WASHINGTON, March 9.—Two shots fired almost simultaneously in a room occupied by Fern-igh Montague, an artist, and his wife startled the inmates of No.
678 Fourth Street, Northeast, today.
The door was forced open by an officer when husband and wife were found lying on the bed dead. From their positions the woman had evidently been on the bed and allowed her husband to place the pistol to her mouth and fire. Then, sitting up, he turned the bloody weapon to his own mouth, fired and dropped back on the pillow dead. Despondency, the result of a long and painful illness, was undoubtedly the cause.

MERCIER RESIGNS!

But will be Immediately Prosecuted.

England Ready to Defend Canada.

[SPECIAL TO THE GUARDIAN.]

QUEBEC, March 10.—Government officials say that prosecution proceedings have been commenced against Mercier.
It is reported that Shogren will resign also.

England Will Defend Canada.

LONDON, March 10.—It is estimated strongly that should the American Government attempt retaliation against Canada, England will withdraw from arbitration and meet any issue the United States choose to raise in Behring Sea with plain assertion of right of English subjects to hunt seals outside the recognized limit of the United States' jurisdiction.

Mercier's Resignation.

MONTREAL, March 10.—Mercier has resigned. He addressed a letter to his friends in which he says that Angers coup d'etat received approbation by election; calumny has got the better of the constitution, and the verdict of the people is unjust.

Elected by Acclamation.

MONTREAL, March 10.—Durr and Dursault, conservatives, were elected to-day by acclamation for the constituencies of Brome and Montmorency.

Tallou, Casgrain or Pelletier, as Premier.

Fatal Renewal of a Quarrel.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., March 8.—Newton-ville, Spencer county, is excited over a riot and cutting affray which occurred last night. A quarrel which began some days ago between a young man named Joseph Sherill and one of a party drinking in a saloon was renewed and the men finally came to blows and eventually knives were drawn. When the row ended it was found that Joseph Sherill was fatally wounded in the back with a knife and lay in a pool of blood. Jin. Sherill had his skull fractured and was also cut.
George was stabbed in the left breast.
They will die. None of the others were seriously injured.

The "Premiers' Perilous Trip.

BOSTON, March 9.—Chief Officer Charles Hansen, of the steamer Premier, from Halifax, yesterday gave the following details of the trip: The steamer with eleven passengers aboard departed from Halifax on Wednesday evening at 5 o'clock and ran into a heavy east-south-east gale, with snow, at 12 o'clock the same night.
The ship was then off Shelbourne, N. S., and lay to for thirty hours; during that time she had out oil bags with good effect.
The ship was in light ballast and few seas came over her. One of these seas, looking as high as a mountain, came rushing for the vessel, and everyone on board prepared to meet his fate, but it broke on both sides of the steamer, leaving a gap through which she emerged in safety. For such a small boat she behaved wonderfully well. On Saturday morning the gale moderated, and on Sunday at 8 p. m. the "Premier" was off Bouin Island. No damage was sustained by the steamer, but Officer Hansen states that in all his thirty-two years' experience on the ocean he never saw such heavy weather. Many times during the progress of the gale it was expected the vessel would be engulfed.

A SHIP CAPTAIN'S HALLOUCINATION CAUSES HIM TO SHOOT HIMSELF AT SEA.

LONDON, March 8.—The British ship Regent, Captain Treatwell, which sailed from Calcutta, November 30 from New York, arrived at St. Helena, February 7, and reported to the authorities that some time before Captain Treatwell had locked himself in the cabin and discharged several shots from a revolver. The mate took charge of the ship and ran for St.
Helena and upon arrival there gave the report mentioned. The officials who boarded the ship broke in the door of the captain's cabin and found him lying insensible. An examination revealed the fact that he had four wounds in his body and head. Medical assistance was summoned and the captain afterwards regained consciousness. He stated that the crew of the Regent, headed by the chief mate, had mutinied and threatened to kill him. He believed it was his intention to fire the ship and then abandon her, leaving it with him on board to perish. Seeing them, as he supposed, setting fire to the vessel, he went into his cabin, locked the door and then tried to blow his brains out, preferring to meet death in this manner than to be burned with the ship. The captain's story was not believed and an examination was made as to his sanity. The physicians decided that he was insane and that he should be sent to his home in England in the care of a doctor. He and his medical attendant sailed on the steamer Dunbar Castle and arrived here to-day. The doctor extracted the bullets in the captain's head and body on the voyage. The Regent has been detained at St. Helena.

Undoubtedly a Wild Boy.

THE STRANGE ANIMAL SEEN ACCOMPANIED BY WOLVES RUNNING THROUGH THE BRUSH.

BENTON, Ark., March 8.—It has been reported among the farmers about seven miles north of this city for some time that a wild boy was living in the woods on the hills and that he had been seen by several people. The reports have been heard for three or four years and while it has been generally believed that the boy was there, no effort has ever been made to find him.

Last Saturday David Williams was coming to this city, and as he passed through a dense woods in the river bottom he saw three wolves running through the brush and with them was a strange animal which he could not see very well.
He thought it was very queer, and he tied his team and made a still hunt through the woods to see if he could get another glimpse of it.

He was successful and says that it was undoubtedly a boy of about fifteen or sixteen years. It was perfectly wild, and, while it occasionally got up on its feet, it ran on its hands and feet, and from what he could see it could get over the ground as fast as the wolves which it accompanied. It seemed to be familiar with the animals, and was evidently part of the band. The boy, of course, was perfectly naked, and showed from his actions that it was nothing but an animal.
Williams said he watched the boy and wolves for some time, and then he started from his hiding place and tried to get close to the group. The wolves and boy went through the brush with marvellous celerity, and he could not get near them.

The story has caused much interest here, and a concerted effort will be made to capture the boy and bring him back to civilization. It is believed that the boy must have been stolen when a baby by the wolves, and by some chance was nursed by a she wolf instead of becoming a dinner for the savage animals.

SEALS BY THE MILLION.

The Shores Around North Cape and Norway Invaded.

SUMMERSIDE, March 10.—[Special by Telephone]—Great excitement prevails at Cape North over the appearance of hundreds of thousands of seals, which made their appearance on Tuesday and the residents, on recovering from their astonishment, embraced the opportunity to enrich themselves. About 200 persons went out on the drift ice, about two miles from land, on Tuesday, and captured nearly 500. Yesterday over 200 were taken.

At Tignish the excitement is great, and all are anxious to become seal hunters.
Armed with all sorts of weapons, from the small revolver to a rifle, and with belt around the waist stuck full of knives of all kinds, from the Captain's broken sword to the bowie knife of the western desper-ado, quite a formidable crew left there yesterday morning for the scene and to join in extending a warm reception to the visitors. Capt. F. Gallant is in the lead.
It is nearly 30 years since seals appeared in this vicinity. Old sailors say the seals probably came down on whelting ice from Greenland, the mild weather having loosened the ice. The seals are worth $3 each.

Kensington Notes.

As you are already aware, we have been again getting another scorching.
The ruins are still smouldering where once stood the busy mart.

Our respected townman, Mr. Bentley who so fortunately escaped the destructive fire that swept our town two years ago, is now wiped out. We hope, however, that he will soon be to the front again. A little breeze has been caused by the reflections of your S'ide "reporter" on fire engine, etc.

So far as the writer could see, the engine did good work in keeping the fire confined to the one building—that being all that could be done, as the fire had made too much headway when seen to check its course in the store. The firemen responded promptly to the "call" and worked with a will until "Joe's" firm grasp of the hose made every stroke tell.

Our S'ide papers report the escapades of returned "Cowboys" around their town, but we hereby warn some of their young men who pay us occasional visits that if we have no "policemen" we have law and a reputation of their late conduct may show them up in a different light to what their friends would expect.

Business at present is dull owing to the very unfavorable state of the roads.

LETTERS TO EDITOR.

A Deadly Disease.

To The Editor of The Guardian.

Sir,—I notice by the mortuary statistics, published in your issue of to-day, that Protestantism is a more deadly disease in this city than Catholicism, there being five deaths among the former to four of the latter. To be an Englishman is running a great risk and to be an Irishman is not much better. African (whatever malady that is) appears to be the most harmless, it having only carried off one, while English knocked out five and Irish three. It is terrible to contemplate the deadly effects of Protestantism in the community.

But apart from the humorous side of the business, I would ask what is the earthly use of the religious classification of the deaths during the month? If the proper percentage were given, according to population, I might see the reason for it. How religion can affect the death of a person I am at a loss to understand.
But, perhaps, Mr. Editor, that is just where my understanding is at fault.

THURSDAY.

Charlottetown, March 10, 1892.

Deeply to be Regretted.

To The Editor of The Morning Guardian.

Sir,—It is to be regretted that a matter very trifling in itself should be used to injure any man either in his business or social standing. This is the case with "the tempest in the teapot" affair at Kensington.

Mr. John McNeill, a young man of estimable character, is represented as one who habitually keeps late hours. Now, this is not correct. Mr. McNeill is a gentleman who is most particular as to how he conducts himself. Who discovered the fire is a matter of little importance.

The reporter no doubt anxious to have the item read spicy, gave it a little additional touch, which raised the ire of one of our otherwise calm and cool-headed citizens. AROS.
