LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Too Early and Too Late.

SIR,—As the railway winter time table will soon be published, I wish to call attention to a matter of more or less importance to the people of the eastern part of the Island.

According to last year's time-table, the train left Souris at 6.20 a. m., standard time, reached Charlottetown at 10.15 a. m., and returned to Souris at 6.40 p. m., leaving Charlottetown at 2.30 p. m.

Now, I would suggest that the train should leave Souris in the winter time, not earlier than 7 o'clock, standard, and arrive at Charlottetown at 11 a. m. Returning, it should leave Charlottetown at 1 o'clock p. m., standard, and arrive at Souris not later than 5 o'clock in the evening.

I am aware that former arrangements were made, with the view of allowing persons to go to Charlottetown, do business there, and return on the same day. But this could still be done if the proposed change were carried out.

The great objection to former arrangements, is that the train leaves Souris too early in the morning and arrives too late at night. The journey, for various reasons, should be made in daylight if possible—and it is quite possible. In case of a storm and snow night, one hour's work done in the daylight is worth half a dozen done in the darkness. Besides, people living east and north of Souris, in going to Charlottetown by train, in winter, under the old arrangement, had to leave home some time through the night, and their getting home was also equally inconvenient. The train, I repeat, should make the trip between Souris and Charlottetown in the winter in the day time. The distance going and returning is only 120 miles, and surely this can be run in daylight.

Yours, etc.,
EAST POINT.

Organize, Organize.

SIR,—The Dominion elections will soon be on us, and we Conservatives should see to it that we are not unprepared.

A party, to make a successful fight in an election, must have thorough, complete and harmonious organization, and this is just what the Conservatives in this country have not got. If the elections that are just over teach us anything, it is that the Conservative party is not half alive to its opportunity and interests.

The Legislative Council had not one decent argument or even excuse for existence, unless perhaps it be the one that is often given in such cases, namely, that a lot of persons would be thrown out of employment. Yet, through the lack of interest shown in the contest, and the absence of Conservative voters from the polls, the Grits were allowed to sweep the country. There are Conservative voters enough on the Island to return six members to Ottawa as an analysis of the local election returns will show. But to get all those voters to go to the polls, to keep the Conservative cause constantly before the people, to drum up new recruits, and, above all, to see to it that the party is not handicapped by unsuitable or unacceptable candidates, is absolutely necessary to success.

This can only be done by organization in every polling division, or at least in every district. I would suggest that this end, that is, a meeting for the First District be held at Brudenell, it being about the central point, and that all prominent Conservatives throughout the District attend, for the purpose of organizing an aggressive Conservative Club.

Yours truly,
J. HEBER HASLAM.
Springfield, Lot 67, Nov. 17, 1886.

Notes from Rusticville.

There has been quite a rushing business here this season. At times it was as much as one's life was worth almost to attempt to cross New Bridge, so numerous were the cart loads and wagon loads of farm produce on and about the bridge.

Our worthy neighbor, Mr. Thomas Bulmah, celebrated his entrance into his new house by a grand dinner on Thanksgiving Day. Mr. Bulmah's house is a real gem, and reflects great credit on the contractor, Mr. D. Gay.

Mr. Domitian Gallant, teacher, will not go to the Northwest this season, as announced in THE EXAMINER of last week. He will start a music class at Commercial Cross, where so much musical talent lies dormant that it would be a pity if it were neglected. We understand that Mr. Gallant has come to this decision at the urgent solicitation of his friends.

The wild and tame ducks of Commercial Cross, now undisturbed by malicious poachers from the city, are quietly co-habiting at the head of Winter River, under the vigilant inspection of literary characters out there.

Mr. J. Coudstrang, the talented and energetic young teacher of Anglo Rustico School, by the way, we think, the writer of Rustico notes in THE EXAMINER of last week, was rather selfish in his remarks on the educational progress of Commercial Cross, not to have noticed Anglo Rustico in conjunction with St. Augustine School. Perhaps it was only modesty on his part. Yet I think he might, at least, and without a blush, have told the public of the mass meeting of the rate payers of said school, which was held a week ago, and at which the handsome sum of $50 was very generously voted in further supplement of the teacher's salary.

Rustico, Nov. 20, 1886.
[Mr. Coudstrang was not the writer referred to.—ED. EXAMINER.]

Canadian Horses.

THOSE SELECTED FOR THE BRITISH ARMY PROVE SATISFACTORY.

(Canadian Gazette, Nov. 4th.)

On Tuesday afternoon a large party of officers, on the invitation of Col. Ravenhill, R. A., visited the Royal Artillery new remount yard on Woolwich Commons to see the horses recently purchased for the service in Canada by Colonels Ravenhill and Phillips. Among those present were Lord Napier, of Magdala, Sir Michael Biddulph, Sir Robert Biddulph, Sir Daniel Lysons, Sir F. Fitz-Wygram, General Ravenhill, Colonel Arbuthnot, Mr. Tattersall and most of the officers of the garrison. Colonel Ravenhill had also invited a number of the principal horse dealers of London, who were well represented. The experiment, for such it is, of importing horses from Canada for cavalry use would seem, so far as it goes, to have succeeded admirably. Of the eighty-three animals purchased by Colonel Ravenhill and Colonel Phillips in the Dominion, three only have been lost, and the remainder, through in their sea passage they experienced very heavy weather, were landed in the Thames in such a condition that they would have been fit at once for active service. Many of the horses were bought of farmers, being found in use in waggons or country carts, and some of these are exceedingly fine animals. A large number, however, were purchased in a wild state on the horse ranches in the Northwest, and some of these travelled 2,000 miles by train over the Canadian Pacific Railway before their shipment. Many of the animals are bred from thoroughbred sires, while others, purchased for draught purposes, are fine specimens of the heavier class of animal. The ranch horses look somewhat rough and ragged at present, but after their 5,000 mile journey by rail and water, that is not astonishing. They have already allowed themselves to be shod. They readily submit to grooming and in a month's time will probably be in the riding school. The cost of these Canadian horses delivered in the Thames is less than the price given by the Government in England. The purchasing price ranged from £25 to £35, the top price being seldom paid. The drawback at present to the success of the plan of importing horses from Canada is the insufficiency of the supply. Colonel Ravenhill purchased 80 undoubtedly line horses, but it took him sometimes two days and a 500 mile journey to find one or two such animals as he wanted. He could not have obtained 1,000 horses without great difficulty and delay. This in great measure is due to the fact that the great horse ranches in the Canadian Northwest have only been established during the last four or five years, and have consequently a preponderance of three-year old stock, and also to the fact that there has hitherto been no reason for breeding on a larger scale. If, however, the impulse be given from this country, ranch owners will probably breed horses for exportation as largely as they now breed cattle and sheep. On Monday, His Royal Highness, the Duke of Cambridge, accompanied by Lord Wolseley, General Smythie, General Hay and Sir A. Herber, inspected the Canadian horses, and expressed great satisfaction at their appearance.

Chicago to be Burned.

A German paper, published in Chicago, says that the Anarchists of that city have renewed their agitation, and that calls for a meeting of "groups" are circulated openly. On Monday evening a meeting of the north side group of the international working people's association was held, at which various plans were discussed. Some of the persons present thought that on a stormy night, with a few pounds of dynamite, the water tower could be blown up and fires started at some dozen different places. The water works destroyed, the fire department could have no water, half the city would go up in a blaze, and in the confusion thus caused the reorganized groups could easily capture the city. Police Captain Schaack says he has no fear of anything happening at present, and his men are keeping close watch on the groups.
