NIAGARA VAPOR BATHS
We are the original manufacturers of portable Vapor Baths. We have, during the last ten years supplied thousands of our Baths to physicians, hospitals, sanitariums, etc. and we are now, for the first time, advertising them direct to the general public.

IN BUYING A VAPOR BATH Get one with a steel frame that stands on the floor. If a manufacturer does not show you a cut of frame without the covering you may take it for granted that his "steel frame" is a wire hoop that rests on the shoulder of the bath. Get one that is covered with proper material. Insist on seeing a sample of material before ordering. We make our own covering, material and print it with a handsome "all over" pattern of Niagara Falls. Get one with a thermometer attachment. Don't go it blind—a bath that is too hot or not hot enough will be of no benefit to you. Get one that you can return and have your money back if not satisfactory in every way. Send for sample of material and interesting booklet that will tell you all about Vapor Baths. Vapor Baths are an acknowledged household necessity. Turkish, Hot Air, Vapor, sulphur or medicated Baths at Home. Sc. Purifies system, produces cleanliness, health, strength. Prevents disease, obesity. Cures Colds, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, La Grippe, Malaria, Eczema, Catarrh, Female Ills, Blood, Skin, Nerve and Kidney Troubles. Beautifies Complexion.

A PRACTICAL HINT.

The fact that the fourth steamer to cross the ocean direct from Charlottetown is now loading, contains a practical hint for our farmers, viz. that so long as they produce plenty of articles of the right kind to send direct to the British market they need not be under any apprehension that means will not, in future, be found to take them across. Of course, the Lake Winnipeg and the Gaspeias have had the inducements of a Government subsidy. But subsidy or no subsidy, once it is discovered that cargoes can be obtained here at regular intervals, steamers will be found to carry them. Our farmers are so much nearer the market than those of Ontario, or indeed, of any other part of Canada in a position to compete with them, that they may now without fear, direct their attention particularly to the production of such things as are constantly demanded by the great town populations of the Mother Country. This will necessitate more heed to the breeding of cattle, sheep and lambs, to the manufacture of butter and cheese, to the growth of apples and other fruits,—all of which can be produced here in perfection, if only the means to that end be adopted by our farmers. The chief, we may say the only, drawback, is the comparative smallness of our territory. To overcome this it is important that our farmers and merchants co-operate even more closely than those of the other parts of the country. Our agricultural and fruit associations have a great work before them in directing and combining the energies of the farmers towards the production of animals and articles such as will sell most readily in the British markets. This is the practical hint which we trust will be acted upon at the meetings of these associations to be held in the course of the coming winter months. The matter is one in which our farmers are most of all interested. To our merchants it is a matter of secondary importance. Indeed they have better opportunities to "buy cheap and sell dear" without direct intercourse than with it. The more irregular and difficult our means of communication, the more chances for our speculators. But our farmers who are interested in obtaining the best prices available are interested in regular and direct connections with the markets and in the provision of those things which will supply the regular demand of the markets; and the more we can send to Great Britain the better will be the demand and the higher the prices in the local and Provincial markets. The matter is therefore one for our farmers; and they ought at once to consider how they can increase their production of such things as steamships plying between Charlottetown and Great Britain may carry away with the greatest advantage to themselves.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

—So it appears that the Liberal majority in East Prince is only 45.—From 117 to 45 is a long span. Now for a recount.

—Great disappointment was felt and expressed last evening when it was learned that the Stanley would not come. As the mail in waiting here is one of the largest of the season, containing Christmas letters and parcels for all parts of the continent, the postmaster endeavored to get the Princess to go out this morning, but failed.

Girls Held for Ransom?

VIENNA, Dec. 19.—A band of Arnauts, or Albanians, in old Servia, have carried off from their homes in the village of Illok, three of the belles of the town, whom they threaten to sell across the frontier unless a ransom of 25,000 groschen be paid them. The parents of the girls by selling all their possessions can only raise 4,000 groschen, and the other villages are contributing to make up the sum demanded.

What Will I Give For Christmas

Is a Worrysome Problem that Presents Itself Regularly Every Year. If you were selecting a present for yourself would it not be some useful article and not a mere ornament. It is reasonable to assume that your friends have feelings akin to your own, and will deeply appreciate your thoughtfulness if your Christmas present combined utility and beauty. We ask you to consider our goods and prices before buying elsewhere.

A SUGGESTION.

Sir,—Your local yesterday about the Imperial stamps explains a mystery. It was hard to imagine where the American artist got his design from, but now it is evident that he ate a heavy supper of canned lobster, and in the nightmare that followed he evolved the design from the labels of the pyramids of lobster cans piled upon his chest. Could not some of our local exporters persuade the postmaster general to put their names on these stamps as an advertisement of our Island produce.

HUMAN SACRIFICES

On the Altar of Diabetes. Saved by Dodd's Kidney Pills, Only.

Hardly a family in the country is free from Diabetes. Great thirst, failing sight, numbness in the thighs, bleeding gums, swollen ankles, emaciation, nervousness, pale or turbid urine, loss of sexual power, decaying teeth, pains in the loins or small of the back, are all positive signs that Diabetes is in the system.

Do you know how it ends? IN DEATH. A premature, horrible, agonized, pitiful death. The victim has no peace, no ease in life. His days are filled with tortures. His nights are waking dreams of agony. He longs to die, yet fears the terrors of his end. He dies, a bloated, fetid, repulsive mass of corruption. That is the only end of unchecked Diabetes. Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it. They drive it out of the system thoroughly, create new, clean blood, rebuild the diseased kidneys, and restore robust health.

Merry Xmas and Happy New Year to all

A few more days and Xmas is here to make many happy hearts and homes. But the purchasers will be still happier if they buy their presents at the Modern Jewelry and Fancy Goods Store at Sunnyside. We have a large variety of goods to select from and we have no need to cut prices as they are away down, as many of our customers can testify before purchasing. Visit our store and see what we have to select from.

LETTER FROM LONDON.

The Weather and Streets—the Royal Stables—Madame Tassaud's.

Mr. Auben E. Arsenault, who is at present in London with Mr H R MacKenzie, in the course of a recent letter says:—

"Though we have not had many fogs we have had lots of rain; indeed there have been very few days during the past two weeks that it did not rain. It is not safe to go out in the morning without an umbrella though the sun be shining (which by the way is seldom) for coming on in the afternoon it is sure to begin to rain. Though the streets are very clean in fine weather they are filthy when wet. The mud, or rather mixture of asphalt, wood and rain, flies on your clothes and is very difficult to brush off. We have not had it cold as yet, and in the country the grass is quite green.

"There is no doubt that London is an interesting old city. You come upon historic buildings and places at every corner, and the country in general bears the stamp of age and antiquity about it. The buildings are either quaintly built with queer gables and their chimneys—one at each end of the house—or else the stone is bleached and crumbling, showing that for ages it has withstood the inclemency of the weather. I noticed, as I was hurled along at a pretty fast rate in an express train, the excellence of the country roads, and I remarked to McKenzie that England must be a paradise for wheelmen.

"London is very irregularly built and one requires to have the lay of the city pretty well before he can pilot himself around without the aid of a map or the ever courteous policeman. To the crookedness and narrowness of the streets may be attributed the frequent blockades, for if the streets were straighter and wider the carriages could circulate with much more freedom. As it is I wonder there are not more accidents; but everything seems to go on smoothly in this old town. The sidewalks may be thronged and yet there is no pushing or elbowing or jostling; you can walk at a much faster rate than you can along Sunnyside on a Saturday evening. Along the Strand or Regent street is a very fine place for making a study of human nature. You see individuals of every description. I notice that the people here have a very good eye for the artistic; you always see a crowd before a window in which any work of art is exhibited. They are mostly middle or poor class people. Of course some look because they see others looking.

"Last Saturday we went to view the Royal stables at Buckingham Palace. Our ticket we obtained through Mr. Colmer, of the Canadian High Commissioner's office here, who has been very kind as well as useful to us. Having presented our credentials at the stable gates a guide was assigned to us and we began our tour of inspection. I may say that the stud, which numbered about 112 horses, contains some very fine animals. I noticed one very animal which the guide told me stood 17 hands one inch high. Needless to say the stables and horses are kept in the cleanest condition. Each stall is deeply bedded with fresh straw, which is kept in place by a border of woven straw which runs along the back of the stalls from one end of the stable to the other. We were naturally anxious to see the cream horses, and this piece of resistance was kept for the last. There are seven of them, but one of them is getting very old, being 19 years of age. A peculiarity of these horses is that when they get old they get hollow-backed. They are cream, in color with the exception of the mane and tail which are light auburn. These horses are only used on state occasions and last drove the Queen's carriage on jubilee day. For that occasion a beautiful set of harness was made for them. It covers them from head to tail and is of red leather richly ornamented with gold-plated buckles and mountings. They cost £2000 (about $10,000.) Among the other harness we were shown were the set built for the Jubilee of 1887, also of red leather with gold plated mountings, and a set built for Geo III, 135 years ago, of blue leather with mountings. Of the many carriages the one which took up our attention most was the stage coach built in 1761 for Geo III. It is 24 feet in length exclusive of the tongue, and stands about ten feet in height. The hind wheels are over six feet in diameter, and at each corner of the coach is a small N-uptine. The work of painting and decorating was done by a celebrated Italian artist. It is still in a good state of preservation and was last used by the Queen in 1861.

"This evening we spent at Mme Tassaud's waxworks. It is well worth a visit, and a few hours can be spent there usefully as well as enjoyably. Among the latest acquisitions are figures of Dreyfus, the Sirdar (Kitchener) Marchand and De Roujment. There is also a splendid and natural representation of the Gordon Highlands at Darghai."

When you are nervous and sleepless, take Hood's Sarsaparilla. It makes the nervous strong and gives refreshing sleep.

OLD OR YOUNG, GRAND-PA OR BABY.

"What Shall I Give?"

Waited till the last days and still undecided aren't you? It's one of the hardest tasks of the year to pick out Christmas presents, isn't it.

But why should it be? Charlie needs a new hat, or father a solid comfort overcoat, Dick a warm muffler, Willie a pair of gloves, Mother a new umbrella, Grandma a pair of cozy slippers that will soften the floor to the dear old feet, Nellie a glove and a handkerchief set, and Sue a pair of silk lined gloves, or a doll for the wee toddler by the cradle. There is not one of your friends or relations whose heart cannot but be warmed and cheered by a Christmas gift selected from our large and varied stock, and do you realize the happiness you will gain by making those others happy.
