MR. WEATHERWET—"By Jove! but these Melissa Coats ARE the proper thing. You would scarcely believe I had been out all day in this blooming storm; and here I am, quite dry and jolly comfortable, don't you know?"

MISS DRENCHER—"O, yes; I have worn my Melissa for more than a year in all kinds of weather; and the beauty of it is, there is none of that clammy, air-tight feeling about it, nor that horrid smell one gets from other waterproofs."

MR. W.—"There seem to be several poor imitations of this Melissa Cloth on the market, so one has to be careful, you know, and always look for the Melissa Trade Mark on every garment or piece of cloth."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

A "Breeder" Heard From.

Sir,—A great deal has been said and much written on the subject of the Georgetown Stallion Race; as breeders are interested largely in stallion races, I will give you the views of one on this case. To begin at the beginning, the public challenge that gave rise to this race or intended race, I look upon all such challenges in the public prints as an exceedingly bad taste and very objectionable for many reasons, and in this instance especially so. I had the Agriculturalist attacked by Dr. Strickland on this point because he would have strong grounds for his animadversions.

In considering the Georgetown case we must bear in mind that these were not common horses of little value merely trotting for the money, but high bred valuable stallions seeking reputation rather than money. In this respect the state of the track was of the utmost consequence, and no horseman would think of starting a valuable horse whose character was everything to him on a track such as Georgetown. As to the action of the Agriculturalist, I think Dr. Strickland must have been at the time in a variety of opinions as to the merits of this case, but there can be but one as to the state of the weather. It was simply unfit to trot in, both in regard to horses and spectators; and I think Dr. Strickland was perfectly right not to start his horse under the circumstances. As to the action of the Association in suspending him for non-payment of entrance money, it seems to me—the race being declared off—it was ill advised, if not illegal. Rule 18 of the National Association states that "if a race is declared off the entrance money is to be refunded." They surely cannot exact entrance money for a race that never came off; it would be plain robbery.

Now, as to the merits of these stallions, what breeders and the public are most interested in, which is the best horse? They take no stock in the petty hickering of Brennan and Strickland, but would like to see a fair, square contest between the horses. About the middle of this month there is a strong probability of fine Indian summer weather, good and fit for trotting. The Charlottetown track will be in splendid condition, as nothing but frost can spoil it. I say, then, let each stallion owner chip in $100, appoint competent judges, who shall say what is a good day and track, and let the best horses take the stakes and the keudas.

Canadian Cheese.

A FINE EXHIBIT AT AGRICULTURAL HALL, ISLINGTON.

(London Canadian Gazette, Oct. 20th.)

Cheese was the only Canadian dairy produce exhibited at the dairy show held at the Agricultural Hall, Islington, last week. Some very good samples were shown by Tubal Webb, of Kensington, who took the first prize for colonial hard cheese, as well as that for the soft texture, and these attracted much attention. The two monster Canadian cheeses, weighing half a ton each, especially came in for notice. The lord mayor, accompanied by the lady mayoress, visited the stall, and were very much impressed with the colonial exhibit. Mr. Webb himself certainly thinks highly of the future before Canadian cheese, which, he says, compares very favorably with English makes. "When the cloth is stripped off some of the big eighty-pound cheeses received from Canada, it would be difficult," he said, "to tell them from the best English Cheddar, which they approach very close in flavor. The two giant cheeses are indeed, just perfect now, and possess the proper flavor of old cheese. They have been in England for twelve months. I have previously sold seven of the same size and make at prices varying from 48s to 54s per cwt." As a proof of the superior quality of the Canadian cheese, Mr. Webb stated that it has almost entirely knocked out of the market that coming from the United States. Indeed, the cheese seemed to meet the requirements of a large number of his customers, especially that made after September, which keeps better in this country. The few shipments of September make received up to the present have, he said, been of splendid quality. The only drawback which existed in connection with this trade with Canada is the damaged state in which some of the boxes arrive, a few of them being almost smashed to pieces. This Mr. Webb put down to the careless way in which the cargo is treated by the steamship companies. Otherwise he had no fault to find either with the cheese or with the method of packing.

So much for Canadian cheese; but what of Canadian butter? Did not Mr. Robertson, the Dominion Dairy Commissioner, miss an opportunity of pushing in British markets the new Canadian creamery brands by neglecting to exhibit at Islington this year? He might then have met the objections which such dealers as Mr. Webb feel. "Butter from the colonies," said Mr. Webb, "does not hold the same position as cheese. Some Canadian butter is very fine indeed, but I don't think it can ever take the place of English butter." Mr. Reynolds, too, who had a stand of New Zealand butter, says that he experienced great difficulty in establishing a trade in his colonial product. Retailers cannot be induced to push the butter under its own name, on account, he thought, of popular prejudice. Still, Mr. Reynolds is hopeful. He states that he is able to supply butter regularly and of a uniform quality, and he fully expects to establish a growing trade. The lack of these two qualities in regard to colonial butter has really been the only serious drawback he has had to contend with.

DIED

At Souris West, on October 16th, of inflammation of the stomach, Catherine McLellan, dearly beloved wife of John Kichham, aged 52 years. Deceased leaves a canaple and three daughters besides many friends to mourn their loss. In her person is missed a true and devoted wife, loving mother and a kind and charitable friend, especially to the poor, to whom she was ever a cheerful giver. She was held in much respect in the community in which she lived, as was evidenced by the large concourse of people who sadly followed her remains to Rollo Bay. She bore her long illness of one year with Christian resignation, and was, to her dying moment, able to breathe her oft-repeated devotion, which will now be re-echoed by her many friends in the "Requiescat in Pace."

WESTERN SAVAGES.—Two men—George Barker and Henry Paxton—fought a duel with knives fifteen miles from Gold Hill, Idaho, a few days ago. Both will die, and Maggie Brandt, over whom they quarrelled, will be obliged for life. She betrothed herself to both of her lovers, and for two months neither of them suspected that anything was wrong. The two men met at Meserve's House, and both drew large knives. They were in a room 15 feet square. As the half-crazed men circled about the room they upset and broke the furniture, and at every blow blood flew. Miss Brandt stood outside the door and witnessed the affray. She did not call upon any one to interfere, and enjoyed the scene. After ten minutes of desperate fighting Barker fell from a terrible wound in the throat. Paxton was heavily hurt. A blow from Barker's knife had nearly scalped him. Miss Brandt rushed in and attempted to embrace him, when he cut her nose off and put her eyes out with a slash.

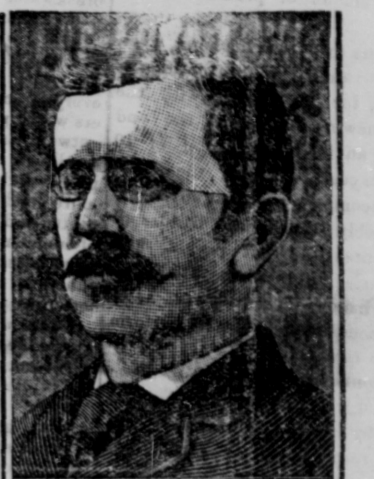

EFFECTIVE JAIL DELIVERY.—Thos. Wright and Fred. Corcoran, the two men arrested on a charge of breaking into an Intercolonial car and stealing freight at Salisbury escaped from the police station at Moncton on Sunday night and have not been recaptured. Their trial was to have commenced on Monday morning. The case against them was strong. They reached an iron bar standing near their cell grating, smashed the lock, broke out, and escaped through the cellar window.

"WAS NOT THE BRIDE."—An amusing contretemps occurred recently at a church wedding at Moncton. The organist had arranged for a signal to be given for playing the wedding march when the bride arrived. A lady appeared in full dress bearing a monster bouquet; the signal was given, and the organ pealed forth the well-known strains. The blunder was soon recognized. A smile passed around the church and the music suddenly ceased.

"I Itched Intensely!"
A TERRIBLE SKIN DISEASE
Of Eight Years' Standing
"PERFECTLY CURED"
BY Skoda's Ointment and Discovery.

LEWISTON, ME.
GENTS:—I wish to inform the suffering through you that SKODA'S GERMAN OINTMENT and SKODA'S DISCOVERY will cure the worst skin disease to which man is subjected. This statement may seem strong, but I think a true statement of my own case, will convince the most skeptical.

For some eight years I have had a terrible skin disease from which I have suffered untold misery. I have tried Physicians of repute and about all the so-called "skind cures," but the result was failure.

My body was covered with white scales, it itched intensely, and when I would rub or scratch the scales off, the itching would return. I have tried many of the so-called "skind cures," but the result was failure. I have now used a half dozen bottles of SKODA'S DISCOVERY and about eight ounces of SKODA'S OINTMENT. The result is I am PERFECTLY CURED. My skin is as soft as on a baby. Instead of torment I have sweet sleep at night, and a good head of hair.
