

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL STAFF BANQUET

The annual closing banquet for the staff of the Provincial Vocational School and their wives was held last night at the Central Royalty Hall, with Mr. J. M. Lee presiding. Feature guests for the occasion were the Deputy Minister of Education, Dr. L.W. Shaw and Mrs. Shaw.

In his remarks to the gathering Dr. Shaw said that he felt that progress at the school had been made in more ways than one, not that students were being taught any better but the atmosphere had changed and the building had the feeling more of a school and less of a workshop. He said new students entering the building could sense the co-operation and goodwill which fills the place. In closing he congratulated the Principal and the staff on the splendid work they were doing.

Above are the members of the staff and guests: front row, left to right, Isabel Allen, Mr. and Mrs. M.L. MacDonald, Dr. and Mrs. L.W. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. MacPhail, Doris Anderson, Middle row, Mrs. Ray Sudsbury, Mrs. Charles Hamm, Mrs. L. E. Tait, Miss Mary Macdonald, Mrs. Wilton Large, Mrs. Peter MacMillan, Mrs. E. W. Houston, Mrs. Layton Coffin, Layton Coffin, Back row, Milton Poole, Ray Sudsbury, Charles Hamm, Ernie Bradley, Cyril Lambourne, George Stewart, Percy Cameron, and George Olive.

Inspiring Address To P.W.C. Graduates

Following is the text of the address delivered to the graduates of Prince of Wales College yesterday by the Rt. Rev. J.A. Murphy, D.D., a former member of the College staff and former Rector of St. Dunstan's University:

A few weeks ago your Principal, Dr. MacKinnon, invited me to address the graduates at today's Convocation Exercises. My first reaction was to decline the honor and to do so as politely as I knew how. I felt that the privilege of addressing your graduates on this important day of your lives should be accorded to some profound thinker whose scholarship and whose knowledge of the current philosophies of life would fit him for that important task—and not for me.

However, a few days later, in conversation with your genial Principal, I was reminded that I was once a member of the Prince of Wales College staff and that it would be very fitting for the present day graduates to hear at least an echo from the somewhat dim and distant past. Being moved by the memory of my happy associations with the College, I thoughtlessly accepted and then thoughtfully repented. I wish, however, to thank Dr. MacKinnon for his kind invitation and I hope that I shall not fall too far short of his expectation.

MEMORABLE DAY
Forty-six years ago next September I became a member of the Prince of Wales College faculty with all the rights, privileges and emoluments belonging to that office. It was a big day in my life and one that I shall cherish among my fondest memories. As far as I can recall, the personnel of the staff consisted of eight members with one or two others doing part time work.

The Principal was the late Dr. Robertson whose fine scholarship, able leadership and definite convictions have left an indelible mark on this College which he loved and served so well. He is gone but the memory of his life still lingers in the halls and classrooms of this beautiful building which he and his consultants so wisely planned. The fine traditions, established by Dr. Robertson and his predecessors, have been well maintained by Dr. Steel—a co-laborer of mine for several years—and by your present Principal, Dr. MacKinnon.

It is true that in the early days the students did not have many distractions—perhaps not enough. There were no automobiles and certainly no hitch-hiking to spend a week end at home or with a friend. I can recall my first automobile ride. A Charlottetown student had been given permission by his father to give Dr. Steel and me a real outing. We decided on the Lower Malpeque road as our safest route and proceeded in the direction of the Queens Arms, our destination. The almost continuous honking of the horn forced all traffic into the lanes and by-roads. We actually returned to Charlottetown the same day without incident, without accident, happy and quite stilled.

In those days there were no radios, no television sets and the extra-curricular activities were very limited. I am not decrying the moderate and beneficial use of modern inventions but am merely pointing out that the student's life today presents problems that did not exist fifty years ago.

HIGH STANDARD
You who know Prince of Wales College realize that down through the years she has guarded jealously, in spite of present day environment, a high standard of excellence. There is nothing shoddy about the courses she offers. Courses are gladly accepted by the larger and more advanced institutions of learning throughout the Maritimes and elsewhere.

I mention that fact so that you may have a deeper appreciation of what Prince of Wales College and its faculty have done to prepare you for the important ceremony we have just witnessed. The command "onward", already given you when you received your diplomas today, brooks no further delay. I, therefore, extend to each of you my sincere congratulations as you go forward to begin another fascinating chapter of your life. I wish to include in my congratulations all winners of certificates in the various courses offered here, especially those of the Teacher Training Class whose future work is so vital to the Province at the present time and to the generations that come after us.

CLASS FRIENDSHIPS
You, graduates, realize today that henceforth your association with one another as a class has been broken. Though you will no longer meet as a class, you should hold fast the friendships formed and signal one another from time to time as you go your separate ways through life.

Your thoughts today revert to other friends whose friendship you have long ago stood the acid test. I refer to your good parents whose sacrifices, often heroic, have made this day possible. Their sacrifices extended over your years at the Prince of Wales College, your years in the public school and in the home school—the greatest school of all. And so today they rightly rejoice with you and are happy that they have won their part in helping you win the laurel of victory. What might well be applied to what I have just said: "When you drink at the fountain do not forget the spring". You, graduates, I am sure, will not forget your helpful association with one another in the debt of gratitude you owe to your parents and to that other parent, your beloved Alma Mater which today bids you God-speed.

What of the future? Many of you, no doubt, will go to University to continue your studies. That I heartily recommend. Will you, new graduates, in your new environment make a contribution to those with whom you may associate? Will you put first things first and, by the lives you live, lead others to a better world? The world of which you are the heirs is one of bitter strife and fear. We, the often acclaimed few peoples of the world, are faced today with a threat to the very basis of our civilization and to the very safety of the free world, the only kind of a world in which civilization can exist. CHRISTIAN HERITAGE
We of the western world are proud of our heritage—our Christian way of life. We see, and thank God that we do, much kindness, much courage, much charity. But we see also the same greed, selfishness and injustice that has gradually but relentlessly corrupted other civilizations, held inviolable as our own. We see a lowering of moral standards, a worship of the material and the consequent disregard of spiritual values. The evils are to some extent the effects of a growing secularism which we have allowed to invade big business, public affairs and even the field of education.

The late Sir E.W. Beatty, as Chancellor of McGill University, in an address to the undergraduates, paid well merited praise to the material and intellectual progress that had been made in our Western World. He tells them that he is a worldly man of business and that material and intellectual progress are as important today as they ever were but adds these significant words: "What we can tell you is where lay our single fault. We never failed in courage or in energy. We never lacked for skill. We stressed too the quality of body and mind. We gave too little thought to those spiritual values by which all human progress must be weighed."

OPPOSING IDEALS
The hierarchy of values in education must include the spiritual if we are to maintain our Christian way of life. As we try to pinpoint the cause of present day tensions we see two opposing ideas involving the nature of man already at war: and it is in the realm of ideas that real danger lies. One is pagan, the other is Christian. This clash of ideas arises from the false and the true conception of the nature of man. Is man merely a material thing, or is he a being possessing the dignity of a human personality? That is the basis of the conflict. Man has a body, and thus far he is also a material thing with all the limitations that belong to that state. But man has a soul that is capable of thinking and willing. It is precisely this ability to reason, to choose freely a course of action, that distinguishes man as a person, the image of God, a creature with an immortal soul and consequently an immortal destiny. If, as atheistic Communism teaches, man is only another material thing he may be treated as any other material thing is treated. He may be regimented, coerced, oppressed and even liquidated as is being done today. In such a world a man may with perfect logic be made a slave of the machine, of the state, or of other powerful men; for he is only a thing and has no rights of his own. In such a world freedom is an illusion, a word without meaning. In such a world the only law is compulsion and the only right is might.

GODLESS PHILOSOPHY
Does such a conception of the nature of man really exist today? The political results of that view are all too evident in Russia and her satellite countries—the brutal subjection of materially weaker states, government by secret police, the persecution of religious groups, fake trials, the extermination of opponents, the suppression of free thought and free speech in a word utter disregard of all human rights, and what we should particularly observe about such a situation is this; that disregard of human rights, and what we should and unavoidable if man is only a material thing for then he has no rights. Opposed to this pagan conception of man stands our Christian conception of man as a person, as a child of God made to His image and likeness. Only when seen in relation to God, his first beginning and last end, does man become fully human; for it is from God that he has his immortal soul and his human personality which are the only reasons for the dignity and rights which are his. If we accept this Christian view of the nature of man, we get the human, decent, livable world for which we are striving. But we must accept it with all its implications. Lip service is not enough. Ideas must be translated into action. We must accept it fully and without reservation; we must act upon it, we must live it. On this most fundamental of issues there can be no compromise, no accepting of that part of it which redounds to our special advantage, and convenient ignoring of that part which may not. We must be either Christians or pagans, free men or slaves.

A VITAL ISSUE
You graduates will, I am sure, always uphold the dignity of man in your own lives. I am merely stressing the point because I believe that if false conception of man's dignity has been the cause of endless conflicts in the past and the basic cause of present day tensions.

Continued on page 13

EASTERN GUARDIAN

DO IT NOW, place your order for a Tip Top suit, while their big sale is on. To ensure a perfect fitting garment have an expert tailor take your measure. MacLeod, the Tailor, at Murray River will give you perfect satisfaction.

FREE PANTS with every suit by Tip Top Tailors and Johnsons. Buy now. A. F. Campbell, Montague.

GRAND BINGO St. Andrews Hall, Mt. Stewart, Monday, May 22nd, 8 p.m. Two special prizes jackpot $30.00. Door prize.

SERVICE BOXER—Sanna, Ron Diamond of the First Air Borne Division at Kingston, has left to return to his base, following a seven day leave at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Roland Diamond. Ron brought with him the two cups he won for his recent championship boxing bouts of the Central Ontario and Eastern Ontario Commands.

THE PRESBYTERIAN Church in Canada, Sunday services Sunday, May 27th: Montague, "Sacrament of the Lord's Supper" will be administered at 11 a.m.; Cardigan, divine worship 2:30 p.m.; Montague evening service—the W.M.S. thank offering service, special singing by the Brooklyn Trio at 7:30; Sunday School 10 a.m. A cordial welcome to all. Rev. D. A. Campbell.

REVISITING CARDIGAN—Dr. M.B. Docherty, formerly of Cardigan, pathologist at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minnesota, has arrived in the Province on a brief visit to his mother, Mrs. John Docherty, Cardigan. Dr. Docherty is an outstanding figure in the field of surgical pathology, and is widely known in Canada and the United States. He is remaining in the Province for ten days.

GEORGETOWN
A recent baptism held in St. James Roman Catholic Church was that of Annette Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rafuse. Rev. O. Kiggins officiated and the sponsors were: Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fitzgerald.

Mr. Emerson Llewellyn, crew member of Dominion Government Dredge, Pownall No. 2, was a weekend visitor to his home in Georgetown.

Mrs. Paul MacLean, who is employed in the city was the weekend guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter MacLean.

Miss Mary Hemphill and Miss Susan Hemphill, Montague, spent the past weekend at their home in Georgetown.

Friends of Mr. Lester Lavers are sorry to hear of his illness and all wish him an early return to good health.

FOR SALE
At Clearance Prices
OLIVER TRACTORS
—Also—
NEW IDEA MANURE SPREADERS
See us for the best deal.
McGOWANS LTD.
Kilmuir

FOR SALE
1954 Dodge Suburban
Regent. Bargain for quick sale. In first class condition Also 1947 Mercury, a bargain.
BROOKVIEW SERVICE STATION
Montague

OUTSTANDING VALUES
For Outstanding Values in USED CARS, TRUCK and TRACTORS
Contact—
McGOWAN MOTORS LTD.
Montague.

Hike in Living Costs Boosts Pay For Million U.S. Workers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Another slight increase in United States living costs was reported by the government Thursday. It means a one-cent-an-hour pay boost for a million factory workers.

The wage increase is required under living cost provisions in labor union contracts in the auto, aircraft and farm equipment industries.

The labor department's consumer price index rose 0.2 per cent in April to 114.9 per cent of the 1947-49 average—meaning it now costs about $1.15 to buy what $1 would buy in the three-year base period.

It was the second fractional increase in two months. An expected seasonal rise in grocery prices, amounting to 0.6 per cent, accounted for the April uptick. Other consumer items were steady although housing, medical, and recreation costs edged upward. Clothing prices remained the same, and transportation costs dropped a bit.

Ewen Clague, labor statistics commissioner, hinted at a further living cost uptick during the summer, saying there is no sign of any decline. He forecast gradually increasing food costs during the summer months but possibly further price cuts for automobiles and household appliances.

HIGHEST THIS YEAR
Mr. Clague was asked whether he expects living costs to set a record and create a political issue before the November presidential election. He said an increase of that size in so short a time would be "quite remarkable." The present record is 115.4 per cent of the 1947-49 average, set in October 1953.

This April's living cost level was the highest thus far this year and 0.6 per cent above April last year. Food costs, while rising, still are 1.4 per cent below last year.

Factory worker take-home pay rose to an April record although it was somewhat lower than in March because of fewer working hours.

The department estimated weekly take-home pay, or earnings less tax deductions, for the single factory worker at $64.61 and for the worker with three dependents at $71.94. This was a gain of about $2.10 a week, or 4 per cent, over April 1955.

The Principal was the late Dr. Robertson whose fine scholarship, able leadership and definite convictions have left an indelible mark on this College which he loved and served so well. He is gone but the memory of his life still lingers in the halls and classrooms of this beautiful building which he and his consultants so wisely planned. The fine traditions, established by Dr. Robertson and his predecessors, have been well maintained by Dr. Steel—a co-laborer of mine for several years—and by your present Principal, Dr. MacKinnon.

It is true that in the early days the students did not have many distractions—perhaps not enough. There were no automobiles and certainly no hitch-hiking to spend a week end at home or with a friend. I can recall my first automobile ride. A Charlottetown student had been given permission by his father to give Dr. Steel and me a real outing. We decided on the Lower Malpeque road as our safest route and proceeded in the direction of the Queens Arms, our destination. The almost continuous honking of the horn forced all traffic into the lanes and by-roads. We actually returned to Charlottetown the same day without incident, without accident, happy and quite stilled.

In those days there were no radios, no television sets and the extra-curricular activities were very limited. I am not decrying the moderate and beneficial use of modern inventions but am merely pointing out that the student's life today presents problems that did not exist fifty years ago.

What of the future? Many of you, no doubt, will go to University to continue your studies. That I heartily recommend. Will you, new graduates, in your new environment make a contribution to those with whom you may associate? Will you put first things first and, by the lives you live, lead others to a better world? The world of which you are the heirs is one of bitter strife and fear. We, the often acclaimed few peoples of the world, are faced today with a threat to the very basis of our civilization and to the very safety of the free world, the only kind of a world in which civilization can exist.

We of the western world are proud of our heritage—our Christian way of life. We see, and thank God that we do, much kindness, much courage, much charity. But we see also the same greed, selfishness and injustice that has gradually but relentlessly corrupted other civilizations, held inviolable as our own. We see a lowering of moral standards, a worship of the material and the consequent disregard of spiritual values. The evils are to some extent the effects of a growing secularism which we have allowed to invade big business, public affairs and even the field of education.

The late Sir E.W. Beatty, as Chancellor of McGill University, in an address to the undergraduates, paid well merited praise to the material and intellectual progress that had been made in our Western World. He tells them that he is a worldly man of business and that material and intellectual progress are as important today as they ever were but adds these significant words: "What we can tell you is where lay our single fault. We never failed in courage or in energy. We never lacked for skill. We stressed too the quality of body and mind. We gave too little thought to those spiritual values by which all human progress must be weighed."

OPPOSING IDEALS
The hierarchy of values in education must include the spiritual if we are to maintain our Christian way of life. As we try to pinpoint the cause of present day tensions we see two opposing ideas involving the nature of man already at war: and it is in the realm of ideas that real danger lies. One is pagan, the other is Christian. This clash of ideas arises from the false and the true conception of the nature of man. Is man merely a material thing, or is he a being possessing the dignity of a human personality? That is the basis of the conflict. Man has a body, and thus far he is also a material thing with all the limitations that belong to that state. But man has a soul that is capable of thinking and willing. It is precisely this ability to reason, to choose freely a course of action, that distinguishes man as a person, the image of God, a creature with an immortal soul and consequently an immortal destiny. If, as atheistic Communism teaches, man is only another material thing he may be treated as any other material thing is treated. He may be regimented, coerced, oppressed and even liquidated as is being done today. In such a world a man may with perfect logic be made a slave of the machine, of the state, or of other powerful men; for he is only a thing and has no rights of his own. In such a world freedom is an illusion, a word without meaning. In such a world the only law is compulsion and the only right is might.

GODLESS PHILOSOPHY
Does such a conception of the nature of man really exist today? The political results of that view are all too evident in Russia and her satellite countries—the brutal subjection of materially weaker states, government by secret police, the persecution of religious groups, fake trials, the extermination of opponents, the suppression of free thought and free speech in a word utter disregard of all human rights, and what we should particularly observe about such a situation is this; that disregard of human rights, and what we should and unavoidable if man is only a material thing for then he has no rights. Opposed to this pagan conception of man stands our Christian conception of man as a person, as a child of God made to His image and likeness. Only when seen in relation to God, his first beginning and last end, does man become fully human; for it is from God that he has his immortal soul and his human personality which are the only reasons for the dignity and rights which are his. If we accept this Christian view of the nature of man, we get the human, decent, livable world for which we are striving. But we must accept it with all its implications. Lip service is not enough. Ideas must be translated into action. We must accept it fully and without reservation; we must act upon it, we must live it. On this most fundamental of issues there can be no compromise, no accepting of that part of it which redounds to our special advantage, and convenient ignoring of that part which may not. We must be either Christians or pagans, free men or slaves.

A VITAL ISSUE
You graduates will, I am sure, always uphold the dignity of man in your own lives. I am merely stressing the point because I believe that if false conception of man's dignity has been the cause of endless conflicts in the past and the basic cause of present day tensions.

Continued on page 13

Personals

Miss Carol Ann Gallant spent the holiday week-end in Morell, guest of her grandmother.

Staff Sgt. and Mrs. H. C. Moody of the U.S.A.F. Dover Fane-Craft, Maine, U.S.A., motored to Morell to visit the latter's mother, Mrs. Amy E. Geldert. Mrs. Moody will remain for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Coffin and family, Boyd Morley and Laurie Lee of Springhill, N.S. were weekend guests of Mr. Coffin's mother Mrs. L.H. Coffin, Montague.

Mr. Walter Morton, Saint John, N.B. was a weekend visitor to Montague. Before being transferred to Saint John, Mr. Morton was on the staff of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Montague.

Mr. Nelson Shaw and Mr. Clayton Rennie, Montague, spent the weekend with friends in Halifax, N.S.

Mrs. John Dewis, and sons Douglas and Sinclair of Halifax, N.S. were weekend guests of Mrs. Dewis' mother Mrs. L.H. Coffin, Montague.

LAC Gordon and Mrs. Buchanan and three children of the R.C. MacDonald Upper side, Montague, A.F. Station Summerside spent a few days visiting Mrs. Buchanan's parents Mr. and Mrs. Dan They were accompanied back by Mrs. Buchanan's grand aunt Miss Katie MacDonald, who expects to spend two weeks visiting friends and relatives in Summerside.

Passing Of
Georgetown Man
The death occurred at his home in Georgetown, on Saturday, May 19th, of James MacSwain in his 68th year, following an illness of only a few days.

The deceased for many years had been employed as a fireman and watchman by the Dominion Government at the Potato Warehouse here. For several years he was foreman at the lobster packers plant of Redmond Export Ltd. and at the time of his death was employed by William S. Martell, Lobster Packers.

He is survived by his widow and two sons, Arthur and Clarence; and one daughter, Phyllis. Mrs. James MacKearney, all of Georgetown.

The funeral was held on Tuesday May 22nd, from St. James Roman Catholic Church, with Rev. O. Kiggins celebrating Requiem High Mass.

The pallbearers were: Messrs. Walter MacLean, J. W. Lavers, Michael Burke, Jr., Chester Walker, William Burke, Jr., and Guy Hemphill. Interment was in St. James Church Cemetery.

CAPITOL — TODAY ONLY

Exciting new horizon of entertainment... Walt Disney's... THE VANISHING PRAIRIE... SHOWS 1-3-5-7-9... REGULAR PRICES

MON. -- TUES. -- WED. HOW WONDERFUL CAN A MUSICAL BE?

On the wonderful wings of those Cole Porter songs, you'll soar right out of this world! All through your life you'll remember the way Bing sings "All Through The Night"—How Donald O'Connor bounces through "You Can Bounce Right Back"! What a kick you'll get out of Jeanmaire singing "I Get A Kick Out Of You"... and Mitzi Gaynor pouring everything she's got into "Anything Goes"! It's your most impossible dreams of a musical come true!

When these shining stars sing and dance to Cole Porter's wonderful melodies...

PRICES FOR THIS ENGAGEMENT: Matinee: Child 25c; Adult 50c; Evening 75c

NORTH RIVER Drive-In Theatre

BOX OFFICE OPEN 7:30 — SHOW AT DUSK TONIGHT and MONDAY YOU'LL NEVER FORGET — the fight in Capetown — the flight South... the kiss on deck — the rendezvous in the cabin... the raging fury of the Polar storm... the whale-hunt turned man-hunt... the titanic struggles of the giant beasts of the sea... the killer-ship exploding in a fountain of flame... Ladd and his woman marooned on the ice floes... the fearsome axe battle... the cry of "Man Overboard!" at 50' below!

ALAN LADD HELL BELOW ZERO IN HIS TOP ADVENTURE... COMEDY CARTOON... FIRST RUN HIT!

SUNDAY MIDNIGHT BOX OFFICE OPENS AT 12:05 A.M. SHE GOT WHAT SHE ASKED FOR... You'll want to lean out of your seat—and KISS HER! You'll want to reach out to the screen—and CHOKE HER! You'll want to sit back and thank heaven—YOU NEVER MET A GIRL LIKE

COMING! Vicki CRAIN PETERS

L. V. POWER

Monuments and Inscriptions. MONTAGUE, P.E.I. Phone 141 Representative, Reginald J. McDonald, 86 McGill Avenue, Charlottetown. Phone 8109

FIRE AND AUTO

INSURANCE G. ARNOLD WIGHTMAN MONTAGUE Hume Bldg. - Phone 136

IN STOCK —

CEMENT BLOCKS All Sizes. Also 4 inch Field Tile, in Foot Lengths. DICK MacLEAN Phone 128 Montague

THE WEATHERALL ALUMINUM CO.

ANNOUNCE THE OPENING OF AN ALUMINUM DOOR AND WINDOW SALES OFFICE AND ASSEMBLY PLANT IN CHARLOTTETOWN

Located at 125 Kent St. (Next Simpson-Sears) DIAL 6725

— OF SPECIAL INTEREST TO — * BUILDERS * CONTRACTORS * HOME OWNERS * INSTITUTIONS * BUSINESS MEN

The Weatherall Aluminum Co., owned and operated by Keith Bryenton and Arthur Fleiger of Charlottetown are now ready and fully equipped to assemble, sell and provide service for aluminum doors and windows.

We handle Season-aire triple track windows which have been carefully designed and engineered to provide outstanding service as well as to attract the eye with their beauty. These windows have been proven to be the leaders in their field. There is no better window at any price.

The modern aluminum door design, which we handle, is known as the "Big Inch". It has adjustable serrated channels for positive fitting. Practical, distinctive and convenient it is the perfect finishing touch for your home.

We also handle Shieldall All Aluminum permanent awnings whose rolled fire-baked enamel assures permanent colors and whose vented design gives maximum circulation. These awnings are so decidedly superior there can be no second choice.

For practical, distinctive and economical door and window service visit our sales office or phone us at 6725. We will be happy to discuss your particular problem. Our service is guaranteed, we give free estimates and we have prompt delivery. And remember our service department is ready to serve you at any time.

* FREE ESTIMATES * GUARANTEED SERVICE * IMMEDIATE DELIVERY

Mayfair Theatre

MURRAY RIVER, May 26th SATURDAY ONLY 2 SHOWS — 8 & 10 P.M.

"THREE YOUNG TEXANS" Western — Color Starring: MITZI GAYNOR, KEEFE BRASSELE, JEFFREY HUNTER. "The Magnificent Bergman Returns To The Screen". "A Great Combination Ingrid Bergman And Roberto Rossellini". Bergman Stands For Beautiful.

— COMING — MAY 28th & 29th — 8:30 P.M. MONDAY & TUESDAY "CARMEN JONES" (Dramatic Musical) Color and CinemaScope

Starring: P. BAILEY - D. DANDRIDGE "Carmen Was Loved By All Until The Right Man Came Along And She Made Him Wrong". Hah - - - Hah - - - Hah - - - "Carmen Jones". "Another Outstanding Presentation In Color And CinemaScope".

YEO THEATRE MONTAGUE

Fri - Sat May 25 - 26 Adm. 40-55 Inc. Prov. Gov. A. Tax

"VERA CRUZ"

Color — Superscope Gary Cooper - Burt Lancaster - Denise Darcel Caesar Romero. Story—Two fisted cunning and violence—see fight for freedom—suspense and action—one ill-mannered desperado, other southern gentlemen—struggle for possession of gold—smuggling out of country—Do they escape? What is the secret? Also cartoon and latest news.