TOWN MEETING.

Pursuant to a Requisition addressed to His Worship the Mayor, a public meeting was convened at the City Hall on Monday last, at 2 p. m., "to take into consideration the propriety of conducting the business of the City at a less cost than now."

His Worship the Mayor having stated that urgent business required his presence elsewhere, the Hon. Edward Palmer was called to the chair, and Peter McGowan, Esq., was appointed Clerk.

On motion of William Heard, Esq., seconded by Benjamin Davies, Esq., it was—

RESOLVED, That the City Accounts should, in future, be made up and published half-yearly; and that the last half year's Accounts be made up as speedily as possible.

RESOLVED, That a reduction in the expense connected with the Police Establishment is urgently called for; and that the duties of the Police should not be connected with the Small Debt or Mayor's Court, as that Court is at present constituted.

Benjamin Davies, Esqr., then proposed the following:—

"RESOLVED, That in the present depressed state of the City finances, the Mayor, together with the City Clerk, ought to discharge the duties of the minor offices of the Corporation, viz: that of the Recorder, the Surveyor of Roads, the City Marshal, Surveyor of Weights and Measures, and Treasurer, at the usual salaries."

This Resolution gave rise to considerable discussion, which resulted in the substitution of a Resolution recommending that the office of City Surveyor be abolished, and that the salary of the Mayor be reduced to £50.

It was also moved, "that the City Council be recommended to obtain an alteration in the Act of Incorporation, so as to have two days in each week appropriated to the Police Court instead of each day in the week, as at present existing;" but in consequence of the small number present when the question was put, who appeared to be about equally divided, the motion was withdrawn.

The following resolution was then moved, seconded, and unanimously adopted:—

RESOLVED, That the City Council be requested to use all legal and proper means to increase the revenue and lessen the expenditure of the City.

The Hon. John Longworth was then called to the chair, and the thanks of the meeting were given to the Hon. Mr. Palmer for the able, efficient, and impartial manner in which he had conducted the business of the meeting.—Mon.

WAR NEWS.

Congress during the recent sessions has appropriated about $800,000,000, including upward of $560,000,000 for the Army, and somewhat less than $100,000,000 for the Navy. Among the last acts signed by the President, was the one authorizing the issue of postage and other Government stamps as currency, and prohibiting banks and other corporations from issuing notes below the denomination of one dollar for circulation.

Vicksburg has not yet fallen. The following, from a correspondent off Vicksburg, suggests a rather unpleasant contingency:

"The river is falling very fast. It is hardly possible that the three large sloops, Hartford, Brooklyn, and Richmond, together with two sloops of smaller class, the Oneida, and Iroquois, which draw nearly the same quantity of water, can be able to get down the river. In such a contingency, all we could do would be to make ourselves as comfortable as possible till spring, when the river rises. Should we be thus caught, the navy department will lose the service of a number of the best ships in the U. S. Navy, with a full crew of officers and men.

Secretary Seward, in a private letter to a gentleman in New York State, requesting his assistance in raising men for the war, says, "All is well if we instantly show our strength." These, says the New York World, are no ordinary words for Mr. Seward to use. "They do not sound like his cheerful and good-natured response to the curious six months ago. So they ought to have weight. They must have weight. They should ring and thunder through the land. They must echo and re-echo back and forth, from ocean to ocean, from the lakes to the line. 'All is well' may inspire and stir us. We may not be utterly cast down. Our work only half done. Vast things to do yet. A mortifying check before the capital of the conspiracy. Two European nations eager for an opportunity of intervention. But 'all is well if we instantly show our strength!'"

SERIOUS RAILWAY ACCIDENT ON THE ALBION MINES ROAD—TWO WOMEN KILLED, AND OTHERS SERIOUSLY INJURED.

Monday Evening, 8 P. M.

We have just received intelligence of a heart-rending accident which occurred on the Albion Mines railroad, resulting in the death of two women, the serious injury of a young girl, and the injury, more or less, of several others. The half-past 3 o'clock train, coming down to the Landing Ground had on board eight male and 7 female passengers. About half-way down, near Mr. John Fraser's (Colin) house, it came in collision with another train coming up, and the passenger car was completely crushed by the shock.

All of the male passengers but one jumped from the cars immediately before the collision, and so escaped injury. Two females, Elizabeth Ross of McLennan's Brook, and a Miss McLellan of the East River, were killed. A Miss Smith from Truro was severely injured, and we learn her life is despaired of. One or two other young ladies from town were slightly injured, and a young man, Mr. Kenneth Matheson from Pictou, was somewhat severely hurt, having received injuries in his leg and head.

We have received no further reliable particulars of this catastrophe, but understand that a coroner's inquest is being held, when all the details of the distressing occurrence will be elicited.

GUIZOT ON O'CONNELL.—"I found Mr. O'Connell exactly the sort of man I had pictured to myself. There was something, perhaps, in this, but it is always much to answer expectation. He was tall, bulky, robust, animated, his head sunk in a little between his shoulders, with an air of strength and shrewdness in the quick glance, slightly indirect although not indicating duplicity; he was neither elegant nor vulgar, his manner a little embarrassed yet firm, with even a tincture of suppressed arrogance. His politeness towards the Englishmen of condition he met there was mingled slightly with humility and pride; it was apparent that they had once been his masters, and that now he exercised power over them; he had submitted to their rule and he accepted their attentions. He was evidently flattered at having been invited to meet me. On our introduction, I said to him, 'You and I, Sir, are here two great evidences of the progress of justice and good sense: you, a Catholic, are a member of the English House of Commons: I, a Protestant, am the Ambassador of France.' This opening remark pleased him; and during dinner we conversed together almost like old acquaintances. During the morning, Mrs. Stanley had hesitated about an evening party; nevertheless she had decided for it; and after dinner I saw arrive Lord and Lady Palmerston, Lord Normandy, Lord Clarendon, the Bishop of Norwich, Lady William Russell, and several others. On leaving the dinner-table, a fit of social modesty seized Mr. O'Connell—he wished to take his departure. 'You have company,' said he to Mr. Stanley—'Yes, but pray remain, we expect you to do so.'—'No, no, I must go.'—'Stay I entreat you.' He stayed, with visible satisfaction not unmingled with pride. 'That then, is Mr. O'Connell?' said Lady William Russell to me, who probably had never seen him before. —'Yes,' I replied, 'and I am come from Paris to tell you so.'—'You thought, perhaps, that we passed our lives with him?'—'No, I see evidently that you do not.' All appeared glad of the opportunity to make themselves agreeable to him and he seemed equally inclined to profit by it. He spoke much; he detailed the progress of temperance in Ireland; the drunkards were disappearing by thousands,—the taste for regular habits and more refined manners advanced in proportion as inebriety receded. No one expressed the slightest doubt. I asked him whether this was a mere puff of popular humour or a lasting reform? He replied gravely, 'It will last; we are a persevering race, as all are who have suffered much.' He took pleasure in addressing himself to me—in calling me to witness the improved fortune of his country, and his personal triumph. I retired towards midnight, and was the first to go, leaving Mr. O'Connell surrounded by four cabinet ministers and five or six ladies of rank, who listened to him with a mixture, somewhat comic, of curiosity and pride, of deference and disdain. —Guizot's Embassy to England.

MYSTIFICATION.—Late New York and Boston papers contain what purport to be extracts from Richmond journals—heading them "Rebel Accounts" of the fighting. Strange to say these lengthy extracts are telegraphed from Washinton, and to an impartial reader bear the appearance of being "cooked," everything telling against the Federalists being omitted, and the "situation" wonderfully toned down. The principal object in publishing these garbled statements in the Northern States appears to be to mislead the people, and to give the speakers at the public meetings an opportunity of quoting from them to shew that matters near Richmond, although critical enough, are not in such a dreadful condition as is generally believed. But the scheme won't work.

LOVE OR TOOTHACHE.—Put two persons in the same bedroom, one of whom has the toothache and the other is in love, and the person who has the toothache will go to sleep first.—Old Growler.

THE DEATH OF YOUTH.

The following notice of the death of George W. Satchwell, only son of Mr. Thomas Satchwell, of this city, is taken from the Boston Evening Transcript. It must be consoling to his friends here to know that his character was such as to merit this notice:—

We walk to-day in conscious pride,
And hang the flag of hope on high;
But ah, to-morrow, by our side
Some friend may lay him down and die;
Some early flower that won our praise,
Some altar where we laid our trust,
Some flower, ere dies the evening rays,
May trampled be and laid in dust.

As the day of our late National Anniversary was drawing to its close, there passed away from these earthly scenes one, who, but a few days before, at the very threshold of dawning manhood, opening before him full of promise, was in the full enjoyment of accustomed health. Suddenly prostrated by a severe illness, which soon assumed a malignant form, after a period of intense suffering, during which, as the outward form perished, were revealed the hidden graces of a pure and noble spirit, the shadow of death fell upon him, extinguishing the genial brightness of a fair and almost cloudless morning, that seemed to be the ushering in of a long day of usefulness. For none knew intimately George William Satchwell but to love him. None saw him but to anticipate for him a manly and honorable career; he was so earnest and faithful to every duty, of strict integrity, of warm affection, single hearted and sincere.

To human comprehension the sudden removal by death of one just reaching the starting place of active life, and whose prospects are predictions of a beautiful unfolding here, is mysterious to mortal vision. We feel that the blossoms should bear fruit below; that something unfinished is rudely destroyed; that at almost any other season the unexpected summons would be less untimely. And yet the spiritual mind can discern a benignant purpose in it. Such a bereavement may be a minister of wisdom to youth, as well as maturity, if you will pause to heed its teachings. Such sorrow should not darken joy, but make joy innocent. The decease of a young friend ought not to destroy interest in this life's work, but put high and upward-looking principles into all endeavor, and make clearer than ever the truth, that whether we remain here to old age or go hence among the first called of our generation, character alone always abides—and therefore pure, disinterested, sincere, reverent character, is the end and result to aim at and live for.

That these lessons may be taken to heart by those who have consecrated the grave of young Satchwell with the tears of unselfish love, is the wish of one who learned, through intimate acquaintance, to know of his worth, and who sympathizes with them as they mourn the loss of a cherished friend. Let us say, as one has beautifully said, "We lay in the earth the dust of our friend, full of gratitude for all that he was in himself, and for all the happiness and virtue to which he ministered in others He has gone while the dew of his youth was on him; we shall no more see his face, nor hear the sincere eloquence of his voice. But the beauty of his life and the sweetness of his memory are ours. And ours, too, is the faith in the immortality of the soul; the assurance that the parting is not forever; that we shall again greet our brother in the blessed employments and inseparable union of Heaven." H.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—A young man named James McGilvarey, in the employ of the Roman Catholic Bishop of this city, met with a severe accident on Tuesday evening last, which terminated fatally yesterday morning. While in the act of climbing a cherry-tree in his master's garden, the branch upon which he stood broke, and he fell to the ground. Medical assistance was immediately obtained, but his case was beyond human skill; his body being completely paralyzed below the chest. When picked up he was quite sensible, and continued in possession of his mental faculties up to a short time before his death. He was a young man of good moral habits, strict integrity, and of a frank and amiable disposition, and justly earned for himself the respect and good-will of all who have been acquainted with him, and was highly esteemed by those with whom he resided. He was about 20 years of age.—Weekly.

ANOTHER SAD ACCIDENT—ONE MAN KILLED AND ANOTHER SERIOUSLY INJURED.—A number of hands in the shipyard of Mr. Alex. Hayden, head of Hillsborough River, were, on Tuesday last, laying the launchways under a vessel of about two hundred tons, when she suddenly tripped the first block, the whole length of the ship, which caused slip forward about one foot—a young man named McPhee, and Alexander Hayden, junr., Esq., of this City—the latter of whom was superintending the laying down the launchways—were at work together, and observing the vessel slipping on her blocks, attempted to jump aside, when poor McPhee got caught by a plank about the breast, and the weight of the vessel came on him, and crushed him to death instantly. Mr. Hayden was forced down into the mud on his hands and knees, and it was with some difficulty he was extricated from his perilous position. Mr. Hayden has since been brought to town, and we understand is not dangerously injured. It is supposed that in digging a place to lay the launchways the blocks on which the vessel rested, must have been loosened. —Isl.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—Hollsway's Ointment and Pills.—Indisputable remedies.—In the use of these medicaments there need be no hesitation or doubt of their cooling, healing and purifying properties. Holloway's preparations must always do good—both should find a place in every household. The Ointment stands unrivalled for the facility it displays in relieving, healing, and thoroughly curing the most inveterate sores, ulcers, and in cases of bad legs they act as a charm, as thousands will testify who tried them, and would have lost their limbs by amputation but for this wonderful Medicine. The Pills by purifying, stimulating, and regulating every organ, greatly assist the remedial virtues of this excellent Ointment, they cannot possibly do any harm, but will always do good when the printed directions are followed.

REDUCING A GOVERNOR'S SALARY.—Late Australian papers say that the Legislature of that Colony has passed a law to reduce the Governor's salary from £10,000 per annum, with £5,000 a year of allowances and a house worth £2,000, to £7,000, without allowances, but with the house.

A pretty German woman named Rose Creamer was made the victim of jealousy in St. Louis a short time since. She lived in the family of a poor Italian named Colona, whose wife became jealous of her, and who, finding her asleep one night, sprinkled camphene over her night-clothes and bed, and set them on fire. It is said she cannot recover.

A SNOW BANK IN JULY.—The Springfield Republican reports a snow drift at Skinner Hollow, Manchester, Vt., last week, located within one hundred rods of where ripe strawberries were found, measured twelve feet in depth and covered one-fourth of an acre. There are two arches in the drift, formed by the passage of a small stream. One of these arches is large enough to drive a horse and carriage through: the other, for four persons to pass through abreast.

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE AND THE BRITISH REVIEWS.

L. SCOTT & CO., New York, continue to publish the following leading British Periodicals, viz:—

1
THE LONDON QUARTERLY (Conservative).
2
THE EDINBURGH REVIEW (Whig).
3
THE NORTH BRITISH REVIEW (Free Church).
4
THE WESTMINSTER REVIEW (Liberal).
5
BLACKWOOD'S EDINBURGH MAGAZINE (Tory).

The present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the forthcoming year. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written news-items, crude speculations, and flying rumors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-established literary, scientific, and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

EARLY COPIES.

The receipt of Advance Sheets from the British publishers gives additional value to these Reprints, inasmuch as they can now be placed in the hands of subscribers about as soon as the original editions.

[EXTRACTS FROM NEWSPAPERS.]

On reference to a return made to Parliament, and ordered by the House of Commons to be printed, 7th June, 1861, it will be seen that the increase of Duty for the year, paid by the "QUEEN," was £2567, being upwards of £1000 more than paid by any other office ever yet established in this City.

[From Gore's General Advertiser, Oct. 24, 1861.]

"Indeed, we believe that we are perfectly justified in saying that no other Company, within the same period, ever attained so large an income in either the Fire or Life Departments as the Queen Insurance Company. In making this statement, we make no exception even in favor of our older local companies, namely, the Liverpool and London, the Royal, and the Lancashire Insurance Companies."

[From the Civil Service Gazette, Nov. 2, 1861.]

"Among these important institutions stands eminent for its solidity, as well as for its success, 'the Queen Insurance Company,' which last week held its annual meeting of proprietors in Liverpool. A reference to the ample report in another page will fully satisfy every reader of the signal progress made by this association since its foundation. Such success is, indeed, rarely attained; and it attests at once the excellence of its management, and the public confidence in its constitution."

[From the Liverpool Mercury, Nov. 2, 1861.]

"It must be gratifying to the public generally, and especially to the proprietors, to find that its income during the past three years has increased at the rate of £20,000 per annum. We believe that no other Company, within the same short period, ever attained so large an increase either in the Fire or Life Department. This speaks highly for the activity and zeal of the management, while the promptness with which all the claims, arising out of the late disastrous fire in London were met, testifies to their financial ability and the care and prudence which marked the investment of these funds."
