

MULLIGAN SIZZLES AND ROASTS

By John Cairns

The year's end banquet for residence students is an annual affair at UPEI in the university cafeteria. This year's event, held last Tuesday, was a bit different from some in the past. It took the form of the first Beaver Food Celebrity Roast. The man of the hour was Vince Mulligan of the Athletic Department.

Vince, at the meal of roast beef tenderloin wellington with baked Alaska for dessert, came under heavy fire from seven speakers. Each speaker was a celebrity in his or her own right.

One of them was Shelly Pepler, a leading scorer on this year's Lady Panthers field hockey squad. There was also Phillip Brown, the newly elected Student Union president and a founder of the university's MIA (Massive Intelligence Agency). Neil MacKenzie, Pattie Bradley, and Gordie MacAlpine also spoke, as did Dean of Arts Frank Ledwell and former Panther hockey coach Jack Kane.

The distinguished Master

Vince Mulligan, victim of the first Beaver Food Roast of Ceremonies was Peter Henderson. University president Dr. Peter Meincke was expected to attend the roast, though he was not scheduled to speak.

Mr. Henderson, commenting before the roast, said that he expected Mr. Mulligan to receive a through raking over the coals. If Mulligan looks embarrassed the next time you see him on campus, then we know that Mr. Henderson's prediction became reality.

SPEECH CHOIR AT CONFED CENTRE

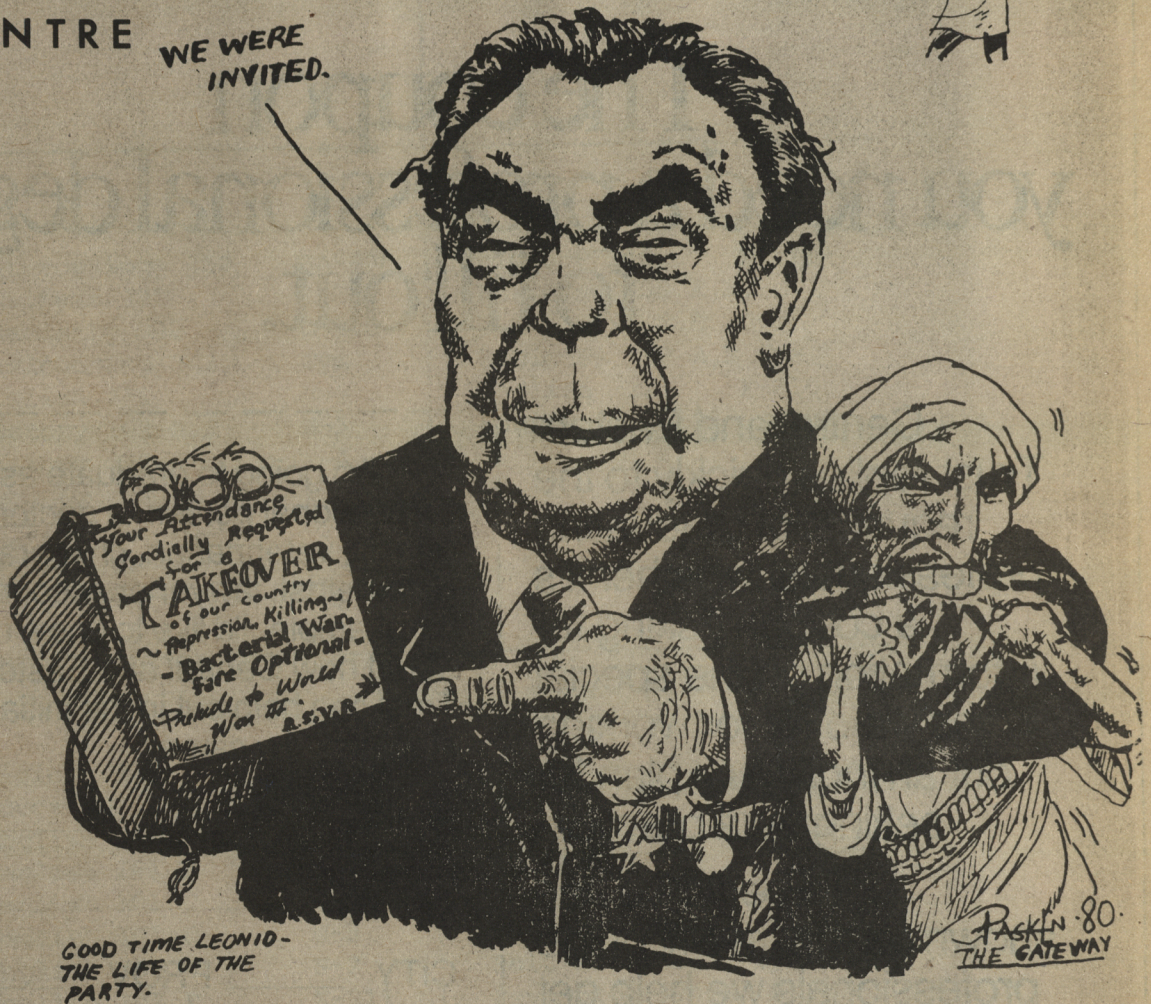

There was something for everyone Saturday, March 22, at the Confederation Centre, as Dance PEI presented Celebration '80, an evening of dance, music, and speech.

The show opened with a good rendition of Haydn's Trio No. 2 in D Major, played by Hilary and Marc Apfelstadt and Lynn Davidnoff, members of UPEI's music department. They were followed by feats of equilibrium and muscular control necessary for belly dancing, step dancing, ballet, and modern interpretations of dance. Les Danseurs Evangeline gave almost flawless performances of traditional Acadian dances.

One of the most interesting and imaginative acts presented was that of the UPEI Speech Choir, under the direction of Prof. E. Edmonds. They delighted the audience with shadows mimed to the poems "My Shadow", "Jabberwocky", and "Albert and the Lion".

If Saturday evening was any indication, Celebration '81 will be a great success.

WE WERE INVITED.
