Opening lead — king of diamonds.

Things are not always what they appear to be; in fact, they are sometimes the opposite of what the circumstances seem to indicate.

Here is a hand where these sentiments apply. Let's say you have the West hand and are defending against four spades. You lead the king of diamonds on which East plays the deuce and South the seven.

Looking only at dummy's hand and your own, what should you play next?

If you continue with the ace of diamonds, which would seem to be the natural thing to do, declarer makes the contract with ease, but if you should be sufficiently inspired to lead a low diamond, say, the nine, South would go down. Your partner would win with the queen and return a heart, bless him, and that would knock South out of the box.

Now how are you supposed to know that a low diamond at trick two, not the ace, is the winning play? Actually, it is the right play, but it takes a few mental gyrations to reach this conclusion.

The only thing you have to do is interpret the meaning of the deuce of diamonds. Ordinarily, a deuce means stop playing the suit, but with so few diamonds out, this meaning cannot be attributed to it.

East is bound to have the singleton deuce or the Q-2. With no other holding could East sensibly play the two on the king. Thus, if he had the 10-2, he would play the ten in order to show a doubleton and try to get a ruff.

Since East is pretty much restricted to these two holdings, no harm can come from underleading the ace at trick two. If East has no more diamonds, he will ruff and make the obvious heart return, while if he has the queen, he will likewise win the trick and return a heart.

The deuce in this case does not mean that it appears to say.

First Offenders Treatment Said Blot On Culture

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) Justice Minister Favreau said here the treatment in Canadian courts of first offenders is a "distressing" blot on our culture.

Addressing a group of probation officers here, he said Canada's correctional services have been in some respects "shockingly backward."

British Jurist Lord Denning had expressed astonishment last month, while attending meetings of the Canadian Bar Association, at the fact "in certain Canadian provinces, probation is virtually unknown."

Mr Favreau said "the record of sentencing practices throughout Canada, indeed, is scarcely more encouraging.

After outlining some steps forward in the penal system during the last 10 years, Mr Favreau said "our system of correction still bears many blemishes from the past incompatible with the lofty ideals of modern penology."

BLOTS ON CULTURE

None of these blots upon our culture is more distressing than our treatment of first offenders.

In dealing with our first offenders "our system tends to forget that the delinquent is not merely an evil being to be purged but in great part a sick person to be pitied.

ENDORSES GOLDWATER

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP)—The Savannah Morning News endorsed Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater in a front-page editorial Sunday. The editorial said: "Senator Barry Goldwater, of the two candidates, offers the wholesome restraint necessary for Americans to put their government into its proper and traditional perspective."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
