

The City Election.

The City Elections take place within a fortnight—nomination within a week. Does the fact interest tax-payers? It does not seem to do so. We have not yet heard of a single city or ward meeting. We have yet (within a week of nomination) no idea who the candidates are to be. Who is to "run the machine" at this important juncture? The city is deeply in debt, and the debt is accumulating daily. City officials remain unpaid. Contractors with the city remain unpaid. All the expenses of the city are going on. A new and complicated system of taxation is to be put in operation. Surely men of the most mature judgment should be selected to take us out of our present difficulties. Such men are not to be obtained at a day's notice. We hope that no further time will be lost, and that the names of intending candidates will be made known without delay.

LINDLEY OPERA AND COMEDY CO.—"Ten Nights in a Bar Room" was played last evening to a good house. Harry Lindley, as Sample Switzer, was as usual, immense. Mr. George F. Bird acted the part of the inebriate to perfection, his delirium scene was a masterly effort and brought down the house. Miss Adelle, as Mrs. Morgan, made the most of a somewhat short part. Miss Foster, as Melitable Cartwright, was irresistible, her song Awfully Awful receiving a burst of well merited applause. Little Miss Mills, as Mary, played with a childlike simplicity that was very taking. Mr. Tavernier was a very good Simon Slade. Mr. Mills was at home as Romaine, and Mr. Walsh as Harvey Green played very carefully. Mr. Waterfield played Willie Hammond very fairly, and showed that, with a little experience, he would make a capital actor. Mr. Trenner made a first-rate bar-keeper, in fact the piece was well played throughout. Mlle. Nault sang a few songs which were deservedly enjoyed. The farce of the "Artful Dodger," in which Harry Lindley, as the Dodger, fairly convulsed the audience, brought one of the Company's best bills to a close. To-night "Buffalo Bill" will be produced with Mr. G. F. Bird in the title role. Mr. Lindley will make his first appearance as a "Nigger Gumbo," taking the part of Hector Heliozabulis in the farce of "A Night of Terror." We hope the house will be crowded. On Monday evening will be presented the great Gypsy Drama, "Cynthia, the Zingarella," and the Nautical Drama "H. M. S. Spitfire," with special scenery painted expressly for the Company by Alexander G. Forsyth, the celebrated scenic artist of New York.

FISH AND GAME SOCIETY.—The adjourned annual meeting of the above Society, for the election of officers, will be held in the office of Messrs. Brecken & Fitzgerald, on Saturday, the 8th day of May inst., at the hour of 7 1/2 o'clock, p. m. A punctual attendance is requested. R. R. Fitzgerald, President.

A MS. treatise will probably soon be sent to press in this City, showing "Cain's relationship to Christ." An extract from it is crowded out of to-day's issue. Mr. Harvie will be happy to receive the names of subscribers for the work at his Bookstore, Queen Square.

SPRING PARK SCHOOL CONCERT.—The scholars of the above School will give an Entertainment in their Schoolroom, on Monday, May 3rd, at 7.30, consisting of Vocal and Instrumental Music, Readings and Recitations. Admission 10 cents; children 5 cents.

THREE cases before the Stipendiary Magistrate this morning—two drunks and one vagrant. One drunk was discharged, the other got twenty days, and the vagrant was "sent up" for two months.

WE still continue to keep more people at Rocklin House than at any other Hotel on Prince Edward Island, and drive them to and from trains and steamers free of charge. [m 14]

MR. JOHN D. PHARES, formerly of Boston, Mass., will hear something to his advantage by calling at the "Diamond Bookstore."

IN our notice of the temperance meeting of Thursday night we omitted stating that the resolution moved by Rev. G. W. Hodgson was carried unanimously.

CASH FOR EGGS.—Merchants in the country will get the highest price for their eggs at the Family Grocery.—R. K. BRACE.

"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing $200 per year, total $1,200—all which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife, who has done her own household work for a year since, without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know it for their benefit."

CANADA TEMPERANCE ACT.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING IN MARKET HALL.

ADDRESS OF REV. A. MACGILVRAY. MR. CHAIRMAN, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN.—At the kind request of some of the leading gentlemen in connection with the meeting of the Grand Division of the Sons of Temperance on this Island, I am here tonight to lend whatever influence I may possess in for which you are all assembled. I am delighted to have an opportunity of being present on so cheering and encouraging an occasion. The present is, indeed, a bright and hopeful period in the history of your persevering efforts, a time when we ought to be inspired with new life and vigor in the discharge of our respective and onerous duties. The hopes and aspirations that have been so long deferred, are about being realized, and the brilliant herald of a more prosperous day illumines our horizon. A night of utter gloom is passing away from this vast Dominion of ours, and the gleams of our rising sun tinge our fair sky with their golden hues. To the vigilant and energetic Sons of Temperance is promised a calm and glorious day, when they will see the fondest wishes of their hearts fully accomplished. But for long delays or criminal activity. Every inch of ground will be fiercely contested, and the last great battle has yet to be fought. Our enemies are already in the field, marshalling their men, and the clangor of the coming struggle fills the air. The brave soldier becomes inflamed with an indomitable spirit, and the energy of his soul glistens in his fierce eye when storming the last battlement of a conquered foe. Every friend of Temperance is called upon tonight to come to the front, to rush into the thickest of the combat, and to fight on until the palm of victory will crown his deserving brow. An eloquent or powerful appeal is not required to enkindle enthusiasm in the assemblage of Temperance men whom I see before me. Your beautiful banner has long ago floated on the gale, and "Stood the battle and the breeze" in many a hard-fought contest. You have long ago sworn fidelity to the cause of Temperance, and you are even now flushed with the grand and final victory which awaits you in the near future. I am not going to repeat the dismal tale of woe to which you have so often listened, as it came from the eloquent lips of some of your own worthy members.

IT IS AN OLD AND HEART-RENDING STORY.

Nothing new can be said, nothing more can be added to the dark and hideous picture, so often portrayed by eminent speakers. This pernicious vice, like the destroying angel of old, carried destruction and death to every door. No one is safe from its death-like fangs. It has let loose a flood of evils upon the world from which it can never be entirely purged, until the fire of God's wrath shall consume the universe. From the day upon which the first indulgence of intemperance took pace, by the partaking of the forbidden fruit, this crying evil has deluged the earth with sorrow and with sin. Men are apt to close their eyes to the fact that

HE, WHO REVELS IN DRUNKENNESS, OFFENDS AND INSULTS THE MAJESTY OF A JUST AND POWERFUL GOD.

After all, this is the most frightful side of the question. Did we fully comprehend the nature of degrading our humanity and defacing the image of God in our souls we should tremble at the very thought. It is true that this vice makes a moral wreck of man, blights his reputation, and destroys his worldly prospects, but all this is as nothing in comparison to the ruin and death of thy soul which it entails. My calling in life obliges me to direct your attention more particularly to this feature of the subject. We could almost endure the sad sight of beholding all earthly aspirations vanish, all happiness lost, all reputation gone; but it sends a cold shudder through our frames, it chills the very blood in our veins, to think that God is robbed of millions of souls, redeemed by the warm streams of His heart's blood. The soul is the true image of the living God, it is the breath of His Divinity. In the creation of so magnificent a being, the Holy Trinity took counsel, and the creative words were spoken, "Let us make man into our own image." The soul is nothing less than the brilliant and glorious likeness of a God of inconceivable beauty, of Him whose infinite perfections cannot be fathomed, of Him who is the Creator of the brilliant dome of heaven. It fully participates in the divine beauties and thrilling glories of its Maker. It continually flashes and glows with the Divine splendors, inhaling the beauties of God, and dazzling with the brightness of Heaven. The grace of God is constantly streaming in like sunbeams, upon that soul. It is surrounded with a flood of light which pervades it with the rays of God's divine splendors. The stars of heaven are pale, the sun's beams are dark in comparison to the luminous beauty of that soul tinged with the blood of a Saviour. Far beyond the stars and clouds of heaven, is the golden city of that soul—a calm and blissful region of unseen glories. Towards that heavenly Zion it is daily guided by the hand of God. It shall know no rest, until it rests in the bosom of its Saviour on that bright, eternal day which will dawn upon it when its mortal career is over. Then it will enter upon that life of never-ending, ineffable bliss, which God Himself lives. Such are the grand prospects of a redeemed soul. But the enslaves and prostitutes many such souls. It keeps them in its horrid grasp with chains of iron. The terrible spell can hardly ever be broken. The confirmed drunkard is almost a hopeless case. This canker-worm mars the image of God in the soul. The painting of the Divine Architect is blackened and besmeared. The image of God is now so faint in that soul that it is not visible. All hopes of heaven are gone; God is lost and lost forever. The sorrowful warning comes from the inspired Word: "The drunkard shall never enter the Kingdom of Heaven." No, never, never. St. Paul assures us of this terrific truth over and over again. In enumerating the class that will be excluded from the eternal joys, he forcibly mentions the drunkard. "Envy, murder, drunkenness, revelling, they who do such things shall not obtain the Kingdom of God." (Gal. V. v. 21.) [TO BE CONTINUED.]
