Local and Other Items.

FROZEN TO DEATH.—Mr. L. B. Hamlin, a New Brunswicker, living some years in Victoria, B. C., was recently frozen to death in the Klondike.

STRUCK BY A TRAIN.—Thomas White, shoemaker, was struck by a New England railroad train at West Midway, Mass., Saturday night and instantly killed. He was 45 years old, unmarried, and belonged to New Brunswick.

MADE HIS PILE.—Mr. David R. McKay, son of the late Charles McKay, of New Glasgow, is expected home shortly from the Klondike with his pile. While it is not definitely known just how much he is worth it is estimated his share will not be less than his partner's, which we understand to be $100,000. Mr. McKay has been in the Klondike gold field the last two years.

A SERIOUS MISTAKE.—A Montreal woman named Phillips made a serious mistake the other day when she emptied a kettle of boiling water upon her little girl six months old. The child was lying in the cradle, and the mother, who is quite blind, lifted a kettle of hot water from the stove and stepped to the edge of the unfortunate child's cradle, in mistake for the wash tub, and emptied the contents over her. The little sufferer was very severely scalded, and was taken to the hospital for treatment.

SOCIAL.—The social and entertainment held in Winesap River hall, a few evenings ago, with Mr. C. W. Jackson acting as chairman, proved a success financially as well as otherwise, upwards of $70 being realized. Mr. Joseph Wise, M. L. A., assisted by Mr. John Diamond, auctioned the pies. The programme consisted of vocal and instrumental music, dialogues and recitations, all of which were well rendered and highly appreciated. Miss Mary Matheson presided at the organ. The programme was as follows:
 Singing—"The World is Full of Song"
 Recitation—"Once Upon a Time"
 Dialogue—"Arabella's Poor Relations"
 Recitation—"How they tried to whip the teacher"
 Solo—"Silver Bells of Memory"
 Recitation—"You Put no Flowers on My Papa's Grave"
 Dialogue—"The Quack Doctor"
 Instrumental Music
 Recitation—"Somebody's Darling"
 Singing—"Whip-poor-will"
 Recitation—"Laska"

The members of Fairview church return thanks to all who so ably assisted them in the entertainment as well as other matters, especially the organist. The proceeds were in aid of repairing the Fairview Baptist Church.

A Lesson in Advertising.

A wholesaler had one of the brightest and most impressive lectures on advertising read to him by a country merchant last week that he has ever heard in his life, says an exchange. This merchant is not one of the ordinary merchants. He is a character in his way, a Hibernian, and with his full share of the proverbial wit. This merchant lives in a small city in the state, and buys the better part of his goods in this city. He was in on a buying trip, and passing a wholesale house, he observed paper napkins in the windows. He went in to look at them, for he had sale for such things in his store.

"An' do you have paper napkins to sell?" he asked of the wholesaler. He did have them, he said. "An' how the devil do I be knowin' that ye have paper napkins to sell, if I don't come down here and happen to see them in the windy? Why don't ye till a man ye have paper napkins? Thin we'd know what ye had to sell." The wholesaler told him that he did advertise, which was true.

"Ah, jiss," said the merchant, "an, how do you advertise? Ye put a cut of yer buildin' in the paper. Now, what the devil do I be wantin' to see the cut of yer buildin' for? I don't care for yer old buildin' if it's what's in yer buildin' that interests me. If ye have paper napkins, say ye have paper napkins, and don't be a showin' us a picture of our big store. That's the way I'm a goin' to sell these paper napkins I am buyin' of ye. I put an advertisement in me paper at home to till the people of me town that I have paper napkins to sell and the price they have to pay for them, and be the powers they come and buy them." This wholesaler told me that he had more good advertising sense rubbed into him in ten minutes by this merchant than he found in books in the past ten years.

Robbing the Thrifty Poor.

The millionaire statesman, Mr. Mulock, is going to cut down the rate of interest paid to workmen and others who deposit their money in the Postoffice Savings Bank.

When Mr. Mulock secured control of the bank the rate was 3 1/2 per cent. Last year he reduced it to 3 per cent. This year he is trizing it down to 2 1/2 per cent.

While so many greedy politicians are preying upon the country there must be economy somewhere.

So the Postmaster General intends to "sweat" the thrifty poor.

It is a repetition of the story of that Yankee Legislature which, after booting the treasury until it was empty, proceeded to economize by dismissing the Chaplain.—Mail and Empire.

VANCOUVER OVERCROWDED.—A late Vancouver despatch says: The rate war on the transcontinental lines has crowded this city with laborers and mechanics from the east. Although there is unusual activity in the ship yards and docks, and the Yukon and Stickeen demands are increasing the season's work many fold, the labor market is overcrowded. Workmen from the east not employed in advance are unable to obtain work.
