Pure Spices are Profitable

But bad spice is abominable. This is a truism that no competet housekeeeper should forget. Half the trouble of cooking is past if you get the right brand of Spice, and while there are many that are fairly good, it is always safest to take one which is invariably uniform. That one is

GOOD FOR GREAT BRITAIN.

She Gets an Extension of Hong Kong Boundaries.

LONDON, June 11.—The Pekin correspondent of the Times says: "The Anglo-Chinese convention, just signed leaves to England an extension of the boundaries of Hong Kong, including Kou Long, of altogether 200 square miles.

Japan, under the protocol of October, 1896, demands that settlements be established forthwith for the exclusive use of the Japanese at Fu Chau, Wu Sung, Sha Shi, Fu Ning, Ye Chau and Cing Wang Tao."

LONDON, June 11.—The newspapers are printing many congratulations upon the signing of the Anglo-Chinese convention yesterday, which gives Great Britain an extension of the boundaries of Hong Kong, including Kai Chung, of altogether 200 square miles, under a lease to which the greatest importance is attached, as the territory thus acquired is regarded as being essential for the protection of Hong Kong. The lease comprises the island of Lantao, to the westward of Hong Kong, and the mainland behind Kau Lung, south and east of a line drawn from Mira Bay to Deep Bay. While the Chinese retain the northern shores of these bays, the lease covers their waters, subject to the right of the Chinese to use them for their ships.

When questioned in the house of commons yesterday evening as to whether Russia contemplated sending troops to the Yang Tse Kiang valley, the parliamentary secretary for the foreign office, Mr Curzon, made an important statement to the effect that such a proceding, with the consent of China, would be an art of war, and the government would take the requisite steps to protect British interests.

Obviously this is intended as a warning to Russia not to interfere in the Yang Tse Kiang valley.

A MODEL WIFE.

She Dons Black In Memory of Her Unmourned Predecessor.

He had asked her to be "his'n," and she had made up her mind that she had "worked out" long enough anyway. So she accepted him. She was perfectly satisfied with her place, but she wanted to have a house of her own. So they were married.

It wasn't long afterward that she came back to see her former mistress about something, and the latter noticed that she was wearing mourning. Of course she was sorry for her and was rather surprised that she made no mention of her bereavement. It is, indeed, a grievous thing when a honeymoon is cut short.

Finally the former mistress brought up the subject herself.

"You are in mourning, Maggie," she suggested.

"Yes," replied Maggie complacently, and with no show of feeling at all. "I t'ought it was the least I could do fer 'im."

"It is showing no more than proper respect of course. I am very sorry. It must have been a great shock."

"Great shock!" exclaimed Maggie in surprise. Then as she grasped the idea she went on, "Oh, he ain't dead," with the accent on "he."

"You haven't lost your husband?"

Maggie shook her head.

"Then why are you in such deep mourning?"

"Just to please the poor lad," answered Maggie. "You see, it's this way," she went on when she had decided to tell the story. "After we was married he comes to me an he says, 'Maggie,' he says, 'the poor woman niver had anybody to put on mournin fer her, an I dunno that she's been treated right,' he says 'Who?' says I. 'Me first wife,' says he. 'She was all alone in the world, exceptin fer me,' he says. 'She had no wimmen folks to wear mournin fer her.' And so I says to him, 'I'll do it fer the poor woman,' I says. An here I am."

And the best of it is that the story is absolutely true.—Chicago Post.

IN MEMORIAM.

The Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone, born December 29, 1709. Died May 19, 1898.

Some in the promise of an early prime,
Ere yet the first assault is dared and won,
Death takes with envious hand before their time,
Leaving the task undone.

Some, ripe in manhood, at their army's head,
As even now they touched the topmast tower,
With shining harness or have fallen dead
In victory's crowning hour.

But you, O veteran of a thousand fights,
Whose toil had long attained its perfect end—
Death calls you not as one that claims his rights,
Put gently as a friend.

For though that matchless energy of mind
Was firm to front the menace of decay,
Your bodily strength on such a loss declined,
As only death could stay.

So then with you it's well who after pain,
After long pain, have reached your rest at last;
But we—ah, when shall England mould again,
This type of splendor past?

Noble in triumph, noble in defeat,
Leader of hopes that others held forlorn,
Strong in the faith that looks afar to meet
The flush of Freedom morn—

Could we, her own, forget you to our shame,
Lands that have lived to see her risen sun
Remembering much should witness how your name
And Freedom's name are one.

Well Made and Makes Well

Hood's Sarsaparilla is prepared by experienced pharmacists of today, who have brought to the production of this great medicine the best results of medical research. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a modern medicine, containing just those vegetable ingredients which were seemingly intended by Nature herself for the alleviation of human ills. It purifies and enriches the blood, tones the stomach and digestive organs and creates an appetite; it absolutely cures all scrofula eruptions, boils, pimples, sores, salt rheum, and every form of skin disease; cures liver complaint, kidney troubles, strengthens and builds up the nervous system. It entirely overcomes that tired feeling, giving strength and energy in place of weakness and languor. It wards off malaria, typhoid fever, and by purifying the blood it keeps the whole system healthy.
