INTERESTING NEWS NOTES SELECTED FOR THE EXAMINER.

Several lives have been lost in the Mississippi floods.

A messenger boy was knocked down and robbed of $3,500 in a Chicago street a few days ago.

Michael Davitt, M. P., arrived in New York last week. He says his mission is a private one.

Five ranchmen from Mitchell's Bottoms, Western Nebraska, perished in a blizzard while attempting to drive to Cheyenne. It is feared that many others have perished.

Noah Raby, an inmate of the poor farm of Piscataway Township, N. J., celebrated his 125th birthday a few days ago. He has been smoking and drinking since childhood.

Rev. Daniel C. Potter, of New York, is being sued for absolute divorce. The principal co-respondent is Julia Ross, superintendent of a young woman's mission and bible class.

Still they come. Messrs. J. B. Noxon, of Toronto, D. A. Lafortune, of Montreal, and O. K. Fraser, of Brockville, have been appointed a commission to investigate St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary.

Cremation is making progress in Great Britain. Facilities for incineration have now been provided at Manchester and Glasgow, as well as at Woking, and every year the number of bodies disposed of by it at process is increasing.

Trouble has arisen between the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific railways, owing to the new tariff of passenger rates to the Kootenay district issued by the Grand Trunk, and a rate war is threatened.

The four-year old son of John Phillips, of Wentworth, N. S., was burned to death one day last week. Mr. Phillips went out to feed his cattle, and during his absence the little fellow in some way set fire to his clothing. He only lived a few minutes.

Word comes from Madrid that the government has cabled Captain General Weyler, instructing him to introduce into the administration of affairs in Cuba the reforms which the cabinet recently agreed to institute in that island. The Epeca, a semi-official organ, says that negotiations for the restoration of peace in Cuba are in progress, with every prospect of successful conclusion.

The London Globe publishes a despatch from Shanghai stating that a serious riot occurred there owing to the action of the foreign consuls in increasing the head tax upon barrow coolies. British, Russian and United States warships at Shanghai landed detachments of marines and blue-jackets to quell the disturbances. European volunteers were put under arms, in which state they are kept. Several rioters and a number of foreigners were killed during the rioting. The French consul refused to co-operate with other foreign representatives in restoring order.

Juan N. Contreras, the noted astronomer and earthquake prophet, has made the following prognostic on: Earthquakes will occur during the first two weeks of April in the zone comprising Vera Cruz and Mexico and in Oaxaca, Guerrero and Colima on April 10. Heavy waters will blow at Vera Cruz and Tampico from the fifth to the seventh with the possibility of rain from the 12th to the 14th. Earthquakes are announced for the second half of April with heavy gales and rains along the gulf coast.

COMPLAINT AT SAVAGE HARBOR.

The New Settlement Road that was to be opened to the public on the first of May, 1897, is yet to be sold. From the south side of the bridge, that is across the pond to the old road, nothing has been done to it, with the exception of a few loads of stone dumped in the mud hole last fall by the Supervisor. The bridge across the pond will be open to travel on the first of May. It is to be hoped the Government will see that there is some kind of a transfer to connect the people from the south side of the bridge across the mud hole and ditches to the public road and save expense, as the people cannot be shut out from the public road. Come, Mr. Premier, shake up your officials and head them to duty as in duty bound. We see another election in sight.

Mr. McCarthy—John, how do you like this appeal to Rome?
Mr. Charlton—I like it well.
Mr. McCarthy—You did not care for it in the Jesuit case.
Mr. Charlton—Ah, but it was a different Pope.
Mr. McCarthy—Not at all; same Pope; same case over again.
Mr. Charlton—Well, there's something different; it is a different Government at Ottawa, anyway.—Mail and Empire.

FOR WALL PAPER

ECHOES FROM THE LOBSTER FACTORIES.

There is quite a boom in the lobster business this spring. Probably because farming is getting to be such a poor business is the reason so many are into the lobster fishing.

At East Point there are three packing factories inside a mile's distance besides three boiling places. Murphy's factory is in operation as is also Leslies Bros. factory and Morrow's, with several smaller factories besides these larger ones. It is difficult to see where the fishermen are to find room to set their traps.

At North Lake McLean's big factory is being made ready, and a little further east is a boiling place. At Campbell's Cove a mile or two further west, are the two large factories of Carlton & Sons and Morrow & Co., and another new factory is being put up this spring by Sterns & Co. All these factories are bunched together.

Two miles west, at Bayfield, Messrs. Matthew & McLean's factory is being got ready. This is an extensive factory. A mile west at Rock Barra is another factory owned and operated by Angus B. McDonald and Messrs. McDonald & McEachern. This factory employs four boats. Two miles west at Black Bush, Mr. Herman McDonald's factory, recently operated by Leslie Bros., will be operated by Messrs. McDonald & McEachern this spring as last.

Further west is Messrs. McDonald & McEachern's big central packing factory. This factory puts up an average of 1000 cases a year. Two miles west along the North Side at Hay River, are two new factories going up along side each other. One by Messrs. McRae & Hazard and the other by Mitchell & Co.

At Bay River, a mile further west is a factory owned by McDonald & McEachern and in every mile from that west to St. Peters there is a lobster factory. This is certainly a great industry and forms a basis for capitalists to invest money early in the season. It enables many a farmer along the north side to put in a good crop. It furnishes a large amount of the very best fertilizer for farm crops, and as it furnishes the very earliest investment for money makes a stir in the usually dull months of April and May. Success to the fisheries.

APRIL MAGAZINES.
Canadian Magazine.—An Easter Number.

A special cover, a colored frontispiece, and an increased number of illustrations distinguish the Easter number of "The Canadian Magazine." Midge Merton contributes an Easter story; and Mrs. Crawford, the famous Paris correspondent of the London News, writes of the peculiar customs in connection with Easter in Paris. Both these contributions are illustrated. Besides these there are five other complete stories, three of which are illustrated. A most attractive article is the one on Nansen, by Fritz Hope, which is embellished with ten very fine illustrations. Donald McCaig writes of Alexander McLachlan, the deceased Canadian poet; W. Tobin, Deputy Surgeon-General, gives a plan for reorganization of "The Militia Medical Service"; S. J. McLean writes "Social Amelioration and the University Settlement"; G. E. McCraney writes of the proposed Victoria Day as a permanent holiday on the 24th of May; Dr. Ferguson gives some information concerning the Indian plague; David Christie Murray tells some interesting things about Kipling; while Herbert H. Gowen describes very a curately a botanical trip up one of the most important mountains of British Columbia. The March Review of Reviews says: "I really must congratulate our Canadian contemporary, The Canadian Magazine, upon the rapid stride it has taken to the leading position in the magazine world. Altogether The Canadian Magazine is one of those which have made most progress of late years."

The National Magazine.

For April has for its leading article a very timely and interesting one entitled "The Story of an Armenian Refugee." It is the first illustrated account of the recent Armenian massacres to appear in any magazine, and the illustrations are from photographs taken by the writer just previous to his escape from the country during the Turkish treacheries. The article, however, in the April National that will attract the greatest number of readers is "Some Recollections of the Century," by Dr. Edward Everett Hale. This paper is the opening one of a serial that will give in a chatty, anecdotal and quietly humorous manner Dr. Hale's reminiscences of some of the most interesting phases of American life during the past three-score years. An illustrated article that cannot prove otherwise than unusually attractive among the art circles is entitled "Chicago Artists and Their Work," by H. H. Hayes. The sixth chapter of the now widely popular religious serial "Christ and his time," by Dallas Lore Sharp, is included in the current issue. Two other illustrated articles are: "An Incident of the late war," by S. S. Weatherly, and "A President's Love Affair," by Gabriel Boquie; the latter a sketch of that period of Andrew Johnson's life which he spent in South Carolina, dealing with some hitherto unfamiliar aspects of the time when he was a tailor and a lover. The short stories of the April issue are as usual bright and attractive reading. They include: "The Madness of Sur Birbel Sahad," by Helen F. Huntington; "Sister Aimee," by Abbie Farwell Brown; "Un Petite Chanteuse," by Ella Shearmen Partridge; "Miss Penelope's Pension," by Anna B. Patten; and "Grass Pinkie," by Lucy W. Morris. These, with the regular literary and fashion departments, complete an excellent number.

THE KING OF MAN-KILLERS

Bright's Disease of the Kidneys Baffled the World's Most Eminent Medical Authorities until

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Came to the Rescue and Delivery of Mankind, stopping forever the deadly assaults of Life's most insidious foe.

Men are dropping from the ranks everywhere. Cut down in the flower of youth or the fruitage of manhood by that ruthless destroyer—Bright's Disease of the Kidneys.

Only a few days ago Sir Hercules Robinson, the doughty Governor of Cape Colony, was forced to resign that post because of encroaching Bright's disease.

Hardly had his successor been appointed when the wires brought tidings of the death of William P. St. John, a New York banker, and remembered by everyone as the treasurer of the National Democratic party during the late national campaign. Bright's Disease carried him off.

It has killed many better men than most of us. So has Diabetes, its twin curse. Yet there is one cure (and only one), that never failed in cases of Diabetes and Bright's Disease. Let these testimonials bear witness:

MR. FRED CARSTENS, Palmerston, Ont., says: "After many years suffering with Bright's Disease, I am a new man, cured by using three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

MR. F. H. GROUX, Ottawa, Ont., says: "Dodd's Kidney Pills have been a godsend to me as they have cured me of Bright's Disease of the Kidneys."

S. G. MOORE, King St., London, Ont., says: "After taking a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills I am as well as ever in my life, despairing of recovery from Bright's Disease."

MR. CHAS. T. BYE, Garryowen P. O., Ont., says: "For the past three years have suffered of Diabetes, but noticing cured published I have used Dodd's Kidney Pills which have perfectly cured me."

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS are for sale by druggists everywhere, and by the Dodd's Medicine Co., Toronto, Ont. Price 50 cents a box.

SUCCESSFUL BASKET SOCIAL.

The basket social and entertainment which was held in west St. Peter's School on March 22nd, was in every respect a great success. The evening being favorable the school was crowded to its utmost capacity by an intelligent and appreciative audience who had come to spend an evening of social enjoyment. The programme which consisted of choruses, solos, duets, recitations, stump speeches and side-splitting dialogues was excellently rendered, reflecting great credit on the musical and literary talent of the community. Dancing the sword was among the attractions and was highly appreciated. During the sale of baskets the thorough appreciation of the entertainment was shown by the lively and generous bidding. The proceeds which amount to upwards of $51, go to the improvement of the school. The committee desire to express their thanks to all who assisted in making the entertainment a success.

Dr. Smith, physician in charge of the Tracadie leprosy hospital, has gone to Winnipeg to take charge of two or three leprosy victims who were recently discovered among the Icelandic settlers in the vicinity of that city.
