

Troubled Ireland.

(From the New York Herald.)

DUBLIN, Dec. 6.

Last evening a great banquet was given to Mr. Parnell at Waterford. In responding to the toast in his own honor he said that the English Government had great resources, but he did not believe her resources were adequate to perpetuate her government in Ireland "I don't believe," he continued, "that any amount of money or the strength and power of even the greatest nation in the world can work impossibilities, and it is abundantly proved that governing Ireland outside of Ireland by a power and people who do not live in the country, is impossible. We have gigantic forces arrayed against us, but we have more powerful forces on our side—namely, the forces of nature, forces of nationality, forces of patriotism and true devotion. These are sufficient to break the yoke of English misgovernment and chase from the country that usurpation which has long had its heel upon our neck. Look at what we have done to this pitiful government. In twelve months we have obliged them to reverse every principle, every law, every tradition on which they built their position. We have made them eat their speeches. Even Gladstone, I don't believe Gladstone can settle the Irish question without breaking up his Cabinet. He could not even pass his miserable little Compensation Bill last year. If I had not been confident that the Lords would reject it I would have had the Irish party reject it; but I preferred to let the Lords do my dirty work. When John Bull finds that he will have to pay £150,000,000 in the next four or five years to govern this country he will think the English mode of governing Ireland very expensive. I may be told that concession would be better, but when concession perpetuates an evil it is better to reject it. Now, a few words on the national question. I do not believe we can settle the national question till we settle the land question. We have 10,000 landlords with 500,000 dependencies arrayed against Ireland's self-government. If the remaining 5,000,000 souls combine nothing can resist them. The British government may pass a coercion act, though I don't say I would let them. But if they did they would not be advanced one step.

THE WILL OF THE MAJORITY.

"I tell them that all their acts and statutes are so much waste paper; that it is impossible in these days to continue governing this country against the will of the majority of the people. No nation in history has ever been able to do this, and of all nations that ever tried it England has made the worst mess of it. We stand today in the same position that our ancestors stood. We declare that it is the duty of every Irishman to free his country if he can. We refuse to inflict needless suffering upon the masses. We will work by constitutional means so long as it suits us to do so. But I ask any man at this board, be he priest or layman, whether he would not consider it the first duty of an Irishman to do what he could to enable his country to take her place among the nations of the world. (Deafening cheers.) If it could be proved to you that there is a fair prospect that success would follow from the sacrifice I ask you whether it would not be your highest duty to give your lives for your country that gave you birth. I call for no useless sacrifice. I don't wish to be misunderstood. Our present path is within the limits of the constitution. England has given us that constitution for her purposes. We will use it for ours. If I ever call upon the people to go beyond the constitution we shall do so openly and aboveboard. We shall not ask the people to take a risk we are not willing to share, but for the present we will remain within the constitution, relying on parliamentary action in England and upon organized national action at home. I believe we have in these power to achieve our ends. We call upon you, if you believe in its use and believe in our honesty, to help us with the ability and the genius God has given you, confident in the future of our common country." (Great cheering.)

DUBLIN, Dec. 7.

A remarkable case of Boycotting occurred to-day at Ballina. Miss Harriet Gardiner, of Farmhill, Killala, has been for years on bad terms with her tenants, and was shot and wounded in her own house a few years ago. She was to-day accosted by a woman while passing through the street and called some vile name. The woman then struck her across the face with a teapot. Afterward, Miss Gardiner entered a hardware shop owned by Mr. Muffany, Town Commissioner, and was in the act of buying goods when the proprietor entered and ordered Miss Gardiner out, declining her custom. The lady then walked down the street, followed by an excited crowd, yelling and hooting. She drew a six-chamber revolver and turning presented it at the crowd. She commanded them to stop, saying she could and would use the pistol if necessary. She was escorted to her hotel by the police and finally accompanied to her residence by two constables. She is an excellent shot and always goes armed. She is profoundly hated by people of the neighboring country.

In spite of the fact that the meeting at Brookborough was forbidden, the League was determined to hold it near, if not in, the town. Messrs. O'Kelly and Kettle accordingly went down in the morning. When they arrived they found that the gathering had already dispersed, the Riot Act having been read twice. Eight or nine thousand men had met. Two-thirds of them were Orangemen, all of whom exhibited the greatest enthusiasm, showing that the apprehension of Orange opposition was unfounded. When Mr. O'Kelly approached the place of meeting the parish curate met him in a high state of excitement, and warned him of the responsibility of attempting to hold a meeting. Mr. O'Kelly, however, proceeded and met the chief magistrate in a field where several thousands had still gathered. He asked the magistrate if the meeting was prohibited. The latter replied "Yes," and immediately took Mr. O'Kelly by the collar and ran him several yards and then, having read the Riot Act to him, ordered him away. Messrs. O'Kelly and Kettle, with Francis Little, Grand Master of the Orange Lodge, proceeded to a neighboring hill, followed by several thousand persons. Scouts were thrown out to guard against the approach of the military and police, who were present in the town in large numbers. Mr. Little was chosen president. Speeches were made and great enthusiasm shown, the Orangemen and League fraternizing cordially. Mr. O'Kelly characterized Chief Justice May as an "armed ruffian" and promised to punish the County Magistrate for assaulting him before reading the Riot Act.

The idea of having American lawyers in the trials is unfavorably received here. In the first place, they are not able to practice here. In the second place, the entrance of Americans, even as advising counsel, would create great prejudice, while they would be ignorant of Queen's Bench procedure. It is expected that Messrs. Parnell, Dillon and O'Kelly will speak at a meeting at Scots-town. All the available police are being drafted into the town. I apprehend that the meeting will be forbidden, else there will be a row. At the meeting of the Executive Committee of the League to-day Mr. Egan reported that £900 had been received for the organization—£500 for the defence. Mr. T. D. Sullivan and others bitterly attacked Chief Justice May for his speech on Saturday. Mr. Sullivan suggested that the traversers should abandon their defence altogether, as the issue of the trial would be certain with such a judge on the bench. Mr. McHugh proposed a resolution that the Land League recommends its representatives in Parliament to bring the language of the Chief Justice before the House of Commons immediately after the Queen's Speech. An address to the people of Ulster asking them to assist in the agitation, which, the address declares, is unsectarian, was adopted.

Northern Light Trains.

Mr. HENRY COOMBS and others interested will see, by the advertisement in another column, that Mr. Archibald has promptly remedied (at least as far as he could,) the grievance complained of by our correspondent "A MERCHANT."

Goods in Transit.

We learn that a large quantity of Island goods are being held at Pictou Landing for orders to ship by "Northern Light." It is necessary, under existing arrangements, for importers and all who may be receiving packages from the mainland to send to Pictou a specific authorization to forward their goods. Certainly it is a great annoyance to have imports to the Island stopped in this way. Cannot something be done?

The Irish Agitation.

We allot, to-day, considerable space to disturbing reports from Ireland. If Parnell has not been misreported, and if the statements of outrages alleged to have been committed are not overdrawn, we fear "the green isle" is in a very bad way. Parnell speaks with the tone of one who means business or blood; and his passionate language must be deprecated by every reasonable man.

A Brilliant University Career.

MR. RODERICK C. McRAE, son of Mr. Donald McRae, of Pinette, Belfast, has been attending Glasgow University for the past three years. Last year he won a scholarship of $200; this year he won a scholarship of the same amount, and the Euing Fellowship of $400 a year, tenable for three years. He has also taken the degree of M. A. Besides these honors and emoluments, Mr. McRae receives $300 a year from Sir William Thompson, who has taken him as an assistant, into his laboratory. Sir William has shown great interest in him; and this, of itself, speaks volumes for young McRae's ability.

So it appears that Islanders can stand pre eminent everywhere—even in the highest institutions of learning—but in the Railway Department of Canada. There, there is, for Islanders, no promotion. We, however, look for a removal of the disability in this regard,—under which Islanders have hitherto labored.

Y. M. C. A.

THE Annual Meeting of the Y. M. C. Association was held in their parlor last evening. The attendance showed a gratifying increase in the number of young men present. The Balloting for officers resulted as follows:—

President—F. S. Moore.
Vice Presidents—F. D. Beer, M. D., John Ball, John Dorsey, T. C. James, F. W. Hales, A. Kennedy.
Treasurer—H. J. Cundall, (re-elected).
Hon. Sec'y—E. R. Brow.
Executive Committee—C. Palmer, Judge Hensley, Joseph Knight, J. W. Pickard, Nathan Davies, S. S. Peterson, H. Smith, G. H. Taylor, R. K. Jost, John Scott, H. Turner, Donald McKenzie.

A cordial vote of thanks to Miss Morrison, and the ladies and gentlemen of the choir for their valuable services was passed unanimously, after which the meeting adjourned.

A NOBLE ARMY OF LUMBERMEN.—Mr. Gibson has 620 horses and 1,250 men in the woods, and expects to get out over fifty millions of lumber. He has ninety span of horses hauling on one road.—Fredericton Capital.

CHOCOLATE CARAMELS, Maple Slack, Molasses Slack, chewing candy, and Butter Scotch, very nice. Try it. For sale by W. F. CARTER.—Dec 2nd 2w.

Correspondence.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the statements or opinions of our correspondents.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

DEAR SIR,—Your correspondent "Merchant" complains of no notice being published of movements of specials and mails to connect with "Northern Light." I am surprised at your correspondent. Does he visit the Post Office? And if he does, with a good pair of spectacles, he can for himself read the elaborately gotten up bulletin; and if he wants to know when the next mail train leaves for Georgetown, why he can send his boy to the Superintendent, and if the boy can't find out anything, he can go himself and, if very civil, he may find out. Why, sir, the idea of expecting the official mind to see the necessity of taking any pains to satisfy the public is too absurd. Besides, posters from the printer or advertisements in the DAILY EXAMINER costs money, and our rulers really can't afford it. Why it costs so much for pleasure trips to Europe and this big Railway, that we must save—and every little helps.

Yours, etc., H. COOMBS.
