King's County Exhibition

Disgraceful Conduct Resulting From Strong Drink.

The Lieut.-Governor's Speech.

REMARKS ON SOME OF THE EXHIBITS

THE credit won by King's County yesterday was sadly marred by the misconduct of those who partook too freely of the poisonous drugs obtained at the drinking dens of Georgetown. As in Summerside, a very large majority of the spectators were, in appearance and behaviour, men and women of whom any country should be proud. But a few who lacked self-respect and self-control to keep them from drinking the stuff which is retailed by violaters of the law, acted like madmen. The special constables, appointed for the purpose, disposed of several of them before they did any harm. But there were two occurrences which are regrettable from every point of view. The first was that in which a young man ran into the store of the Hon. Daniel Gordon and struck him a cowardly and brutal blow, inflicting an ugly bruise. It was the first time in his long life that Mr. Gordon had been so attacked; he had given the man no provocation, and he was completely surprised; but surprised and stunned, and bleeding as he was, he followed the fellow out and had him arrested and sent to jail before he went to have his wound cared for. It was pleasing to see how promptly and vigorously his fellow townsmen resented the injury done to their esteemed representative and ran to Mr. Gordon's assistance. We sincerely hope that when considering the punishment due to this outrage, they will not forget to seek out the man who, in defiance of the law, sold the liquor which inflamed the evil passions of the man who committed it:

The second notable occurrence was one in which, we regret to report, the station master at Georgetown was concerned as one of the principal actors. A number of drunken and half drunken youths and young men were standing about the platform at the station awaiting the departure of the trains and making a good deal of noise and confusion. It is alleged that one of these broke into or attempted to break into the station master's office. However this may be, the station master rushed into the waiting room and struck a young man there a violent blow with his fist, and then, not content with that, raised a stick or iron bar and struck the young man a violent blow which sounded very much like that of a butcher's hammer upon the head of an ox. Blood issued from a very ugly scalp wound and the young man was sobered instantly. It is a mercy to all concerned that he was not instantly killed. It is hard to account for the conduct of the station master who is ordinarily one of the quietest and most inoffensive of men. We cannot suppose that he was under the influence of liquor, and if not, he must have permitted himself to get into a blind and ungovernable rage at a time when, of all others, he ought to be cool and self-possessed.

The off-hand speech of the Lieutenant Governor in reply to the address of the Exhibition Commissioners was happily conceived and expressed. After heartily thanking the Commissioners for their congratulations and the welcome extended to him, and commenting upon the number and excellence of many of the exhibits and the advancement seen on every hand, particularly in the horse ring, he proceeded to discuss the utility of exhibitions, showing how the grouping of our best productions, and the meeting of man with man to talk matters over, and compare notes, and do better in future, benefitted the country at large. Some one suggested that the meeting of so many young men and maidens was productive of matchmaking, and His Honor saw in this fact cause for felicitation and for hope in the future of the Province. In conclusion, he expressed his regret that Mrs. Carvell could not be present on account of illness, and thanked the Commissioners for their kindly allusion to her.

In the hasty notes published yesterday, we omitted mention of the sheep and pigs, on exhibition. These were creditable to the exhibitors, the most deserving of whom are, of course, mentioned in the appended prize list. It was pleasing to find that the produce of sheep, imported by George Tweedy, Esq., as well as those obtained at the Government Stock Farm were among the prize takers. This fact shows the beneficial effect upon the country of private enterprise. It seems strange that a greater number of our farmers do not try to improve their flocks by direct importations from the Mother Country, independently of the Government. Private enterprise has done much more for our horse interests than the Government could have done; and private enterprise might more easily improve our flocks and herds.

The exhibit of agricultural machinery was smaller than might have been expected in a county in which so much agricultural machinery is sold. But the machines exhibited attracted attention, particularly an improved potato digger owned by Mr. Elisha Weatherbie, and the Brantford Light Binder, for which Mr. Donald McKenzie is general agent in this Province. Both machines were carefully examined by many farmers.

The following is the
