RE-ELECTION OF MANITOBA GOVERNMENT INDICATED

Korean Armistice May Be Signed This Week

Crusader Commander Heads Eight Korean Award Winners

OTTAWA, (CP) — The skipper of the train-busting champion of the UN navies headed a list of eight awards to Canadian seamen for their deeds in the Korean war.

The Distinguished Service Cross was awarded to Lt.-Cmdr. John Bovey, 36, of Montreal and Victoria, commander of the destroyer Crusader which has run up a better record than any other UN ship in the business of molesting Communist trains.

Crusader's record is 4 1/2 trains wrecked, three of them completely. The citation praised Lt.-Cmdr. Bovey's leadership, coolness under fire, excellent judgment and cheerfulness.

Other awards

The DSC was also awarded to Lieut. Douglas F. Tuttle, 33, of Saskatoon, for his "inspiring" leadership in gunnery aboard the destroyer Iroquois. The citation said it was his coolness and determination under fire which turned many bombardments into success.

The Distinguished Service Medal, lower-deck equivalent of the DSC, went to PO G. E. Jamieson, 28, of Ottawa, another Iroquois gunnery expert. In particular he was cited for his courage on Oct. 2, 1952 when a shell killed several of his men but did not prevent him from rallying the survivors and keeping the guns blazing.

Mentions in dispatches were awarded to five others, including the late Lt.-Cmdr. John L. Quinn of Prince Rupert, B. C. and Gunnery Sgt. Jack He was killed on that Oct. 2 when PO Jamieson did the honors which won him his medal.

Other mentions in dispatches: Cent. William M. Landvorne, 36, of Brantford, Ont., and Ottawa, commanding officer of the Iroquois which he currently is leading out to Korea for another round of duty. In the first tour, he led his ship

South Koreans Threaten To Ignore Truce

(By Robert B. Tuckman)

PANMUNJOM, (AP) — Communists and United Nations truce negotiators neared the end of their long mission today in full agreement for the first time on all major points of a Korean truce, including the voluntary exchange of war prisoners. An armistice could be signed within a week.

But whether their labor of 23 months would finally end three years of warfare on this blood-soaked peninsula was clouded by the vows of South Korean leaders to ignore the armistice and fight on.

South Koreans Angry

The angry South Koreans rejected the prisoner exchange agreement signed Monday as "failure of the United Nations to live up to their fundamental principle of human freedom."

Under the agreement the bulk of 121,680 Red prisoners and 12,000 Allied would be exchanged within 60 days; the rest will be released by December.

Following an emergency cabinet meeting, Home Minister Chin Hun Shik declared the decision was made for South Korea to continue fighting in spite of any armistice.

"It is an established principle," he said, "that we should drive to the north."

Only administrative matters remain to be settled before the long-awaited armistice could be signed. Those final steps will be taken up in a secret session, starting at 11 a.m. (10 p.m. EDT Monday).

Rhee Adamant

President Syngman Rhee, his mansion shaken by a Communist air bombing attack during the night, was even more adamant that no truce was acceptable that did not provide for removal of the 1,000,000 Chinese Communist army, and unification of all Korea. Rhee declared in an interview

Official Canada Takes Serious View Of Latest U.S. Import Restrictions

U. S. Sets Standby Agricultural Import Quotas

WASHINGTON, (AP) — President Eisenhower set standby import quotas Monday for dairy and a few other agricultural products to take effect if the defence production act is allowed to die June 30.

The President acted in a proclamation issued on the advice of the U.S. tariff commission.

He said Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson has advised him that if the Defence Production Act is not renewed it is practically voided because it is inactivated by the farm products imported would be imported in such great quantities as to wreck or "materially interfere with" the agriculture department's support programs.

The products listed, besides dairy products are flaxseed and linseed oil, and peanuts and peanut oil.

The quotas announced Monday differ in some cases from those that have been specified by the Defence Production Act. The White House statement did not indicate what quotas were being changed, however.

The announced quotas for some typical products in any crop year include: butter, 707,000 pounds, dried skimmed milk, 1,807,000 pounds, cheddar cheese, 2,780,100 pounds, edam and gouda cheese, 4,600,200 pounds, blue mold, 4,167,000 pounds, Italian type cheeses, 9,200,000 pounds, peanuts, 1,769,000 pounds.

The proclamation sets a 25 per cent ad valorem fee on peanut oil imported in excess of 80,000,000 pounds in any 12 months. It also fixes a flat 50 per cent fee on imported flaxseed and linseed oil.

Early Returns Give Campbell Strong Lead

WINNIPEG, (CP) — Re-election of the Liberal-Progressive government of Manitoba was indicated Monday night at 11:07 p.m. CDT by the Canadian Press trend-analysis on the basis of early returns.

More than an hour after polls closed at 9 p.m. CDT, government candidates were leading Progressive Conservative, Social Credit and CCF candidates in most ridings.

The first cabinet minister re-elected was Hon. Edmond Proffontaine, 54-year-old minister of municipal affairs, who captured his home riding of Carleton. He defeated K. T. Kroecker, Social Credit.

Campbell Re-elected

Premier Douglas Campbell, a veteran of 30 years in the Manitoba Legislature, was re-elected in his home riding of Lakeside. In his first test at the polls since 1936 he defeated Progressive Conservative, Social Credit and CCF opponents.

Progressive Conservative leader Ernie P. Willis was re-elected in Turtle Mountain. He trimmed Social Credit and Liberal-Progressive candidates.

Attorney-General Ivan Schultz defeated Independent and Social Credit candidates to win re-election in Mountain riding.

Wading Pool Problem At Victoria Park Discussed At City Council Meeting

Lengthy argument over the operation of the newly constructed wading pool in Victoria Park took up most of the time at the regular monthly meeting of the City Council last evening.

Dr. Wendall MacDonald, City Health Officer, said he was doubtful of the health situation when numbers of children were using the pool and the water was only to be changed twice a week. When assured that the water would be changed every day and also tested daily for bacteria count he stated he felt that should be satisfactory.

However, the biggest drawback to opening the pool appeared to be the matter of supervision. Mr. Somerset Trainor, president of the Kiwanis Club which built the pool, said plans were under way to have the Red Cross supervise its operation. Mrs. Harry Cudmore and Rev. M. D. Dunbar both said the Rev. Cross was willing to undertake the work, but they asked that a fence be built around the pool to permit better control of the children.

Mrs. Cudmore stated that without a fence it would be impossible for two or three supervisors to assure that each child was examined and washed before being allowed to enter the pool. Although shower baths are not available at the site foot baths are and to insure the cleanliness of the water to as great an extent as possible all youngsters must have a foot bath first.

Dr. MacDonald pointed out that during the months of July and August

Grass Silage Operations In Province Subject Of Report

In recent years much has been written about grass silage. Very little was definitely known about grass silage under Prince Edward Island conditions. In February of 1953 a committee of two was appointed by the Dominion - Provincial Agricultural Council to make a survey of silage operations in the Province and to study the literature on this problem. The committee consisting of Mr. S. D. Packock of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, and Mr. J. W. G. Nicholson, of the Experimental Farm, presented their report to a meeting of the Agricultural Council at the Experimental Farm Monday morning.

The importance of drainage for trench silos was stressed in this report. "The bottom of the trench" it is stated, "should slope outwards with free drainage from the mouth of the silo. A side hill is most convenient for this. The silo should be located as near the barn as possible."

Turtle On Track Sparks Interest

SAND LAKE, Ont., (CP) — Men were plunking down bets on the race and destination of a turtle here Monday.

Algoma Central Railway hands and forest rangers in this northwestern Ontario district were watching on the progress of a turtle heading north toward Hawk Junction between the rails of the main ACR line.

British Columbia Electors Go To Polls Today

VANCOUVER, (CP) — British Columbia's election machinery has been streamlined for today's general election.

For the second time the alternative voting system will be used, but problems of the 1952 election have been solved.

Under the alternative voting system the electors may mark their preferences for the various candidates on the ballots, a 1, 2, 3, etc. procedure. A candidate must have an absolute majority for election.

It has been a name-challenging election campaign, the most bitter in the history of B.C. politics.

Social Credit, which formed a minority government under Premier W. A. C. Bennett after last year's poll, is contesting all 48 seats in the legislature. The Liberals, too, have 48 candidates and the CCF has 47. The Progressive Conservatives have 39 candidates; Labor - Progressive Communist party 26, and Christian Democrats 14. There is one Labor candidate and a smattering of independents.

Liberal leader Arthur Leung is seeking election in Vancouver-Point Grey; CCF leader Arnold Webster in Vancouver East, and Progressive chief Dean Finlayson in Oak Bay on Vancouver Island.

Fair weather is forecast for most sections of B.C. The polls open at 8 a.m. PDT and close at 8 p.m.

Gasperi Leads As Count Begins In Italian Election

ROME, (AP) — Premier Alcide de Gasperi's four-party democratic coalition forged steadily ahead Monday night as results of a smashing 93.86 per cent vote were tallied in Italy's national elections.

The Italian vote, believed to be a record for a free election in the free world, topped even the 92.1 per cent of 1948 when a Communist-led bid for political power was hurled back by the Christian Democrats.

If the trend of early returns continues, Premier de Gasperi's coalition should obtain the 50.01 per cent of the vote which under Italian law ensures 1390 Chamber of Deputies seats—64.5 per cent of the chamber. This would make certain that the pro-Western government would have a stable working majority for five more years.

In Lewisman High street some families had even planted gardens of red, white and blue flowers. The main drive was down historic Old Kent road, where Chaucer's pilgrims once walked.

The cheering people closed in and threatened to block the procession several times.

On Westminster Bridge road, cockney peary kings waved carnations. Peary kings and queens go back to the capital's gashlight days. They display their "royalty" by sewing thousands of peary buttons to their clothes.

Service Today

The Queen will drive to St. Paul's Cathedral today for a Coronation (thanksgiving) service. The congregation will consist mainly of representatives of Commonwealth countries. Prime Minister Churchill will read the lesson.

Later in the day Elizabeth will set out on the last of her Coronation drives through London—this time to the southwest of the city.

ANSVONVILLE, Ont., (CP) — An 87-year-old woman lost 18 hours in the bush south of here told searchers who found her Monday that she frightened away bears during the night by banging an old kettle with a stick. Dressed only in a house dress and a woolen sweater, Mrs. Irene Purdy was little the worse for wear when found.

Many Britons Sees U.K. Again In Driver's Seat

By DAVE McINTOSH

Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, (CP) — Has Britain assumed Western leadership in the cold war?

Many Britons think so.

During the Coronation and its attendant festivities, both before and after, London enjoyed a renaissance. The centre of world attention. Now in the aftermath of that celebration, many observers say Britain is still being regarded as a leader in things other than how to stage a pageant.

Typical Headlines

Those who hold this view say that Britain's government, with Sir Winston Churchill leading the way, has more or less taken over the initiative in world diplomacy from Washington. Consider two typical newspaper headlines Monday:

"Britain's stock is rising," says the Conservative Evening News. The Liberal News Chronicle goes further: "Britain on top again."

With congratulations from scores of countries on the Coronation show ringing in their ears, most Britons probably are ready to accept this view.

The main reason, as reflected in published commentaries here, appears to be disappointment with the leadership of President Eisenhower. For years, Britons were used to the internationalism of Presidents Roosevelt and Truman. They feel Eisenhower has not provided the same international leadership because he is hampered by Republican right-wingers.

Critical of McCarthy

Without exception, British newspapers and periodicals are sharply critical of Senator Joseph McCarthy.

Observers here hold that because of McCarthy and his cohorts, the

Expect Canadians To Remain Months In Korea

OTTAWA, (CP) — Informed opinion here is that Canadian military formations will have to be kept at roughly their present strength in Korea for a matter of months after the truce that now appears imminent.

Nobody knows definitely how much Canada will have to do in the period between truce and any broad political agreement that may follow it. The role of each UN country under the new circumstances hasn't been seriously discussed yet.

But neither the army with its 1,000-man 25th brigade and reinforcements nor the navy with its three-destroyer flotilla expects to be sent thinning out its forces immediately. A number of officials think it will be some months before there can be any substantial reductions.

Queen Given Home-Grown Welcome On London Drive

LONDON, (Reuters) — The Queen made a trip to cockney-land Monday and returned to the heart of the teeming metropolis to the sound of tenement windows to shout "You're a lovely Queen, dearie."

It was a home-grown, full-blooded welcome which brought broad smiles to the faces of the sovereign and the Duke of Edinburgh as their limousine eased through 22 miles of southeast London's flag-draped streets.

Women and children thronged the route. Plumbers and butchers and factory workers bolted out of taverns to shout themselves hoarse for the newly-crowned monarch.

The top of the royal car was rolled back so the crowds, packed eight-deep on the sidewalks, could see the Queen.

Simple Decorations

The decorations were simple — many of them made months ago in housewives' backrooms of tenements. The narrow streets were checkered of old-fashioned red-white-and-blue bunting, flags, streamers and pennants.

St. Laurent Welcomes Agreement On Prisoners

LONDON, (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent said Canada welcomes the news indicating that an agreement has been reached on exchange of prisoners.

"We have welcomed the news from the Far East," the Canadian Prime Minister told a press conference Monday night. He hopes there will be no last-minute "snags" now that negotiations appear to be moving toward an armistice.

The Prime Minister added he is "somewhat disturbed" by the attitude of South Korea's Syngman Rhee, some of whose statements have suggested his country would fight on regardless of any agreement.

St. Laurent confirmed that the Commonwealth premiers, in session since last Tuesday, are agreed on the desirability of high-level talks with Russia. Asked about any specific agreement by the premiers, he said:

"The views held by us are in such close conformity that nothing

Russians To End Controls In Austria

VIENNA, (AP) — The Russians suddenly ended eight years of control in Austria Monday and abolished all military check of identity papers on the border of the Soviet occupation zone of Austria.

Since the war, armed Russian troops have maintained a control of all trains, automobiles and pedestrians moving between the Western-occupied zones of Austria and the Russian zone.

An official Soviet announcement revealed that these controls would be abolished as of Tuesday morning.
