

GASTON ROY

Gaston Roy, arts, was born at Armagh, Quebec on March 7, 1935, and for this reason, as a philosopher, he very justifiably celebrates the feast of St. Thomas with a double relish. He came to Saint Dunstan's in the fall of '53 after having spent the previous year at St. Joseph's College, and he lost no time in breaking down the barriers of language and the like and in making himself an active and respected member of his class. His quiet manner belies the fact that he is a well-known figure in the maritime rings, relying on his professional boxing to maintain his estate and meet his payments with the Bursar.

From the ring to the ice seems to have been an easy step, perhaps a logical one, and Gaston has provided the S.D.U. fans with his share of action during his years on the first team hockey squad. Among his varied and sometime conflicting interests, one has chosen as his professional ambition, and from his studies in Biology has blossomed a calling to medicine. Once armed with his Arts degree, he plans to enroll in the faculty of medicine at Laval next fall, and if we can rely on his most recent sphere of interest, we can look forward to the day when the world will have gained another heart specialist.

GERALDINE SULLIVAN

We first met Geraldine Estelle Sullivan, Science, when she came to St. Dunstan's as a shy Freshette in 1953, but, like most co-eds, it was not long before she found her place in the whirl of exams and social activities. Since coming to S.D.U., Gerry has told us many things about her beautiful home town, Montague, and the ideal life of its town folk.

Gerry was born in Montague on Easter Sunday, April 12, 1936. Her early years were spent in Vernon Bridge, but she returned to her beloved Montague and received her primary and high school education at Montague Memorial and Montague High School.

After graduating from high school in 1953, Gerry was awarded the I.O.D.E. bursary which is given only to students of the highest caliber. With this bursary, Gerry came to Saint Dunstan's and proved her aptitude for science. Though she is a diligent student, and was appointed Lab. Assistant this year, she has always taken an active interest in many extra-curricular activities.

Gerry's immediate plans for the future are to work in the science field. Eventually, she intends to go on for a M. Sc. in chemistry.

JEAN-PAUL ROUSSEL

Jean-Paul Roussel, Arts, was born on September 23, 1935 at Riviere-du-Loup, Quebec, where he received his early education. In 1950 he entered St. Joseph's University in Memramcook, N.B. and after completing three years study he came to St. Dunstan's in the fall of 1953.

Since coming to St. Dunstan's Jean-Paul has proved himself a capable and industrious student. Taking an active interest in sports he participated in inter-class competitions, and his athletic ability has merited him a "D" in football. He was also a valuable member of the football team which won the Maritime Senior and Intercollegiate Championship in 1954. His service in the C.O.T.C. has qualified him for a commission in the Reserve Force. Two valuable assets: a keen sense of humour and willingness to help others have won for John Many friends who wish him every success in his chosen profession, Dentistry, which he plans to enter next fall at the University of Montreal.

Manitoba Uses Advertising For Intelligent Alcohol Use

By NEVILLE NANKIVELL

Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP)—First of its kind in North America, Manitoba's program of alcohol education is being watched by authorities in other parts of Canada and in the United States as a way to combat the alcohol problem.

The Manitoba Committee on Alcohol Education is the pilot balloon in a new approach which urges control in the use of alcoholic beverages.

Through an advertising and publicity campaign, the committee has home the bare facts about alcohol and advocates moderation, rather than preaching prohibition.

Newspaper advertisements, radio plugs and street car displays use a tone of "friendly persuasion" in pleading for sane and sensible drinking in interpreting the province's new and more liberal liquor laws. The recently-enacted laws permit liquor sales in five new types of outlets.

GOOD RESPONSE

Professor R. N. Hallstead, committee chairman and a professor of English at United College says public response to the campaign has been enthusiastic. Since it started last October requests for copies of the committee's advertisements have come from other provinces and from the United States.

He said in an interview that the campaign is designed to reach every one in the province, to inform the public that drinking is an act that requires responsible handling. Its object is to encourage a policy either of abstinence or of sane, responsible drinking.

"We don't feel that drinking is going to stop," he said. "But we feel that those who drink if they are responsible citizens will be interested in learning facts that will enable them to drink sensibly and without abusing alcohol."

Typical of the advertisements is one which appeared during the Christmas period. It advised those serving alcoholic beverages at parties to be considerate and serve non-alcoholic drinks with what alcoholic ones so that a person could make a choice; to avoid embarrassing the guest who declined an alcoholic drink; never urge a drink on anyone, never serve drinks to minors, always serve food with drinks, and never "offer one for the road."

STRESS MODERATION

Theme of most of the advertisements is: "Where there is drinking, moderation should be the rule."

Topics include: Why shouldn't adults drink? Can you really afford to buy liquor? How much do you know about the effects of Alcohol? And why shouldn't minors drink? One sums up with "The decision to drink or not to drink is of course, your own."

Other advertisements interpret the new liquor laws to the public.

discussing how they affect the community, what new outlets are permitted under the Act and responsibility of the public in helping to enforce and enjoy the new laws.

Future topics will include one persuading non-drinkers to be more tolerant of those who do indulge.

The committee was appointed last May as a result of a recommendation by the Bracken liquor commission, and it works on a $50,000 annual grant. Professor Hallstead, who came from Cornell University, was a research consultant on the Bracken commission and on the committee for alcoholism for Manitoba.

The committee will not try to take over alcohol education work in the schools, which is handled by the Manitoba Temperance Alliance and the Manitoba Alcohol Foundation, but it will co-ordinate its activities with all interested groups and hopes to give a boost to the work carried out in highway safety.

Professor Hallstead said some individual criticism of the campaign has been received, such as the advertisements being either "too dry" or "too wet," but that favorable reaction has far outweighed complaints.

Blame Colours For Collisions

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—Sgt. Wilfred Henrich, head of the Kitchener police traffic squad, believes some drivers may be risking trouble even if their cars are the latest models with every safety device in the book.

Since Jan. 1 a record has been kept of the colors of cars involved in accidents involving right-of-way at intersections. During one month 57 per cent of cars hit at intersections were light grey or sand in color.

Black cars or ones with light-colored tops were almost as often reported. By contrast, only one red car was involved in an accident during a month while other cars figured in many early-morning crashes and light blue cars in accidents at dusk.

These colors seem to blend into the surroundings, making the cars difficult for other motorists to see," the police officer said. The study being made by Sgt. Henrich is being watched with interest by the Ontario Attorney General's Department, which has charge of police affairs in the province.

RED SHIELD

SR. CAPT. CARTER

"I am amazed at the co-operation received by the Salvation Army in the Red Shield Drive in the city and province," Sr. Capt. John Carter said, following a meeting of the organizers held on Monday night. "My experience as a minor officer in larger areas did not extend as it does here, where I meet and confer with leading business and professional men who are experienced campaigners and have the ear of the general public and support of dozens of workers, eager and willing to assist in every possible way." "It is a rich and encouraging experience," Sr. Capt. Carter said.

RELIGION AND LIFE

By Very Rev. George C. Pidgeon, D.D., LL.D.
First Moderator of the United Church of Canada

FORGIVENESS OF OUR SINS IS ESSENCE OF GOSPEL

The forgiveness of our sins is the very essence of the Gospel. Over and over again it is emphasized in the Bible that this was why Christ died. St. John says: "The blood of Jesus, His son, cleanses us from all sin," and again, "He is the propitiation (or explanation) for our sins, and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world."

FIRST WORD

St. Paul wrote that the first word in his preaching was that "Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures," and in another connection, he affirms that the ground of our reconciliation with God is that God made His Son "for our sake to be sin who knew no sin that we might become the righteousness of God."

Jesus began His ministry with an offer of forgiveness and new life to the moral outcasts of His time, and vindicated His policy by saying in different situations that He came to call, not the righteous but sinners.

All through His teaching Jesus called those who would be forgiven to forgive. He taught us in the model prayer to pray, "Forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors."

In his parable of the unforbearing servant who had had a great debt cancelled by his master, and who then threw a fellow-servant into prison because he asked for time to pay a small debt, Jesus taught that those who will not forgive others cannot be forgiven.

CHRISTIAN DUTY

Some time ago we heard over the air, a presentation of forgiving those who have wronged us as a Christian duty. But the speaker failed to notice the condition which makes reconciliation possible. A plea like his is sure to be met with something like the following: "Do you think I am going to give that fellow a chance to treat me in that way again? I am not going to be a doormat for him to tramp on as he will."

Now God does not ask that of anyone. He forgives on the ground of repentance. It is only when the offender condemns and renounces his offense that he wants forgiveness or can be forgiven.

So when we are called to forgive as we have been forgiven, it is assumed that with us, as with God, the repudiation of the wrong is a necessary condition for the forgiveness of the wrongdoer. But that does not end the matter.

REPENT

First, try to lead the offender to repent. Jesus said: "If your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone. If he listens to you, you have gained your brother."

In other words, put your pride in your pocket, and take the first step toward reconciliation. In more than 90 per cent of all such cases, the other will meet your approach with an eager welcome, for he is as anxious for a settlement as you are.

You will probably find that these are two sides to the difficulty between you, but when you face the issue together in Christ's spirit anything is possible. But you cannot afford to let the estrangement stand, and rankle in silence.

Second, when this condition is met, forgiveness must be without limit. Peter asked Jesus, Lord, how often shall I forgive my brother against me, and I forgive him? As many as seven times? Jesus said to him, "I do not say to you seven times but seventy times seven."

NO REVENGE

Third, is no case is the follower of Jesus to seek revenge. This is for his own well-being as well as for the honor of his Lord.

St. Paul wrote, Beloved, never avenge yourselves, but leave it to the wrath of God; for it is written: Vengeance is Mine, I will repay, says the Lord. No, if your enemy is hungry, feed him; if he is thirsty, give him drink; for by so doing you will heap burning coals upon his head. Do not be overcome by evil, but overcome evil with good.

The reason behind all this is:

Show Increase In Farm Income

OTTAWA (CP)—Cash income of farmers from the sale of their products amounted to an estimated $2,662,100,000 in 1956, an up-war deviation of about $6,200,000 from last January's preliminary estimate.

The bureau of statistics reported Thursday the estimate is about 13 per cent higher than the revised figure of $2,357,100,000 in 1955, but still below the all-time record of $2,849,300,000 in 1952.

Higher returns were reported in all provinces, ranging from a one-per-cent increase in Ontario to a 40-per-cent jump in Saskatchewan.

Cash income from wheat—saskatchewan's largest single source of farm income—rose to $460,000,000 from $329,500,000, representing the largest factor in the over-all increase.

LIVESTOCK INCOME UP

Total cash income from the sale of livestock in 1956 is estimated at $736,600,000 compared with $702,900,000 the previous year, as higher marketings more than offset price declines. Hog income advanced slightly to $302,000,000 from $289,600,000 due to both higher marketings and prices.

A record of $445,900,000 was set in cash income from dairy products, a jump from $438,400,000 in 1955.

Cash income totals for the provinces with 1955 figures in brackets: Prince Edward Island, $26,400,000 ($25,900,000); Nova Scotia, $44,400,000 ($42,800,000); New Brunswick, $51,400,000 ($47,800,000); Quebec, $441,000,000 ($424,200,000); Ontario, $749,300,000 ($749,100,000); Manitoba, $209,200,000 ($173,500,000); Saskatchewan, $579,600,000 ($424,700,000); Alberta, $432,900,000 ($365,100,000); British Columbia $109,900,000 ($104,000,000).

Newfoundland was not listed by the bureau which does not collect information there.

UNEF GUARD KILLS ARAB

CAIRO (AP)—The United Nations Emergency Force reported Friday that a Palestinian Arab was killed by a UNEF guard from Indonesia who discovered four civilians trying to make off with army equipment. The shooting occurred at an Indonesian camp in the Gaza Strip town of Rafah.

If another person's hatred of me makes me hate him, hatred has triumphed, no matter which wins. The love of Christ in my heart must not be at the mercy of my environment; I must love Him and love all because He loves me.
