken in the morning.

If to the dose of the Chemical Stomachic Mixture, diluted as before, a table-spoonful of wine be added, it converts the draught into one of the most valuable sudorifics that can be used in fevers, for this potent reason, it causes diaphoresis without inducing exhaustion.

Moreover the proprietor, can with confidence recommend this mixture, as one of the best Vermifuges (worm medicines) extant. If a tea-spoonful of this Medicine be added to a table-spoonful of water, and administered to a child, suspected to have worms, every other morning for eight or ten days. The unpleasant symptoms attending them, particularly the bad breath, pain in the stomach, irregular appetite, the short dry cough, and the almost daily fever, all vanish.—In this respect, the Mixture is a valuable family Medicine, particularly to those residing at a distance from Medical assistance.
