John Adams at Home.

The venerable historian George Bancroft contributes to the July Century some personal reminiscences which are accompanied by full-page portraits of John Adams and Oliver Ellsworth. We quote as follows concerning his visit in 1818 to the second President of the United States: "We arrived early in the afternoon. The venerable ex-President received us cordially in the parlor of his homestead at Quincy; and so did the wife of his youth, the accomplished woman now known to the world by the publication of two volumes of her own letters, and two more of letters which she received from her husband. Several younger persons, seemingly their grandchildren, came in and went out as occasion served, and it was plain that the aged man was thoroughly well ministered to by youthful attendants whose whole demeanor was marked by reverence and affection. A more respectable or a more lovely family group, of which the head is an octogenarian, can hardly be conceived of.

"Presently the tea-table was spread in the middle of the room, and my friend and I sat down with the family. It was indeed a great privilege for one just out of college to sit at table with the venerated man, under whose colossal courage and inspiring eloquence the men of the Congress of 1776, who had not the gift of speaking in public, confidently sheltered themselves. He did not look younger than the record of his birth indicated, but he was hale and vigorous; and as I sat near him I could not but notice that he carried his full cup of tea to his lips as safely as any one around him, without spilling a drop from tremor. The table was spread with the neatness and simplicity that prevailed at that day in New England homes. Could a foreigner have looked in and seen the second President of the United States at his sufficient but simple and unostentatious meal, the central figure in the group of his own family, it must have been confessed that his manner of life presented a perfect pattern for a republican chief magistrate in retirement."

Injured by Dry Weather.

The American Rural Home, from its 5,000 special crop correspondents in all parts of the country summarized the present condition of crops as follows:—We are beginning to reap the effects of the dry spring and of dry weather of last year. The bulk of winter wheat is already secured and without a drop of rain. In Illinois, one of the best in the winter belt, the crop has been a failure. Kansas has been overrun with insects, and the crop is practically a failure. Missouri is not coming up to expectations owing to the dry weather. Indiana sends favorable reports, but in Ohio the crop is uneven and varied in quantity. In Michigan the crop is not yet secured, but indications point to a small crop. The crop is likely to be slow to move. The reports of spring wheat are conflicting. The Northwest has been free from insects, but the yield will not be equal to that of last year. Corn is in splendid condition. Cultivation has been thorough, and thus far there has been no trouble from dry weather. Kansas is the only exception in the great corn belt. The oat harvest is much earlier than usual. In Kansas the crop is poor. Iowa and Nebraska show up better, but Minnesota and Dakota will have to spare. Illinois has a large acreage and a good crop, and as a whole the yield is likely to equal that of 1885. The grass crop is largely a failure, attributable quite as much to the dry season of last year as to the drought of this.

Dress and Vice.

If young women knew what young men think and say of them, when they pass along the street in pyramidal hats, which are but cages of dead birds; dresses displaying the bandaged, hour-glass waist, the camel's hump, the mopping skirts, with front so strapped as to display the lower limbs in most unseemly fashion; with arms akimbo and so puffed that a sausage is their only parallel; and this fashionable effigy borne upon the same hideous slant-bevel pedestals that the demimonde of Paris wear; if even these young women could hear the remarks of the young men as they pass by, they would never again appear in such a hideous guise. Contrast with such an image a young lady, quietly dressed in plaited waist, plain skirt of some good, falling to the ankle, low-heeled walking shoes, pretty collar with a bit of ribbon, and neat cuffs at the wrist, neat round hat, hair in a simple knot, clear skin, and cheek touched with the bloom of youth and purity. No young man, having one spark of sense or manliness, could look upon the first figure without secret contempt, or upon the last without sincere respect. One would "lead him a life," the other would find him a home. In one his heart might safely trust; the other would be apt to marry him in haste for his money, and leave him to repent the squandering thereof at leisure.—Frances E. Willard.

In Brief, And to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature. The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order. Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cooking, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics. But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy. Remember: No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

Personal.

Hon. McKenzie Bowell and his daughter sail to-day for England by the Vancouver. Sir Charles Tupper sails from Rimouski on the 18th.

Hon. G. E. Foster, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, accompanied by Mr. Jenkins, private secretary, left on the 3rd inst. for the Lower Provinces.

The forthcoming marriage of the Emperor of China is officially announced. His wife has been selected. The festivities will cost $1,000,000. Numerous changes are expected in the Imperial Chinese Government.

The Crown Prince Frederick William of Prussia protracted his visit to the Palace grounds until 11 o'clock on the night of the 2nd inst., and experienced no trouble whatever with his throat in consequence of his remaining so long in the night air.

The Viceroy of the Province of Chihli, China, has issued a proclamation setting forth the advantages to be derived from railways, and urges intending stockholders not to "hesitate or delay lest they may by so doing lose their opportunity." This has caused a boom in railway building, and allied native distrust.

Cardinal Manning and Sir Wilfred Lawson attended a temperance meeting in Farringdon Street Memorial Hall, London, last night, and were heartily cheered. Messrs. Cairne, Johnston and Thomas Russell, Unionist members of Parliament, who were also present, were hooted by many in the audience and left the meeting in disgust.

The Emperor William, though in good health, shows evidence of increasing feebleness. His entourage desire to save him as much as possible from the obligation of saluting the people during his drives and walks, which are now made with less publicity. The Emperor leaves the palace by a different door, and the uniform of his attendants has been changed. The Emperor on Thursday gave audience to the departing Greek minister in the presence of Count Herbert Bismarck.

It is stated that King Leopold of Belgium has applied to the Vatican to influence the party of the Right to secure the passage of a bill relating to personal military service. Mgr. Rampolla, the Papal secretary, is said to favor the measure.

Eddie Gould, the young son of Jay Gould, who recently left College, has created quite a sensation at the Consolidated Stock and Petroleum Exchange during the past week by making large sums in stock speculation. His profits amount to at least $100,000.

Kalaku's Kingdom.

John T. Dare, late Attorney General of the Hawaiian Kingdom, was asked a few days ago whether a revolution was imminent. He said great dissatisfaction prevails, which may result in dethroning King Kalaku, but in such an event the form of Government will not be changed. I think the present King would be succeeded either by Princess Liliuokalani, the heir apparent, or by Princess Victoria, daughter of Princess Likelike, a little girl 12 years old. The former would be favored by the mission element, and the latter by the English party. In no case would a republic be probable. "How about annexation?" He replied: "Undoubtedly a small party favor it, but that party has very little influence, and the concentration between England, France and the United States would, I think, stand directly in the way."

What is the Happiest Period in Human Life?

I am sure there is only one answer. It is now. If I am doing my duty, to-day is the best day I ever had. Yesterday had happiness of its own, and up to this morning it was the best day of all. I would not, however, live it over again. I string it, as a new bead, on the chaplet of praise, and turn to the better work and the highest thoughts of this present time. Of all the many days of my life, give me to-day. This should be our feeling always, from the cradle to the hour when we are called to come higher. Childhood is best for children, manhood is best for men, and old age for the silver-haired. We will all join in the chorus of common thanksgiving to God, and when asked, "Which is the happiest period?" will say—childhood, manhood and old age alike—"Oh, Father it is now."—Geo. H. Lepworth.

How Lincoln Took Defeat.

The Century life of Lincoln, for July, gives the following unpublished letter of Lincoln, to Dr. Henry, on his defeat for the Senate, by Douglas, in 1858: "You doubtless have ere this the result of the election here. Of course I wished, but I did not much expect, a better result. I am glad I made the late race. It gave me a hearing on the great and durable question of the age, which I could have had in no other way; and though I now sink out of view, and shall be forgotten, I believe I have made some marks which will tell for the cause of liberty long after I am gone."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain; and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other kind. m.r.17 eod & wky

Wisdom and truth are immortal; but cunning and deception, the meteors of the earth, after glittering for a moment must pass away.—Robert Hall.

Whoever labors for the happiness of those he loves, elevates himself, no matter whether he works in the dreary shop or the perfumed field.—Ingersoll.

The voice of conscience is so delicate that it is easy to stifle it, but it is also so clear that it is impossible to mistake it.—Madame de Staël.

Recompense injury with justice and kindness.—Confucius.
