Let's Talk It Over

A Prince County Viewpoint by "G"

WELCOME, FIRE CHIEFS!

Summerside bids the Maritime fire chiefs welcome this week. The grocer, the ice man, the butcher call quite often at our doors and we welcome their visits as essential to the smooth and even flow of daily living. The fireman may never call, or may call but once in a lifetime. He makes his visit only at a time of crisis, and we are then depending on his cool efficiency for our continued security and happiness. He is for a few brief critical minutes or hours the most important person in our lives; the man of the flaming hour as it were. If he and his mates are well organized, we can expect expert service that will reduce our losses to a minimum.

Firemen's conventions are held for the purpose of bettering their organization and methods, and should therefore receive the endorsement and encouragement of all. It will not be necessary nor advisable to set fires, or even ring in false alarms to show these visitors we believe in them and the work they do for a community. But as many of us are in a position to do so should render to these visitors the hospitality of our town, and do any kindnesses or courtesies which lay in our power.

Almost before Bruce Hutchinson's defence of our Government's "four-wheel brakes" fight against inflation in Maclean's Magazine of July 15 hit the streets, the cost-of-living index threw question and doubt on the fight itself, and his attempt to justify it.

"In March," Hutchinson says, "the Canadian cost-of-living index rose 2.1 points, less than half of the 4.5 point rise in February. In April the rise is 2 points . . . The brakes were apparently working. The Government will be surprised and disappointed if prices show any serious increase during the rest of the summer. It has, or thinks it has, a breathing spell in the inflationary spiral."

Immediately we learn that the cost-of-living index for May showed an increase larger than that for March! It is evident that the Government just thought it had a "breathing spell" in the inflationary spiral. We believe in British justice, however, and governments, like individuals, must have a fair trial. So let's wait and see, but let's not forget that inflation can be a very serious threat to our way of life. It is a dictatorship of shrinking dollars and if allowed to continue, can hold us in bondage as crippling to the spirit as that imposed by Stalin and his gang.

the part of the employees and third, good service to the public. He told them to have in stock goods that the customers want, for service was one of the fundamental principles of a cooperative store. Mr. A. B. MacDonald, the National Secretary, said "You are part of a tremendous movement called the Maritime movement which is tied up with a like movement in 40 other countries of the world. It is one that has won world wide acclaim. People from all parts of the world come to see how you have managed to improve conditions and made life so much better." He said that one of the weak points of the Canadian Cooperative Movement was that many of its employees do not seem to know that they belong to a movement that can lift men to a higher plane of living; they consider their work as just another job. He said that the power of monopoly wielded by the big
