Lawyers And Doctors Had Highest Average Incomes

OTTAWA (CP) - It paid to be a lawyer or work in Trail or Kimberley, B.C., in 1951. The revenue department disclosed today in its 1953 edition of taxation statistics that lawyers had the highest average income of all Canadian occupation groups in 1951, the latest year for which statistics are available. The 4,970 lawyers who paid income tax in 1951 had an average income of $10,214. They were followed by medical doctors and surgeons with an average of $9,975 and consulting engineers and architects with $9,628. The review of the taxation year showed that residents of Trail and Kimberley had a higher average income than those of any other city in the country. The 6,890 income tax payers in the two British Columbia mining communities earned an average income of $3,486 during the year. However, the review showed that the 1,570 Canadians with incomes of more than $50,000 in 1951 took a financial beating at the hands of the tax collector. They earned a total of $120,100,000 but had to cough up $68,500,000 in taxes, leaving them $51,600,000.

Up Many Millions

The taxation review, commonly known as the "green book," showed that the amount of tax paid in 1951 was up $297,200,000 compared with 1950. This was caused by a major increase in the number of taxpayers, a sharp jump in the amount of money they earned and a slightly higher level of taxation. During 1951, a total of 2,777,950 Canadians paid income tax, an increase of 403,710 compared with the 2,374,240 who paid taxes the previous year. The amount of income they earned totalled $8,747,600,000, a rise of $714,800,000 over the $7,932,800,000 earned by taxpayers in 1950. And the amount of tax paid in 1951 amounted to $812,100,000 against $575,900,000 the previous year. The general level of taxation in 1951 was the same as in 1950, except for a 10 per cent surtax which went into effect after the outbreak of the Korean war.

Unusual Accident Case Reported

MONTREAL, (CP) - Police Friday sought a motorist who struck a pedestrian, then reached from the car and dragged his victim by the arm 50 feet. Peter Dryson, 32, told police he was crossing Durocher street when he was struck. "I wasn't badly hurt, but I didn't like it and told the driver so," said Dryson. He said the driver then leaned from the car window, grabbed him by the arm and stepped on the accelerator, dragging Dryson along. Dryson was treated at hospital for injuries to hand and leg. Police said a passer-by gave them the licence number of the car. PETERBOROUGH, Ont. CP - A white polyanthus rose bush surprised its owner, Mrs. J.C. Taylor of Hastings, Ont., by producing one bright red flower in a cluster of white ones.

World's Financial Leaders To Meet In Washington

OTTAWA, (CP) - The world's financial leaders will gather in Washington this week for confidential talks dealing with international exchange problems, including the critical issue of convertibility and possibly the world price of gold. The four-day session will mark the seventh annual meeting of the 50-country International Monetary Fund and World Bank, set up to stabilize exchange rates and promote the flow of trade and economic health of member countries. Finance Minister Abbott, a Fund governor, will lead the Canadian delegation. Others in the group likely will include Graham Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada; Louise Rasminsky, Bank of Canada official and executive director of the Fund and World Bank; and J. J. Deutsch, assistant deputy finance minister. Informants said the problem of seeking ways of making sterling convertible with the dollar likely will come up in a general way following discussions arising out of executive reports. As for the touchy gold price issue, this was not on the official agenda, but informants noted that this does not prevent discussion. Gold had been left off previous agendas, but South Africa, world's biggest gold producer, nevertheless brought the issue before the fund meeting. South Africa has been pressing for a boost in the official price of gold currently pegged at $35 U. S. a fine ounce. Canadian gold miners also have demanded a boost, but the United States world's biggest gold buyer, has firmly opposed all suggestions of a price increase.
