Charlottetown, November 14, 1877

The organs and the few remaining supporters of the Government try to shift the odium of the increased taxation from the present to the late Government. Oh! say they, "we can't help it. The reckless extravagance of the Conservatives rendered direct taxation absolutely necessary." We are not now concerned to defend Messrs. Yeo and Lefurgy, DeBlois, Gordon and Prose from this grave charge. True, they were members and supporters of the Government against which it is preferred. But they now patronize the Patriot, and may we not unreasonably look to it for an explanation. It is well, however that the public should now the truth of the case, and we publish the following abstract of receipts and expenditure during the last full year the Owen Government were in power. Should the Patriot neglect to defend the gentlemen who support it, we may offer a few more figures in further illustration of the alleged extravagance of the late Government:—

Total Expenditure,	$395,277 43

This statement shows that the Owen Government paid out $94,117.24 more than they received. By the accounts, however, they show that no less a sum than $144,296.70 of the $395,277.43 expended, were paid to liquidate debts and to provide permanent improvements. The following items included in the former amount do not properly belong to the ordinary expenditure of the year:—

New Court House in Charlottetown,	$25,584 37
New Court House in Summerside,	21,841 35
County Court Houses erected,	2,536 55
New Ferry Steamer,	28,905 96

Damages Refunded,	1,278 72

Cash Returned, 796.12
Treasury Notes paid off, 1,478.72

$144,296.70

Subtract this amount from the total expenditure ($395,277.43), and the ordinary expenditure for the year will be $250,980.73. Then deduct from the revenue statement $22,000 received from the Dominion Government for the dredge, and $24,333.94 received from the Crown Lands Department for public lands sold, and we have as ordinary revenue the sum of $254,826.25. This would show a small surplus of $3,845.52. Thus:—

Ordinary Revenue, $254,826 25
Ordinary Expenditure, 250,980 73

Surplus, $3,845 52

If Mr. Owen and his friends spent more than they received, they at least left public property to show for it; and instead of requiring $35,000 to supplement the ordinary revenue they showed, at the end of the year, a balance of $3,845.52 in favor of ordinary expenditure.

D. BANKS MCKENZIE IN THE MARKET HALL LAST EVENING.

The Market Hall was crowded last night with as respectable an audience as ever assembled in Charlottetown to listen to "words of truth and soberness" from man's lips. Mr. McKenzie, the popular President, opened with a few remarks, and was followed by Mr. A. A. McKenzie, the Vice-President, who introduced Mr. Stethem of the Halifax Reform Club, who spoke of the formation of a Reform Club at Charlottetown, numbering about 180 members. The names of the Hon. Mr. Howland and Reid ensured success to it, and when he left only four men were outside the movement and probably by this time they were included in it. Mr. C. Hunt, of the Summerside Reform Club, told of the great success of their Club, and the rapid progress they were making—in no wise behind their Charlottetown brethren. One of the ladies of the choir sang a pretty solo with chorus by the choir—"The World is Moving on."

D. Banks McKenzie, on coming forward, was greeted with loud applause. Although glad to get home on account of Mrs. McK, who was a very bad sailor, and the season was advancing; yet he felt a little homesick on leaving us, if he might use the expression, as he felt so thoroughly at home here. On first coming amongst us he felt a little discouraged; but he soon found his way into the warm hearts of a warmer hearted people. When he got back here again, as he hoped to and looked forward to, he thought he would find it hard work to hunt up a rum shop. Already he found a difference. The liquor dealers are looking in vain for the old signatures to their petitions; but he was sorry to hear that one who had all the honors of the Club heaped on him was helping the liquor-dealers with his name on their requisition. He trusted that, when his name is known, his head will hang pretty low with shame. He warned the "blue ribbon men" from signing such petitions, for the man who helps to get a license granted is as morally guilty as the man who deals in the "devil's poison" to unfortunate victims. He hoped that he would not be quite forgotten by the people who, through the mercy of God, he had been instrumental in helping to save from its damning influence. He hoped that he had made a few homes happy, and husband and wife could stand hand and hand together and more, saved from the clutches of the demon alcohol. His wife and himself had often faced starvation together, but she stuck to him through thick and thin, through hardship and privation, and God did not forget them. From the small beginning of 9 rooms and 17 cots—watching incessantly over the poor victims of intemperance in all the agonies of delirium tremens—they had now removed to an almost palatial hospital in Boston, and the day was not far distant when the necessity of having an inebriate asylum would be realized here. Some men cannot be saved from drunkenness except by those institutions. After hard battling, he got a grant for an asylum at Dartmouth, in Nova Scotia. He has founded similar institutions in very many towns in the States. A man must go into them voluntarily to be saved. He has restored over forty-four men to these provinces sober and in their right mind. Some men under his eye would drink almost anything—the cravings for strong drink are so irresistible. From the liquor used in preserving reptiles to the contents of the perfume bottle and the oil from the kerosene lamps. He hoped that every man and woman in this place, would do his or her best to clean out the taverns—shut them up—so that those who are striving to get over their taste for liquor will not be overcome by the sight or smell of it. Mr. McKenzie spoke for about an hour and a half. About 36, signed the pledge at the close this evening.

INDIGNATION MEETINGS.

Four Indignation Meetings will be held to-day.

An Indignation Meeting, "to protest against the mal-administration of the present Government," will be held at Little York, on Monday, the 19th.

ALBERTON REFORM CLUB.

The McKenzie Reform Club of Alberton has sprung into existence quickly. Mr. McKenzie had for some time been urgently pressed to visit Alberton, and would have done so had time permitted; but finding that Mr. Stethem, of the Halifax Reform Club, was about going West, he laid the charge on him. The result has been a great success. Alberton was ripe for the movement, and on the first meeting—on the 8th inst., 53 names were enrolled. Saturday night showed a total of 158 and we learn since that there are over 180 men members, and that only three or four remain out in the cold. One tavern-keeper is seeking to get into another business. The officers are:—President, Hon. R. B. Reid; 1st Vice do Neil Woodside; 2nd do Edward Burke; 3rd do M. G. Clarke; Secretary, J. P. Fielding; Treasurer, B. Rogers; Chairman of Committee (Vigilance), W. T. Blezard; Music do M. Laird; Financedo R. A. Clark; Club-House, R. H. Reid; Ushers, P. Cunningham and J. H. B. Cull.

Local and Other Items.

The bright Moravian, which was loading oats at Mount Stewart on Friday last, dis-charged the oats and is now loading potatoes at Haggarty's wharf for the English market.

The ship Janus Duncan, which arrived from Liverpool on Thursday last, is now loaking with oats at the Railway Wharf, for the English market.

PERSONAL.—J. B. Woodland, ex-editor of the Amherst "Sentinel," has become a Baptist Minister. Rumor says that he is expecting a call from a P. E. I. congregation.—Hx. Herald.

I. C. RAILWAY.—The freight traffic on this road has increased to such an extent as to necessitate the running of three extra trains daily. About 1,400 sheep arrived by train last evening from P. E. Island. They were consigned to Mr. Davies, an American gentleman, who intends taking them to the United States to-day. Last week 700 for the same gentleman came over. Mr. Cain, of this city, had 200 consigned to him by last night's train.—St. John Freeman.

MARKETS.—The market of yesterday was very large. This was owing to the market of Friday being retarded by bad weather. The Hall now being open for the sale of small articles of produce, the scene around the Market House is more lively. Prices ranged as follows: Pork (per carcass) from 5 to 5½ cents; beef (per lb. by qr.) from 5 to 8 cents; butter (fresh) from 24 to 28 cents; butter (tub) from 18 to 21 cents per lb.; eggs (per doz.) from 18 to 21 cents; hay, from $17 to $20 per ton; sheepskins, from 40 to 50 cents each.

AQUATIC.—Edward Trickett, the Australian champion sculler, has issued a challenge to row any oarsman in England, the United States, or the Colonies, a three or five mile race straightaway, for £500 or £1000 a side, the race to take place four months after signing articles. He will give Boyd or Higgins, the English Champions, expenses to row at Sydney, and should neither accept the challenge, he will row any man in the United States or the Provinces. If they agree to row for £1000 a side he will come to this country and pay his own expenses, and if for only £500 he will require £200 for expenses. Here now is a chance for Hanlon, who, if his friends have have that confidence in him that they pretend to have, should not find much difficulty in getting backers.

At the Stipendiary Magistrate's Court yesterday morning, James Walsh, drunk and incapable, was fined $3 and costs or, 14 days. Edward Lloyd, vagrant, was remanded 8 days. Sohn McKenzie, drunk and incapable, was fined $2 and costs, or 3 days. Charles McCarthy, for the same offence, was fined the same. Thomas Purcel, for corner loafing, was fined $1 60 and costs, or 10 days. Francis Began drunk and disorderly, was fined $6 and costs, or 1 month hard labor. James McNeill, drunk and incapable, was fined $2 or 8 days. James Fennessy, drunk and disorderly, was fined $6 or 1 month with hard labor; James Hennessy, drunk and very disorderly, was fined $6 or 1 month. James Walsh, James Fennessy, Francis Began, for an assault on the person of Joseph Pollard, were each fined $25, or 3 months hard labor.
