climate, the potato plant is more hardy, and better able to resist the bug than in warmer climates, where the tendency of the heat is to render the plant soft. It is a wise forethought to try and prevent the destruction of this important crop. School Trustees have already plenty of work, but this would not involve much extra labor. The annual School meeting takes place at the very time when the bug will be abroad. A disadvantage of using poison is that if it is not sufficiently diluted, and if spread over thickly, cases of poisoning may occur. School Trustees will be able to impart a knowledge of these poisons to the heads of families, and they again to their children. The work will last only two or three weeks Some farmers may be careless, and it will require an organized system to look after them. The poison will have no injurious effect upon animals if properly diluted. How the bug comes it is not known. It is accounted for in various ways. He did not think that the Legislature can take any notice of compensation to the person whose potatoes may be destroyed by order of the trustees. In either case he would lose his crop.

MR. BEER was pleased at the introduction of this measure. We are threatened with a great calamity; if our potato crop be destroyed the loss to the country will be terrible. He believed that the remedies proposed are as good as can be arrived at. The use of poisons requires to be carefully guarded.

The House accordingly went into committee, and a resolution was passed that it is expedient to introduce a Bill to prevent the spread of the potato bug.

Mr. FERGUSON moved the following resolution :

"That the Trustees of any School District shall, on being notified in writing by any ratepayer, that the potato bug has appeared on the vines of potatoes within the District, be empowered to enter, either by themselves or their agents, upon any land and use such remedies as they may deem necessary for the destruction of the said potato bug, and shall be further empowered to expend a sum not exceeding —— dollars in one year, to defray expenses thus incurred, and to levy said amount on the property of the said School District."

He said he did not see any other way of dealing with the potato bug except by empowering the School Trustees to act. They are the only organization extending over the whole Province. If some districts take action it may be neutralized by the inaction of other districts. The bug will appear simultaneously, and any Commissioner appointed by the Government will be powerless. We have more to fear from the bug than any other place. The potato beetle is a native of a colder climate than ours, the Rocky Mountains of Colorado; the only arrest to it is excessive moisture; we have very warm and dry weather at the season when the bug will do its work. We have five acres devoted to potatoes to one compared with other parts of America. In the Western States and Ontario they grow only small patches, and it is easier to deal with it there. It is of no use to legislate towards remunerating those whose crops are destroyed. Burning is no more efficacious than poison. He would be happy to adopt any suggestion which might be offered for the improvement of the measure.

Mr. FARQUHARSON said that School Trustees may not be careful in handling poisons, and care should be taken that their use is hedged with proper safeguards. He thought that Justices of the Peace, or vendors under the Canada Temperance Act, would be the proper persons.

Mr. SINCLAIR as a farmer, would like to see the Potato Bug exterminated. He considered the measure under consideration, a very injurious one. The expenditure should be confined to a certain amount, and the whole of it paid out of the treasury. We must deal with it in the same manner as other countries have done. Farmers may have to change their crops to get rid of it. He considered the mode proposed impracticable. It gives three men the power to go and experiment on another man's field, and assess the rest of the settlement to pay for it. A measure of this kind is necessary, but should have been brought before the House in a different manner.

Mr. FERGUSON said, if Mr. Sinclair disapproves of the proposed measure, why does he not suggest an improvement? If the Government are to pay the expense, the trustees will not be nearly so careful, as when they are spending their own money, and that of their own neighbors. The amount need not be very large, if the matter is taken in time. The best farmers will make an effort to meet the danger themselves, they may not understand the application of the remedies very well, and by the proposed Bill will be enabled to put themselves in communication with the trustees upon the question. Some, regardless of their own interests will neglect, and without a provision of this kind, the industrious man will be at the mercy of his lazy, careless neighbor.

Mr. PERRY thought it possible that the cure may be worse than the disease. The power proposed to be given the trustees is very unlimited. Who are the agents of the trustees to be? If the crops of the whole Island are to be saved by the destruction of one field worth $500, then the whole Island should pay for it.

Mr. FARQUHARSON considered the Bill a great farce. The Executive Council should take charge of the matter. Men will not serve as trustees if they are required to do all this work. The cost should be paid out of the Treasury. The Government should appoint men all through the country to use the poison wherever the bug appears.

Mr. CAMPBELL said the present question is one over which we can exercise no control. This measure instead of remedying the evil will only have the effect of intensifying it. This House is in just as good a position to legislate for killing the weevil as the potato bug. He was opposed to the resolution. It would be unfair to the School Trustees, and the consequence will be that none will be got to serve, and the schools will be neglected. The only remedy is for the people to protect themselves, they have an interest in destroying the bug. Legislation in such a direction will prove an injury instead of a benefit.

Mr. FERGUSON said there is nothing in the resolution to warrant the inference drawn by Mr. Perry. There is nothing empowering the trustees to levy an assessment for the value of a crop destroyed; it does not provide for destroying the crop. Districts which do their duty promptly on the appearance of the bug have very little expense, and he would not vote for the Government spending one dollar, without the House providing machinery for expending it.

Mr. BLAKE considered this would be imposing an arduous duty on school trustees, and placing a dangerous power in their hands. It will become a difficult matter to get trustees to serve. The Government might purchase a large quantity of Paris Green, and they should also circulate information upon the subject.

Mr. PERRY thought it would be impossible to prevent the spread of the bug by legislation. If complaints arise let the Government spend a sum of money in prevention. If the law is to be enforced by the trustees, it will remain a dead letter, under any circumstances its operation will be very unsatisfactory.

Mr. MCKAY said it is difficult to arrive at a solution satisfactory to all. School Trustees have now quite enough to do. Not only will the District where the money is assessed be benefitted, but all the surrounding districts, and the whole country as well. He approved of the suggestion to appoint a warden at the annual school meeting. Farmers are sufficiently interested to protect themselves; if any neglect, then let the Government pay two-thirds of the expense incurred, and the district one third. Road Supervisors might be utilized as Superintendents for the destruction of the Bug.

Mr. GORDON could not support the resolution. There are farmers, who, if left to themselves, will bring every available help to exterminate the bug, but if they know that it is the duty of the School Trustees to attend to it, they will wait for them to move. Trustees will not serve. The Government should, if possible, have remedies at points convenient. The proposed method will lead to interminable difficulties. This discussion, however, will tend to do good, as it will wake the people up.

Mr. HOLLAND thought this measure should have been brought down earlier in the session so that members could consult their constitutents. Trustees will have too much to do, and will not be got to serve The Bill will not have the effect intended If made permissive, he would support it. The Government should purchase Paris green and store it at convenient places. The people were fully alive to the danger last year and took every means to exterminate it, they will do the same this summer.

Mr. FERGUSON asked what power has the Government to enter upon lands and inspect them without the permission of the owner, but by this measure the trustees are given special powers. The only practical objection is that it places too much labor on the trustees. He was satisfied to adopt the suggestion that the ratepayers should appoint an inspector with the same power proposed to be given to the trustees. He moved that progress be reported.

Mr. MCLEOD in seconding the motion said that rather than have no legislation upon the question, it would be better to amend the Education Act so as to enable trustees to assess members for the purposes proposed in this measure. It certainly imposes a duty upon the trustees, but how is it to be avoided. Before the Government would be able to move in the matter, the potato crops might be all destroyed. The machinery for destroying the bug should all be ready before it puts in an appearance.

Progress was reported, and at 6 o'clock the House adjourned for one hour.

The Great French Remedy, Dr. LeDuc's Periodical Pills.

For the cure of Leucorrhœa or White's Excessive of painful Menstruation, Green Sickness, Falling of the Womb, Catarrh of the Uterus or Vagnia, Hysteria, Pain in the Back, or Piles, or for the purpose of invigorating and giving tone to the Generative Organs, two pills should be taken twice daily, or in very enfebled conditions, one pill three times a day. To effect cures in chronic cases it will be necessary to continue the use of the remedy for some months. A reasonable trial will create sufficient confidence in the remedy to insure its being taken until a permanent cure is effected.
