Show Blood Transfusion Film To Union

Yesterday afternoon "Prescription for Life", a 20-minute film was shown by Mr. James Coles in the rest room at Canada Packers' Charlottetown plant to members of the United Packing Workers of America local. This film depicts dramatically the value of blood transfusions, and describes the manufacture and use of the other blood derivatives.

Through the courtesy of the management and the co-operation of the union members sufficient time for the showing of the films was made available by the workers setting aside their usual ten minute rest period and working an extra ten minutes after their usual five p.m. quitting time. It is believed that this film aroused great interest in the "Life Saver Club", for which membership is being solicited at the present time.

The United Packing House Workers of America are vying with other unions in the city to secure the highest percentage of attendance at the Red Cross Blood Donor Clinics to be held at the Clover Club in Charlottetown on April 29th and 30th, May 1st and 2nd, and thus merit the beautiful shield which is being offered by Labor Council to the winner.

Monday evening, April 29th, between 5 and 9 will be "Union Night" at the Clover Club Clinic when large numbers of Union members, their relatives and friends are expected to turn out. Burke's Lads and Lassies' Band will be on hand to make the occasion a gala one.

Board Of Trade Workshop To Be Held In May

Following the recently-established pattern of organizing workshops at key centres across Canada, The Canadian Chamber of Commerce announces two one-day workshops to be held in New Brunswick, Wednesday, May 20th and Charlottetown, Friday, May 31st.

"These one-day workshops being held right across Canada help to make local Chambers of Commerce and Boards of Trade still more effective forces for community growth and improvement," stated, D.L. Morrell, General Manager of the Canadian Chamber.

The Maritime Workshops are sponsored by the Canadian Chamber and the Maritime Provinces Board of Trade, with the co-operation of the Boards and Chambers in the host cities.

Earlier workshops took place in New Brunswick, Ontario, Alberta and British Columbia and Cape Breton Island. Others are scheduled for Saskatchewan and Manitoba in early May.

These workshops will bring together regional Board and Chamber personnel, leading businessmen from surrounding communities and staff personnel from the Canadian Chamber and the Maritime Provinces Board of Trade. During these all-day sessions there will be open discussions of local, area, provincial and national problems.

Know-how sessions will feature such things as how to stimulate local interest both in provincial and national affairs, how to develop and promote a better appreciation of our system of competition; retailing, tourism, industrial promotion, traffic, agriculture.

The Director made brief reference to two new departments of the Gallery, the Industrial Design Council and the National Housing Design Council. The latter was set up after the millionth house had been built by National Housing.

In thanking the speaker, Dr. Frank MacKinnon said the lasting things that are in this country are those pertaining to the Arts. In this connection he noted that of all the wealthy men or clever businessmen or even politicians who have lived on the Island in the last 100 years few are known, but the name of Lucy Maude Montgomery is the best known, not only here but all over the world.

The evening competitions originally scheduled for Queen Charlotte High School auditorium were shifted to Prince of Wales due to prior engagement of the High School hall.

The dancing competitions will be adjudicated by Mrs. Hector P. Buchta, Halifax, N.S., and Mrs. Don MacNeill, Antigonish, N.S.

Initial Inoculations At Polio Clinic Here

Yesterday at the Baptist Church, anti-polio inoculations were given to 47 infants and pre-school age children, 11 teen-agers, and 22 adult women, according to report received by the Guardian last night. This clinic which is being sponsored by the Provincial Department of Health, commenced yesterday morning and will continue all day today.

Department doctors assisted by private physicians administered the polio prevention shots. The necessary documentation is being carried out by a group of Public Health nurses assisted by a number of lady volunteers. Miss Alice Trainor, Public Health Nurse, is in charge of the clinic.

At this clinic and a second which will follow in four weeks time, initial inoculations are given to infants over six months old, and third inoculations are given to pre-school children who received only two shots last year. In addition inoculations are available to post-school teen-agers whose 19th birthday does not occur before December 31st, 1957, and pregnant women who present a doctor's certificate.

Health officials stress the importance of bringing all children to these clinics who come within the above-noted classifications, in order that as many as possible in these groupings may receive this protection before the advent of the dangerous summer season.

Nurses Attend 3-Day Institute

Nurses from all parts of the Island are attending a three-day Institute this week. Tuesday, the first day, was given to a consideration of ways to meet the emotional needs of adults and children. Dr. J. C. Theriault and Dr. M.N. Beck, psychiatrists for the Provincial Division of Mental Health, discussed the "defense mechanisms" which everyone uses at one time or another to protect the personality from damage. Normal mental mechanisms were classified and explained. Both doctors pointed up the constructive use of such techniques as sublimation, identification and compensation. Some other mechanisms as rationalization and projection were cited as flimsy defenses, in the use of which, the person fools nobody but himself.

Dr. Beck presented anonymous case histories of children with psychiatric illness, illustrating the pathological use of mental defense mechanisms. Dr. Theriault discussed these patients also and related the normal to the abnormal. Nurses learned that as a person gains insight into his own problems, his personality becomes better integrated, he uses less and less the defense mechanisms which sufficed to protect him when he was a child and uses more and more the better and more constructive defenses. The well integrated person faces reality and deals with it rather than devising means to escape it.

The whole session was most thought provoking and one was aware that these nurses went away with more understanding of their patients and themselves. It is not often that such a large group of nurses are in attendance at such an Institute. There were one hundred and fifty in all. Mrs. Lois Macdonald, Superintendent of Nurses of the P. E. Island Hospital chaired the morning session at the Prince Edward Island; Miss Noreen Shaw, Supervisor of the Charlottetown Hospital was the chairman at the evening session held at the Charlottetown Hospital.
