

By CHARLES F. BARRETT WASHINGTON, (AP) — State secretary Dulles told Congress Monday that success for American foreign policy in the battle against world communism may depend on President Eisenhower's program for lower tariffs and expanded trade.

U. S. allies, he said, "fear that we may shift to a policy of raising rather than lowering trade barriers. And unless the United States acts to ease these fears, Dulles said, it could set up a chain reaction which would gravely damage and disrupt the Free World."

Dulles was leadoff witness before the House of Representatives ways and means committee for a bill to extend the Reciprocal Trade Act for three more years, with power for the president to cut tariffs an additional 15 per cent, at the rate of five per cent a year.

TWO-WAY GAINS The idea is to help Free World allies bolster their economy by selling more goods here, thus earning more dollars; and to help Americans in turn sell more goods abroad, because of increased dollar supplies there.

Dulles declared the program would be an economic boon to the United States. But even if it meant financial sacrifices here, he added:

ALMA —Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Graham, Greenmount, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Barbour. Mr. and Mrs. Wentworth Yeo and daughter Miriam spent a day recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Barbour.

Mr. and Mrs. Penton Barbour and son Ronnie, McNeill's Mills, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Dunbar. Mrs. Minnie Wallace has returned to Coleman after spending the past few months at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Stanford McNeill and Mr. McNeill.

Death Sunday Of Mr. J. L. Green

The death occurred at his home on Convent Street on Sunday of Mr. John Lee Green, one of Summerside's most esteemed citizens.

He was born in Summerside 87 years ago in the family residence on Green Street where the Church of England rectory now stands. He was a son of the late John L. Green and his wife Anne Schurman and was a descendant of the family that founded the settlement which became Summerside, and which was originally known as Green's Shore. He was the last surviving member of that family.

With the exception of a few years spent in Western Canada, all his life was spent in Summerside. In his younger days he was engaged in farming and he later entered the employ of the firm of R. T. Holman where he remained until his retirement several years ago.

He was married to the former Amy Mill of Kensington who predeceased him several years ago. He is survived by three daughters, Addie and Ann in Summerside, and Nora in Ottawa and one son, Layton, also of Summerside. The funeral will take place today with a short service at the home at 2:00 p.m. followed by service in St. Mary's Anglican Church at 2:30. Interment will be in St. John's Cemetery at St. Eleanor's.

Sudden Death Of Mr. J. C. Peck

—The sudden death of Mr. J. C. Peck at Stratford, Ont., on Friday, January 14th was learned with regret by many friends and acquaintances throughout Prince County where he had travelled for the past six years as circulation representative for the Summerside Journal-Pioneer.

Mr. Peck had travelled to Connecticut shortly before Christmas to visit his brother Edward who was ill. On January 10th Mr. Peck took suddenly ill, and was taken to hospital, where he did not regain consciousness. In addition to the brother mentioned above, he is survived by his wife, the former Jean McNamara of Parrsboro, N.S., and two daughters, Audrey, Mrs. Frederick Bragg, of Halifax, and Shirley in Parrsboro.

He grew up in Glace Bay where he attended Anchool and later worked in the office of a mining company. For the most of his life he was associated with the newspaper business, conducting circulation campaigns for the Halifax Herald, Amherst News, Moncton Times and Transcript, and latterly the Summerside Journal-Pioneer.

During the war he was employed with the National Film Board. His body is being accompanied from Stratford to Sydney by his two daughters and his funeral will be held in Sydney on Wednesday morning. —S.

MISCOCHE

Judge Rules Toronto Police Used Unnecessary Violence

TORONTO, (CP) — Mr. Justice W. D. Roach, appointed to inquire into police action following the riot of two men after a football game in Montreal last October, ruled Monday that a Toronto policeman "under provocation used unnecessary violence."

Mr. Justice Roach, in a 35-page report made public Monday, described as "shocking" a suggestion made at his hearing into the incident that police could be justified in preventing a prisoner from talking to his lawyer. The Ontario Supreme Court justice inquired into charges by Robert Wright and Michael Griffin that Constable William Chambers struck Wright at the police station. Both Wright and Griffin claimed police refused them permission to telephone from the police station following the melee after a Big Four game between Montreal and Toronto.

During the scuffle a University of Toronto policeman, James Cows, suffered a heart attack and died shortly afterwards. Wright testified at the 10-day hearing that Chambers had thrown him to the floor and struck him several blows with his fist. POLICE WRONGLY ADVISED The justice said that crowd attorney Fred Malone of Toronto wrongly advised police when he told them not to permit the two prisoners to see anyone until the police investigation was completed. Mr. Justice Roach added: "It is fundamental to our way of life that the freedom of the individual must not be restricted except in so far as may be absolutely necessary. The freedom of which I speak is personal freedom under the law..."

Wright and Griffin were in a crowd of about 250 persons milling around the goal posts after the football game at Varsity Stadium. They were charged with obstruction by police but the charge was withdrawn last week in court after both pleaded guilty to a charge of consuming liquor in a public place.

Let's Talk It Over

The most important localities for the sandman to visit on Prince Edward Island's highways would seem to be the approaches to the bridges across our many tidal rivers. Icy conditions in the vicinity of these bridges can cause very serious accidents. Also, cautionary signs reminding "drivers in a hurry" of the perils just ahead would help.

Higher rates of unemployment insurance will be greeted with a feeling of relief and thankfulness by those unable to obtain work, and sorely in need of adequate resources to live on a plane consistent with the proper enjoyment of living. Those, too, who have more or less accepted unemployment as a profession will be pleased at this wage boost for their chosen vocation. The money received will stir up the circulation of legal tender. It will increase consumer purchasing power, and prove profitable to producers.

It is merely giving morphine to relieve the patient's pain, however, and does not pretend to get to the origin of his trouble. Unemployment is the biggest challenge to our modern economic system. Like cancer in the medical field, it seems to defy the ingenuity of man to correct or improve it, but certainly not so much effort is being put in wrestling [the problem of] unemployment as is given to the problem of cancer. There is a good deal of complacency about the former, because while cancer can come to grips with any of us, unemployment is not so general an affliction. It is a cancer of our economic life, however, and waits for the master surgeon to remove it.

WINNIPEG SHIVERS Buffalo coats and fur hats were the vogue in Winnipeg Monday as the city awoke to the coldest day of the winter as well as the chilliest Jan. 17 on record. The mercury dropped overnight to 19 below, three degrees colder than the previous record set in 1932.

KIDNEY ACIDS Rob your Rest. Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—lie in on "nerves"—when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons and excess acids from the blood. If they fail and impurities stay in the system—disturbed rest often follows. If you don't rest well get and use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's help the kidneys so that you can rest better—and feel better. 134
