

's Men's Sale Successful

SUMMERSIDE — The sale of Christmas trees by the Summerside Y's Men has met with such success that a further quantity of trees has been ordered. George Key reported to the members of the club at their weekly meeting last evening.

The Y's Men's tree sale was officially opened Thursday morning by Mayor W.A. Currie, who purchased the first tree.

Mr. Key also reported that there will be a limit to the number of trees which will be available next week.

Richard Hinton reported that the sale of life savers will be conducted in the town this Saturday by the Hi-Y clubs. The Y's men will also help in the sale, which will continue into next week.

During the meeting Christmas cards were prepared for sending to former members now living outside the province.

A film on TCA concluded the meeting. Finestmaster was Charles Ballam.

Church Marks 76th Birthday

MONTAGUE — The Murray Harbor North Presbyterian Church celebrated its 76th anniversary with services Sunday, Dec. 6.

Rev. Ralph E. MacKenzie of Wood Islands was guest speaker at the morning service and the Murray River Trio under the direction of organist Mrs. Fred Johnston sang two numbers.

Rev. M. Carl Currie conducted the evening service. The combined Murray Harbour North and Peter's Road choirs led the service of praise.

Mrs. Harold MacSwain and Mrs. Harry MacLeod sang a duet while Mrs. Carl Currie was heard in a solo. The Rev. and Mrs. Currie also sang a duet. Mrs. Annie Kennedy was organist for both services.

An evening of fellowship was held after the evening service.

Course Held At Tignish

TIGNISH — A short course on feeds and feeding was held in the auditorium of the Dalton School Wednesday afternoon and evening sponsored by the P.E.I. Department of Agriculture.

Rev. Floyd McLaughlin acted as chairman. Alan Palmer, Prince County agriculture representative, opened the course.

John Chandler, agronomist, spoke on growing suitable crops and varieties of grain and grasses. James Nicholson discussed the requirements of a ration and suitable rations for cattle and sheep.

Light For A Dark World

Christmas is not only a season of friendliness and joy; it is a festival of light. Soon our towns and cities, our homes and churches will be lighted as at no other time, thereby heralding the One who is the "Light of the World." As St. John put it, "In him was life; and the life was the light of men." In the coming days as we pay special homage to the Son—we miss the point of His coming if we become lost in the mere "trimmings" of Christmas.

When the poet Goethe was dying, he cried, "Light, light, more light!" Christ is the answer to Goethe's cry, and all who walk in darkness. For more than a century and a half it has been the purpose of the Bible Society to bring the light of God's Word to all who walk in darkness... giving them the Scriptures in their own language or dialect. This great work continues with the help of Christian people everywhere and we in Prince Edward Island also share as we make purchases at The Bible House, the profits of which are used for the distribution of the Word.

At this time will be found a varied assortment of Bibles, books, and religious novelties, etc.—most appropriate as "gifts with meaning!"

rations was given by Allan Palmer, David Rogers, agronomist, spoke on pasture management.

Two contests consisting of identifying samples of feeds and seeds were greatly enjoyed. A number of suitable films were shown and the large number present agreed that the course was very instructive and enjoyed by all.

INCOME TAX EVASION
KANSAS CITY (AP) — An indictment charging income tax evasion was returned Thursday against Clyde J. (Red) Foley, well known "country music" singer, by a federal grand jury. The 49-year-old Foley was charged in a two-count indictment with evading more than $28,000 in taxes for 1954 and 1955.

Eskimo Women Encouraged To Use Sewing Skill For Pay

OTTAWA (CP) — The Eskimo housewife, who for centuries has literally sewed for her family's lives, is being encouraged to do it commercially.

Stitches designed to keep the Eskimo cozy in bitter temperatures are earning dollars now and northern affairs department officials say demand is "very very great."

Parkas, mukluks — or boots—purses, stoles and mittens are being produced in fur at one centre and cloth parkas in another. Production elsewhere will be encouraged on the basis of a market research survey, it was disclosed Thursday by chief Don Snowden of the industrial development division.

Eskimo co-operatives, borrowing from a special loan fund of $150,000 established several years ago, are expected to enter the seamstress business, adding another commodity to the carvings, furs, blueberries, arctic char and tourism already being marketed. But the sewing machine is taking the place of more primitive methods, once restricted to a bone needle, thread of animal sinew and the furs of muskrat, fox, caribou, seal and walrus.

AKLAVIK CENTRE
 The biggest "factory" right now is at Aklavik in the muskrat-marshy delta of the Mackenzie river where department officials imported two sewing machines a year ago in a vocational training project.

Using designs suggested by Edmonton furrier Ernest Latour, Eskimo woman began turning out light, warm coats, parkas and other items and a big backlog of orders has been built up. A parka may sell for $150 and a white fox stole for $125.

Cape Dorset, on the western end of Baffin Island in the eastern Arctic, is the other production centre, and has done several hundred parkas in grenfell or duffel cloth. They haven't any muskrats. Caribou skin, even if the once-teeming herds still existed, sheds far too readily for southern tastes.
