Local Gallery Curator Addresses Art Session

Moncrieff Williamson, FRSA, curator of the Memorial Art Gallery, gave an address recently to some 100 people connected with all facets of the arts in Canada.

The address was given at Seminar 66 of the Canadian Conference of the Arts held at St. Adele, Que., and Mr. Williamson was one of only 12 speakers at the four-day conference.

The conference was held through the efforts and personal initiative of the Secretary of State Maurice Lamontagne. Mr. Lamontagne called together the leaders from all fields of the arts, from music and opera, theatre, ballet, the visual arts, the literary arts, arts administrators and some who were there merely as observers.

Mr. Williamson said the conference gave everyone a chance to meet with their colleagues from all over the country and discuss their plans and problems. "It was just excellent." Plans for the 1967 Centennial were discussed and more than that the plans for after 1967 were also outlined.

AWARE OF PROBLEMS

Referring to 1967, Mr. Williamson said the conference "put us all in a position in which we have a first hand knowledge of the problems we are facing and how we will be able to assist our local Centennial committees."

Mr. Williamson felt the honor of being one of the speakers was not only a personal one, but also one accorded to the Confederation Centre, indicating it is well thought of on the national level.

He said that everyone was very enthusiastic about the complex, "Everyone was aware we have the finest theatre in Canada. I can see that the centre will be in non-stop use during 1967."

One of the other speakers was Johnny Wayne, who will be co-directing the activities here this summer, and during his speech he paid tribute to work done by Dr. Frank MacKinnon.

Four Receive History Awards

SUMMERSIDE — The weekly Rotary luncheon here yesterday was dominated by the presentation of awards from the American Association for State and Local History to four prominent Island men.

The recipients of the awards were: Rev. Dr. Francis Boiger, professor of History at St. Dunstan's University — an award of merit for his book "Prince Edward Island — Confederation 1863-1871"; and certificates of commendation to: Dr. Gordon Lea, Charlottetown, for his book "The History of the Practices of Medicine in Prince Edward Island"; Lorne C. Calbeck, Charlottetown, for his book "Cradle of Confederation"; and Neil A. Matheson, for his newspaper column "Across The 'Land'".

Harold L. Palmer, QC, of Charlottetown, a member of the association's provincial nominating committee, introduced the recipients to the luncheon and Chief Justice Thane A. Campbell, chairman of the provincial committee and also president of the Summerside Rotary Club, made the presentations.

Explaining the awards Chief Justice Campbell said that a nominee not only has to run the gamut of the local committee but also the eastern region committee and finally the head committee of the association.

P.E.I. CREDIT GRANTERS MEET SPEAKER

of the Charlottetown branch last evening at Confederation Centre. Mr. Etter was guest speaker at the dinner meeting. With Mr. Etter, from left, are William Jay, Summerside, a director of the association; Lloyd MacEachern, president of the Charlottetown branch; and Francis MacQuarrie, vice president of the Summerside branch.

Herbert Bowden, had announced next week's business, William W. Hamilton, a Labor member from West Pife, arose.

"Not everybody, certainly on this side, agrees with the need to suspend business for the whole of this week," he said. "Will you give an undertaking to the House you and the government are considering ways and means of regaining the time which the House has lost?"

"I should have thought it would have been the wish of everyone that business should have been suspended for this week," was Bowden's frigid response.

The sitting lasted 14 minutes. One familiar figure from Churchill's war days may be absent from the funeral. Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, 77, is aboard a ship on a cruise to South Africa. He is scheduled in Cape Town Thursday.

Although he has been invited to be a pall bearer, Montgomery may not be able to return because of his physical condition.

During the procession past Sir Winston's coffin, Prime Minister and Mrs. Wilson will be accompanied by Bowden, Lord President of the Council, and the Earl of Longford, Lord Privy Seal, with their wives.

Then will follow government ministers, members of Parliament and peers of all parties. Police would not estimate how many Britons would pay a final farewell visit to Churchill, but a million is not regarded as excessive.

Upgrade Beef By Breeding Hereford Association Told

"We want to upgrade our beef and get the plain beef off the market. That means we have to go back to breeding," Glen Cotton, Charlottetown provincial beef fieldman, told the annual meeting of the Hereford Breeders Association here last night. The popular fieldman explained how important the efforts of the pure bred beef cattle breeders will be in the upgrading program.

Upwards of 70 men and women sat down to a dinner the North River Hotel. Farmers served in their hall near North River corner. Max Thompson, Victoria, the club vice-president presided in the absence of President Herman Smallman, O'Leary RR.

The Hereford men enjoyed a tremendous year of success in inter-breed competitions in 1964, secretary Mrs. Fulton Sanderson, York Point, told the meeting in one of the best annual reviews presented to an Island farm organization for many years.

TOP AWARDS

The White Faces had taken the grand championship in the Easter Beef show here when Robert McLaurin and son showed the grand champion, and a Cornwall man, Harold Godfrey, had taken a Hereford steer to the reserve grand spot. Marjorie Sanderson, York Point, showed the best 4-H club steer, also a Hereford.

Fulton Sanderson showed the grand champion steer in an inter-breed show at the Atlantic Winter Fair, and his son Johnny had the steer with the second best carcass score. The pair had previously topped the Hereford class of steers.

Guest speaker Dr. Hammond Kelly, provincial director of veterinary services, showed slides and described the visit he and Mrs. Kelly paid last year to Scotland and England.

Dr. Kelly was introduced by Charles Scranton, Southport and thanked by Ralph Raynor, Mt. Herbert.

Others who spoke briefly included Mr. Thompson who reviewed the year's activities. Ove Hansen, Shed Acres Hereford farm manager, Brackley Point; Fulton Sanderson who congratulated the young people who served the dinner and Neil A. Matheson, Guardian Provincial-Farm editor.

DIRECTORS NAMED

Directors named for the coming year are: Richard Quinn, Cardigan; Jack MacKinnon, Brookly; John MacKinnon, Kinross and Donald MacQuarrie, Rosemeath for Kings; Bruce Caspary, Caspary, Mar Thompson, Victoria; Robert MacLaurin, Tyne Valley and Herman Smallman for Prince; John Sanderson, York Point; William Hayden, Cherry Valley; Clifford Holmes, Kingston and John MacKinley, North River for Queens.

Named as representatives of the Beef Producers' Association executive are: Ralph Raynor, Mt. Herbert, and William Hayden, Cherry Valley.

The meeting decided by resolutions to recommend to the provincial exhibition association to continue the present number of sections for competition. An idea sponsored last year by Agriculture Minister Harry Hays had suggested the number of entries per breeder be reduced, and the number of sections be reduced greatly, with prize money greatly enlarged.

They asked that registration papers be required at all Island shows and passed a unanimous vote of thanks to the P.E.I. Department of Agriculture for appointing Mr. Cotton as beef fieldman.

The president of the association for the coming year is Max Thompson, Victoria; William Hayden, Cherry Valley is vice-president; Mrs. Helen Sanderson, North River, secretary, and Clark Johnston, Charlottetown, treasurer.

Sir Winston's final arrival at Westminster was poignant to many onlookers who recalled he had strolled through the Hall of Kings countless times during 50 years as a Member of Parliament until last July. He died Sunday of a stroke.

The coffin was placed upon a high catafalque, which is draped in black velvet with silver braided edges and rests on a platform covered with cloth of gold.

Upon the coffin is the insignia of Sir Winston's Order of the Garter, the garter in dark blue velvet edged with gold, with an eight-pointed star, silver cross of St. George in the centre.

Beginning today hundreds of thousands will file past to pay their last respects to Sir Winston.

QUEEN WILL LEAD

The Queen and Prince Philip will head mourners at the funeral service accompanied by many other members of the royal family, including the Queen Mother, Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon, the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester and their two sons, the Princess Royal, Princess Marina, the Duke and Duchess of Kent, Princess Alexandra and her husband Angus Ogilvy.

Prime Minister Wilson and his wife will lead a file of parliamentarians past Sir Winston's bier this morning as the procession of respect begins.

The archbishop of Canterbury with a large cross hanging at the front of his black castrick, received Churchill's body at the Westminster Hall. He had spoken to the nation on television only an hour earlier, calling on Britons to "thank God again, for a man like this is God's gift to the world."

It was bitterly cold at the hall. Men in the crowd of 2,000 outside immediately took off their hats. Some of the women were weeping.

The death of Sir Winston was formally registered. The cause, as set down by his private secretary Anthony Montague-Browne, was: Cerebral Thrombosis, cerebral arteriosclerosis and congestion of the lungs.

STATE HEADS TO ATTEND

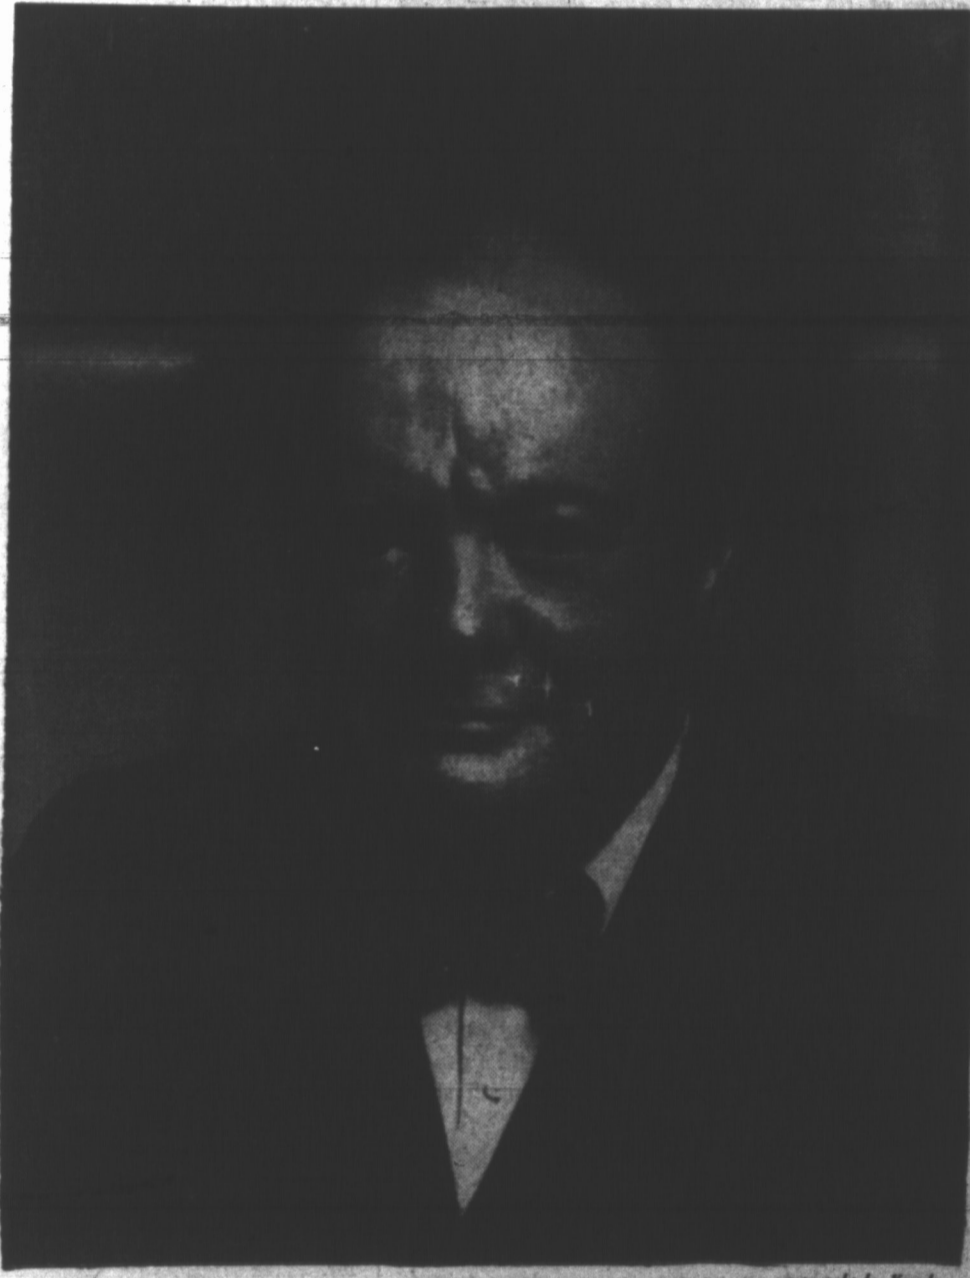

All over the world, government leaders and high dignitaries prepared to leave for Saturday's solemn ceremonies in London. President de Gaulle of France, Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who commanded the wartime allied forces in Europe, already have accepted invitations.

President Johnson is expected if he gets a final okay from his doctors, who have been treating him for a cold.

From Moscow and Seoul, from Brussels and Bangkok, there will be mourners for Churchill.

One slightly flat note crept into the almost overwhelming display of affection at a brief session of the House of Commons, the institution Churchill prized above all else.

After the leader of the House,

Sir Winston Churchill
1874-1965

He is already enshrined in the history and legend of this turbulent era *The man with the siren suit, the impish grin, the "V" for Victory—The twentieth century's most dynamic figure *Who, in biting, brilliant phrase, could arouse the people of Britain to a new epic of sacrifice and endurance *Who could communicate faith, confidence and courage against fearful odds * Neither this generation nor those that follow will forget him * His name encompasses a lifetime of high adventure and mighty achievement * Daring young newspaper correspondent and prisoner of the Boers in the South African war; author, statesman and the most captivating voice in international broadcast; twice Prime Minister of Britain in her most crucial years; outstanding figure in wartime conference of world powers * We of the Commonwealth of Nations mourn the passing of Sir Winston Churchill with a sense of deep, intimate loss *

Asphalt Co. To Appeal Judgment

SUMMERSIDE — An announcement was made here last night by lawyer George McMahon, representing Maritime Asphalt Products Ltd. of Summerside, that the company intends to appeal to the supreme court of Prince Edward Island en banc, the note of judgment Monday by Mr. Justice R.R. Bell indicating an order would be issued to wind up the company under the direction and supervision of the court.

This decision was made following an application for a hearing by Francis William Curtis, a shareholder in the company, under the winding up act.

Gerald R. Foster, QC, representing Mr. Curtis.

At the hearing Monday Mr. Curtis testified he had been present in Magistrate W. Chester S. MacDonald's court here in May of 1964 when the company and two of its officers, Clark and Somers, had pleaded guilty to numerous offences under the income tax act. He said he had also been present on May 14, 1964, when fines had been levied on all offences against the company and the two officers.

At the hearing Monday Judge Bell stated the applicant had no knowledge of the offences and was not a party in any way in reference to the manner of the company co-operation. He added that the applicant "should be protected as to his interest".

WESTERN BRIEFS

UNDERWENT SURGERY — Mrs. Fred Taylor teacher of Graham's Road School has returned to her home in "ranville" after undergoing surgery in Prince County Hospital.

BREAK REPORTED

Extensive damage in one part of Crest Lanes in Summerside resulted from a break and entry into the building early Monday morning. A small amount of change was stolen. Summerside RCMP detachment, which investigated the break, said entry was gained by breaking a window.
