

Khrushchev Criticized At Meeting

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Soviet Communist party leaders joined in stinging personal attacks on former premier Khrushchev at a secret party meeting in March says the Kremlin's verbatim record on sale Tuesday.

Khrushchev was denounced many times by innuendo after his dismissal last October, but this is the first time his successor have permitted publication of such personal criticism.

Khrushchev, now 71 and reported under doctor's orders, was named in a verbatim record of speeches at the party's last central committee plenary session held March 24-26.

Dimnikamed Kunayev, a top party leader from the virgin lands area of Kazakhstan accused him of endangering Kazakh agriculture under the great development plan he favored.

Petr Shelest, first secretary of the Ukrainian party and a one-time close friend, scoffed at Khrushchev's often-repeated exhortations to Soviet farmers to "catch up and overtake" the United States in meat and milk production.

"At the same time," Shelest told the central committee, "there were lines for bread."

Eight Injured In Explosion

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP) — An explosion Tuesday on a bridge construction project near here left at least eight men injured and one or more unofficially reported dead or missing.

The blast was said to have taken place in the decompression chamber of a caisson on the bridge project, 85 feet beneath the surface of the St. Lawrence River.

Men were working in the caisson—a big cell sunk in the river for construction purposes.

Some men working in the pressurized cell were said to have been blown out into the river and were later picked up.

The men were doing preparatory excavation work on the river bed.

One hospital said it had received eight injured men from the explosion scene for treatment.

The early reports of men being killed or missing came from local radio stations.

Police and construction authorities were unable to confirm the casualty reports.

Rose Claims Vengeance By Canada

TORONTO (CP) — The Star says Fred Rose, 58, still maintains he didn't do anything in the 1940s to harm Canada's interests while working as an undercover agent for the Soviet Embassy in Ottawa.

Interviewed by telephone from Budapest, Rose accused the Canadian government of "an illegal act, an act of vengeance" in revoking his naturalized citizenship in 1957, six years after his release from prison.

Rose, now living in Warsaw, was sentenced in 1945 to six years for conspiring to pass secrets to Russia. At the time he was the Communist member of Parliament for Montreal-Carrier.

The Star quoted Rose: "I still consider myself a Canadian citizen. I am not a citizen of another country."

"I'd like to come back under better circumstances. If I could be treated like a human being, maybe in a few years people will get wiser."

Rose came to Canada from Poland in 1920 with his Russian-born parents.

Until Igor Gouzenko walked out of the Soviet Embassy 20 years ago, clutching an armful of documents containing agents' cover names and giving them to the RCMP, no one knew that "Debouz" was Fred Rose.

His wife Fanny, he said, now is visiting their married daughter in Montreal while he spends three weeks in Budapest being treated for arthritis.

U.S. Holiday Toll Reaches Record 633

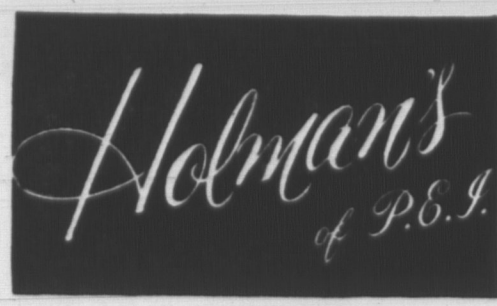

CHICAGO (AP) — A record number of persons died in the United States during the Labor Day holiday weekend in traffic accidents.

The death statistics for the 78-hour period beginning at 6 p.m. local time Friday:

Traffic accidents	563
Boating accidents	25
Drownings	45

The previous record in traffic accidents during the Labor Day weekend was 557 in 1963. Last year, there were 531 deaths.

Howard Pyle, president of the National Safety Council, said the record offered proof "that many drivers will not or cannot cope with the complexities of today's traffic, and that far too many miles of local and rural roads present deadly hazards to even careful drivers."
