IT COMES HIGH.—The costs of the London Times before the Parnell Commission are stated at £700 as a daily minimum. The great English daily appears to have risked its reputation as well as its money on very indifferent testimony.

Let quality, not quantity, be the test of a medicine. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the concentrated extract of the best and purest ingredients. Medical men everywhere recommend it as the surest and most economical blood medicine in the market.

ZION CHURCH.—The Rev. Wm. M. Tufts, M. A., will preach in Zion Church to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock, and in the evening at 7. The usual prayer meeting in the parlor at 10.30 a. m. Sabbath School at 2.30 p. m. Prayer meeting at close of evening service.

RAILWAY GOSPEL MEETING.—Remember this meeting on Sunday afternoon, in Mr. Leod's Hall, at 4 o'clock. Lesson—Hebrews 11:24. "By faith Moses, when he was grown to years, refused to be called the son of Pharaoh's daughter; choosing rather to suffer affliction with the people of God, than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season."

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES.—The series of meetings in the Athenaeum, conducted by Miss Bartlett during the week, have been well sustained and blessed by God in the conversion of four souls. The meetings will be continued during the coming week. To-morrow evening at the close of the church services. This evening at the usual hour, 7.30.

AN INNOCENT MAN'S DEATH SENTENCE.—It is reported that the deathbed confession of a resident of Devonshire, England, completely exonerates Lee, whose arrest and conviction of a murder, committed in Babbicombe, Devonshire in 1884, created great excitement in that town at the time. Lee was condemned to be hanged, and a short time before the day appointed for the execution was respited. Subsequently a day was set for the hanging, but for various reasons his execution was deferred and his sentence was finally commuted to imprisonment for life. Now, it appears that he ought never to have been arrested for the crime with which he was charged.

THE WEST END BAND.—We are pleased to learn that the young men who have been for some weeks soliciting subscriptions toward purchasing instruments for a band, are meeting with fair success. All the members of the Band are to be colored, and of necessity inhabitants of the West End. So far the collectors have obtained subscriptions amounting to $85, the most of which have been paid and deposited in the Savings Bank to the credit of the fund. The full set of instruments will cost in the vicinity of $160, and in order to raise the balance the collectors will continue their tour until the necessary amount is obtained. We think the movement of the young folks of the West End a good one. When the Band is duly formed it will doubtless afford both recreation and amusement for our citizens—particularly those who are residents of that section of the city. We trust, therefore, that such of our readers as have not yet been called upon will, when they are visited, subscribe something towards the fund.

SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO THE EXAMINER.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

Summary of Proceedings.

OTTAWA, March 1.

Col. O'Brien gave notice that on early day he would, on the motion to go into committee of supply, propose a resolution with respect to the Jesuits' estate bill. He would have taken this action earlier were it not that he understood Mr. Barron would introduce the subject, but that gentleman's notice just put on the order paper was so far down that it would hardly be reached this session.

Dr. Macdonald, of Huron, rose to continue the adjourned debate on Mr. Laurier's resolution respecting the fisheries. His speech, however, dealt almost entirely with the treaty making power debate of last week, and the Speaker repeatedly called him to order for not dealing with the question supposed to be under discussion.

Hon. Mr. Jones followed. He spoke at length in support of Mr. Laurier's motion and in condemnation of the policy of the Government with respect to the fisheries which, he said, was depriving the Maritime Province fishermen of the market of sixty five million people.

Mr. Kenny made a vigorous answer, in which he quoted from Mr. Jones' utterance of last session when he argued against the very discussions which he asked for to-day. Dealing with a contention put forward by Mr. Jones that the result of the result of the elections during the recess showed the people to be in favor of an abandonment of the present trade policy for unrestricted reciprocity with the United States, he asked if it would not have been more seemly for Mr. Jones to have quoted the elections in his own section, in Shelburne, Victoria, Colchester, Pictou and Cumberland, instead of dwelling upon Haldimand and other elections won by such narrow majorities. He thought that the people of the Maritime Provinces felt that in the fisheries matter their interests were quite safe in the hands of the present Government.

After recess, Hon. Peter Mitchell resumed the debate on the fisheries resolution, and spoke for three-quarters of an hour, denouncing the Government's policy. He was followed by Mr. Corby.

Mr. Davies followed, and declared that he had not condemned the concessions made by Canada in the fisheries treaty, but condemned the men who made them. He demanded a continuation of the modus vivendi and negotiations for a new treaty. He believed that there never was a more opportune time for negotiations. The policy of the Liberal party was one of conciliation.

Sir John Thompson said he had not intended to speak upon this question, but in view of the course taken by the opposition and the violence of the charges they made against the government and the First Minister particularly, he thought a reply was called for. The government were told by the leader of the opposition and by Mr. Davies that they had been false to their country at every turn of the controversy, and particular emphasis was laid on the assertion that the fishery articles of the Washington Treaty were allowed to expire without an attempt at renewal; but, he said, the record showed that Canada had followed a conciliatory course upon the termination of these clauses, and had gone so far as to give free to the United States the fishing privileges about which it was proposed to negotiate. A great deal had been said in the House on the debate about the seizures in 1886, and the policy which led to those seizures. Mr. Davies to-night denounced it as one of braggart, blow and bluster, but what did he say in 1887, when it was not quite certain what course the Liberal party should steer? In the session of 1887 he told the House that he had paid a good deal of attention to the reports on the subject of the seizures, and the fisheries policy generally, and it seemed to him that the Government had carried out the wishes of the great majority of people of Canada. (Applause and laughter.) Concerning the modus vivendi Mr. Davies had charged the Government with wilfully irritating the Government of the United States by suspending or threatening to suspend it, and had argued that it should be put into full force again at once, but in considering the termination of the modus vivendi the Government simply acted upon the principle that we should not open the privileges of our coasts to them, while it was open to us to refuse all privileges to the United States. The modus vivendi was adopted simply to prevent hostilities arising and imperilling the trade in its consideration by the United States Senate. If, unfortunately, any retaliatory measure should be put into force by the United States, and non-intercourse should be declared, our Government would be able, fearlessly, to leave the record to the people.

Sir Richard Cartwright followed, rising at 12.15 o'clock. He declared the policy of the present Government to be characterized by utter carelessness, recklessness, imbecility and folly. The United States had to-day extended an olive branch to us, had shown that they were not actuated by hostility, and called upon the Government to meet them in a generous spirit.

The House divided at one o'clock and Mr. Laurier's resolution was lost on a division of 108 to 65.

At a Grit caucus held to-day, there was a big row over Barron's resolution in re the Jesuits' Estates. Barron was condemned for placing it on the order paper. The party decided that each man should take his own course on the division.

The Customs receipts for February were $128,000, an increase of $30,000.

It is rumored that the Provincial Government intend introducing a bill by which they will spend $82,000 a year in bursaries and fellowships to students in county academies. Eight bursaries of $200 each are to be offered each year for four years, and one fellowship of $600 each year for three years. The limit is to be 32 bursaries and three fellowships. The bursary winners are to enter any Nova Scotia College or Mount Allison in New Brunswick, and holders of fellowships may study abroad for three years.

The Fisheries Dispute.

TORONTO, March 1.

An opinion seems to be abroad that the British and Canadian authorities are comparing notes with a view to the probable desire on the part of President Harrison's cabinet to resume negotiations on the fisheries dispute. Mr. Chamberlain yesterday had a long interview in the colonial office, with Lord Knutsford.
