THE DAILY EXAMINER.

AUGUST 4, 1884.

Astride the Fence.

A most singular spectacle is now presented to the electors of Queen's County. Mr. Welsh comes out as an "independent" candidate and is championed by Mr. L. H. Davies, the Clear Grit Member for the County. How these worthy gentlemen must laugh in their sleeves at the Conservatives they think they are beguiling by this "independent dodge!"

Mr. Davies and the Fishery Award.

MR. DAVIES is singularly unfortunate in making reference during this canvass to his Parliamentary action with respect to the Fishery Award. His cry at the last election was: "Parliament has not yet been divided on the distinctive claim of P. E. Island." Well, he has sat in Parliament during two sessions, and Parliament has not yet been divided on it.

Editorial Notes.

—The question of the day: "What's to be gained by electing the Opposition-Independent candidate?"

—The meetings held so far afford evidence of a strong Liberal-Conservative feeling in Queen's County.

—The presidential campaign in the United States grows more interesting as the season advances. There are numbers of the Republican party who will not support Blaine, and who will vote for Cleveland, if that is the most direct method of defeating Blaine.

—Those who have been clamoring against the rapid construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway will do well to take note of the following fact stated by the Winnipeg Times:—"Arrangements have been made for a large supply of Saskatchewan coal of a superior quality, which will be delivered to Winnipeg consumers at the low rate of $7.50 per ton. And if lower freight rates than at present granted are obtained the price will be still further reduced."

—A great many objections are urged to a "Federation of the Empire," but it is admitted on all hands that a Commercial Union or Zollverein is quite practicable and would be materially beneficial to the Mother Country and the Colonies.

—The Patriot says:—

We must remember the language of the Examiner, which plainly indicates that Dr. Jenkins is not the choice of the people, as the convention which chose him had not received instructions for the occasion from the people, which the members of that convention pretended to represent."

This is untrue. THE EXAMINER never said anything of the kind. What THE EXAMINER said was:

"It would, perhaps, have been more satisfactory had the delegates at the Convention formally received their instructions from the occasion direct from the people. But the time is short; and they are men who have the means of knowing well the political feeling of the respective districts in which they live, who were trusted by the people to go on a similar mission two years ago, and who still, undoubtedly, retain the confidence of the party. In their decisions, therefore, Liberal-Conservatives throughout the County will cheerfully acquiesce."

The Patriot had better stick to the truth. The New York Maritime Register of the 30th ult., says "Shipping men feel more encouraged. The freight market is a little stronger and people are taking on fresh courage in the full belief of better business coming soon."

The new Cuban export duties on sugar are 60 per cent. less than those formerly in force.

The Meeting at Fort Augustus.

The meeting at Fort Augustus, on Saturday afternoon, was a good large one, about 150 electors being present.

It was, like the meeting at Mount Stewart, strongly Liberal-Conservative.

The candidates made brief speeches. Mr. Davies followed, showing how little he knew about recent political history.

He spoke for about an hour and a quarter, appealing to the passions and prejudices which he supposed the people of Fort Augustus possess, and overlooking their judgment altogether.

Hon. Mr. Ferguson showed better judgment, and a better knowledge of the men with whom he was dealing, by bringing forward facts and figures in support of his argument on behalf of the Government of Canada.

He made a decidedly favorable impression.

Short speeches were afterwards delivered by Henry Beer, Esq., and others.

Good order was maintained.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

An Elector Speaks

SIR,—There is disunion and disorganization in the Grit ranks; and to divert attention, the Patriot endeavors to represent the Liberal-Conservatives as similarly situated. The Grit Convention was not by any means a representative one, and the members in attendance were not chosen at meetings held throughout the county; they simply attended on their own responsibility. The invitations issued at the instigation of Mr. Davies. It is rather strange that the name of Laird is severely excluded in connection with the present election, and that the leaders of one of the Grit factions should be so ostracized. The friends of Hon. David Laird know that he was betrayed by his colleague at the general election, as the difference in the oath pulled by the Reform candidate clearly indicates, and now insult has been added to injury by wilfully neglecting to give them a voice in the councils of the party they so long upheld.

Mr. Davies occupies a very unenviable position. Placed by a free vote in a position he should never have occupied, he was forced to run a candidate or lose his standing with his Grit friends at Ottawa; and knowing full well that the defection or apathy of the Lairds and their followers will bring worse than ignominious defeat to his cause, he has, nevertheless, wire-pulled the nomination of a man who makes no secret of the contempt he entertains for the greater portion of the party that was forced to run him and whose interests he now upholds.

Personally Mr. Welsh may be well enough; but certain it is, that neither nature nor training designed him for a statesman. The man himself admits that his tastes do not tend that way, and after the 19th he will no doubt be left to pursue the occupation most congenial to his soul, and muse upon the folly of allowing himself to be made a tool of to suit the purposes of others more crafty than he. That he is unfitted to represent this County in the Commons is well known to those who remember him as the member for Belfast. He cannot point to one act of his that benefitted or tended to benefit in any way the district he pretended to represent. It is certainly true, when the clouds of ruin and disgrace hung loweringly over the ill-fated Davies administration, he made matters more precarious by resigning and resuming his seat several times before he took the final plunge and left them in the mire alone. It is, therefore, not at all surprising that he should wish to run independent, for his connection with the Grits brought no credit to them, to himself, or to the men who elected him. By savily upholding him now, after his outspoking contempt of themselves and their policy, the Reform leaders exhibit the inherent meanness and want of pluck that underlie their blatant political clatter. Mr. Welsh's former constituents remember well his many blustering promises which were never performed, and do not purpose electing a man that does not rightly know to which side he rightly belongs, and who, while acting as their representative, made a practice of resigning his seat on every Saturday night. They want a man of more energy and stability of purpose, and the electors of Lot 50 especially, whom he says he can compel to vote for him, are longing to prove that they are more independent than himself.

Dr. Jenkins' nomination was received with enthusiasm by the people at large. They know that he has ability, energy and indomitable perseverance—qualities that will enable him to represent them faithfully and well. He has nothing to fear, as people are no longer to be gulled by the insidious promises and smoothly recited speeches of Mr. L. H. Davies, the purple endeavors of Mr. Henry Beer and Mr. Donald Farquharson, or Mr. Welsh's blustering, bullying canvass. The County is being put to the turmoil and expense of holding an election to gratify Mr. Welsh's ill-timed ambition and to carry out the schemes of a hopeless minority when it would be madness to return a man who would not support the party in power, and when the voice of the County from St. Peter's to West River, and from New London to Bulle Creek, is for Jenkins, and Jenkins only.

The following statement, which is supplied by the Quebec Chronicle and is readily verified by reference to the Reports of the Postmaster General, shows the total amount, inclusive of interest, remaining at the credit of depositors in the Post Office Savings Bank of Canada since it opened, in 1868, down to June 30th, 1884.

War Inevitable.

CHINA REFUSES TO PAY FRANCE THE INDEMNITY DEMANDED—CONFLICT IMMINENT.

The London Times has a despatch from Foo Chow, China, dated July 31st, which says that China has refused to pay the indemnity demanded by France. The time granted to China by France to decide upon the matter has been prolonged beyond the first of August. A secret edict has been issued ordering the Chinese not to molest foreigners. French civilians and mandarins, however, assert that the lives of foreigners are not safe. The English flag-ship is landing sailors to act in defence of foreigners. In Foo Chow a China merchant fleet has been sold to an American firm for nearly $7,300,000.

A despatch, August 1st, from Foo Chow asserts that the general impression in that city is that war is inevitable. Both natives and foreigners are leaving the city. Marines have landed from the British corvette Champion, an assisted by the gunboat Merlin are guarding the foreign settlement. Foreigners are arming for defence, women are leaving the city, and the French Consul is preparing to go aboard a gunboat.

Among the distinguished visitors whom the meeting of the British Association has brought to Canada is Captain Bedford Pim, R. N., F. R. G. S., and formerly a representative of Gravesend in the British House of Commons. Captain Pim, upon his arrival in Montreal, was interviewed by a Gazette reporter, and gave his opinion very freely on several questions, among others that of the Canadian Fiscal Policy. We give his views as illustrating the spirit of one of Free Trade England's distinguished citizens:—"The Americans and Canadians, he continued, were decidedly capable of managing their own affairs, and did manage them in some respects better even than the mother country. This was especially so in the question of Free Trade and Protection. In England they were Free Traders, but in this country they were Protectionists, and there was no doubt about it the proper thing for a country to do was to protect her native industries first, as had been wisely and well done in Canada. He was strongly opposed to the one-sided Free Trade that they had in England, and he believed it was mostly owing to this same Free Trade that there was such a strong organization of foreigners to compete against them in their own manufactures."
