THE DAILY EXAMINER

NOVEMBER 16, 1892.

Alexander McDonald, Esquire.

At his residence, Glenroy, Lot 37, on Wednesday, 2nd November, inst., at the ripe old age of 85 years, Alexander McDonald, Esq., passed out of this life. Deceased was born at St Peter's Lake, and early in life married Jane, sister of the late Bishop McDonald, by whom he had a numerous family, six of whom survive him. He was specially noted for his generous hospitality and his great charity towards the poor. No person in poverty or distress was ever refused an entrance to his house or left it in need of anything in his power to bestow. During his earlier years he led an active life being engaged in shipbuilding and farming besides taking a deep interest in education and everything he considered a public benefit. In his death another and familiar link has been severed from the chain connecting the past with the present generation. As a testimony of respect to his memory a large concourse of relatives and friends from all sections of the surrounding country accompanied his remains, on the morning of Friday, the 4th inst., to the beautiful church at St. Andrew's, where a Pontifical High Mass de requiem was celebrated by His Lordship Bishop McDonald, with Monsignor James McDonald, brother of the deceased, as High Priest, his son, the Rev. Donald Francis McDonald, as Deacon, and the Rev. Peter Curran as Sub-Deacon, with the Rev. J. J. McDonald as master of ceremonies, the Rev. Allan J. McDonald and the Rev. R. J. Gillis being also in attendance. At the conclusion of the funeral services his remains were quietly laid in their last resting place in St. Andrew's Cemetery.

Echoes.

Toronto Globe: The English papers are expressing considerable satisfaction at the defeat and condemnation of McKinleyism. Our English friends are perhaps expecting too much from the change which has come over the minds of the American people. To be sure, the McKinley bill has proved disastrous to some English industries that were afflicted by its operation.

The Philadelphia Times, a leading Democratic paper, says:—"Let no one assume that the election of Cleveland can cause a violent shock to any of the legitimate industries or enterprises of the country."

The Empire: Let Grits who are talking about an American victory for free trade and a coming Canadian one for their lifetime, remember that the Canadian National Policy embraces a tariff one-half as high as the American, and is designed primarily and principally to protect our producers against overwhelming competition, whilst guarding our consumers against the greed of combined capital in the shape of huge trusts and monopolies.

It will not pass unnoticed in Canada that the condition of things from which the United States people have revolted is precisely the conditions to which our Grit friends desire to subject us. They declared that the Canadian farmer must have the sixty million market, and they were never able to deny one—but only one—of the most serious obstacles to their policy, namely, that to obtain that market the Canadian duties would have to be raised at the Atlantic seaboard to the level of McKinley. In no sense was McKinleyism reasonable protection, yet such was the incapacity of the Grit leaders to shape a sound policy for the country that they were actually prepared to go in for McKinleyism sooner than lose their cherished fad.

Personal.

Sir Julian Paucotote, British Minister to Washington, arrived at New York on the 11th inst., and was forthwith interviewed. He declined to be drawn into United States politics and—bearing in mind the case of Lord Sackville-West—was non-committal generally.
 Mr. Fisher, ex-M. P. for Broms, belongs to a party whose leaders allege upon every possible occasion that the Canadian farmers are going headlong to ruin. This same Mr. Fisher, however, is president of a Sheffield cheese syndicate, and in a speech the other day declared that 1,200 tons of cheese had been made by this syndicate in the county of Sheffield during the past season, the same having brought $200,000 in hard cash into the county of Sheffield.

The historic old building in Quebec occupied by Montcalm during the siege has been destroyed by fire. The pressure of a utilitarian and un sentimental age has reduced or elevated it to a barber shop. It is to be regretted that this relic of the events that turned the tide of history in the North American continent could not have been preserved for its historic worth.
 The new Duke of Marlborough is described as a clever student, a good cricketer, a polo player and a rider to hounds. That gives a good basis as well as a good promise for an improvement.

Made to Order.—We are offering special inducements in custom made clothing. Our stock is one of the largest in town, and workmanship second to none. Have you seen our beautiful overcoats made to order for $10—D A Bruce. nov15

Advices from Brazil emphatically deny the reports of a serious outbreak in Rio Grande of Sul.

FOR OVER FIFTY YEARS Mrs. Winsloe's Soothing Syrup has been used by millions of mothers for their children while cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best-known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winsloe's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. lyr

Brackley Beach in the Chill November Days.

Most of THE EXAMINER'S city readers know something of the beauty of Brackley Beach as it appears in the scorching days of July and August, but the least, we think, have walked the (once) drifting sands at this season of the year and watched the angry billows as they come tumbling landward. Three of our young city bloods, being anxious to see what effect the cold weather had on these renowned bathing grounds, planned a tramp to the Sea View Hotel. At an early hour some few days ago these individuals (strangely attired) might have been seen making a bee line for the north, their long swinging gait indicating that more than a three-mile saunter was intended. P. E. Island roads at this season of the year are, say the least, nothing to brag about; but Brackley Point Road being of a sandy nature very soon absorbs all moisture, and on the day spoken of was in a fair condition.

Even at this late season the scenery along this line of road is very interesting. Where a short time ago all was green and soothing to the eye, now everything has donned a more sombre color, and brown seeds everywhere to abound. To be sure, the foliage is missing, but even bare tree limbs, bushes and hedges have a charm for some minds.

After dodging an occasional mud hole, and fighting through one or two snow squalls, the party arrived at the Houston House, or Sea View Hotel, being three and one-half hours on the way.

As ever, Mrs. Houston is the courteous, kind hostess, and gave a hearty welcome to the boys. After some talk and a wash, dinner was announced, and to our hungry travellers this proved to be a meal fit for a king; indeed, one must take a walk as this to thoroughly enjoy a North Shore "goose dinner."

This hotel is already undergoing repairs and alterations for the benefit of next summer's visitors. A fine large verandah is being added to the front or southern side of the building, and not only will it add much to the appearance of the house, but will be a real boon to the many pleasure-seekers in the hot days to come.

After dinner, a five-mile walk on the beach was indeed invigorating. How changed is everything here now. The light drifting sand, all water-soaked and heavy, has lost much of its beautiful coloring; the crowds of surly-making children, both young and old, where are they? Not a soul in sight, and for miles of shore not a living thing to be seen, except occasionally a large gull or two. But the sea—what a change is here. The beautiful blue has all disappeared, and instead angry-looking grey-green, but still white-capped waves, are ever rolling shoreward. The party did not bathe. One would, but forgot his towels; another dipped his hand in the foaming sea, but quickly withdrew it and used a grimace, whereon all three agreed that it was too cold for a dip.

How quiet everything is except the sea; nothing breaks the silence but old ocean's moan. Now and then can be heard the hurried quack of the black duck and the call of the wild goose as they take their flight to warmer shores; but the sun has gone down and darkness is fast creeping on. Again our faces are turned homeward.

The people of these parts are much interested in fox hunting at present. A few days since, a party of thirty turned out with guns of all descriptions and scoured the woods and sand hills for miles, but no Reynard made his appearance to gladden their hearts and the tired hunters returned without a "brush."

After a tea such as only Mrs. Houston knows how to get up, a pipe smoked while sitting at a hardwood fire, and listening to music rendered by the musicians of the party was soothing in the extreme; then to bed and to sleep—real sleep, such as few since, a party of thirty turned out with guns of all descriptions and scoured the woods and sand hills for miles, but no Reynard made his appearance to gladden their hearts and the tired hunters returned without a "brush."

CURED BY THREE BOTTLES!

MR. B. T. ELWELL, FORMERLY OF PATENT, AROOSTOOK COUNTY, ME., BUT FOR THE LAST THREE YEARS LIVING AT ROCKLAND, ME., NO. 5 JUNIPER ST., WRITES:

GENTS.—I am now 79 years of age.

For six years, have been afflicted with inflammation of neck of bladder and enlargement of Prostate Gland. For six years, have been afflicted with irregular action of the bowels, alternating between Diarrhoea and extreme Constipation. For two years the Constipation has been so great, that for five or six days I have had no action of the bowels at all. I have been a great sufferer from indigestion with no appetite. Within fifteen minutes after taking food into the stomach, it would become strongly acid with extreme burning sensation, and no action of the stomach was ever. Previous to taking SKODA'S DISCOVERY and SKODA'S LITTLE TABLETS, I had taken many "THAN" remedies, including one-half course of Dr. FERRY and SKODA'S LITTLE TABLETS, but a few days before I felt a decided change. I have now taken one-half course (three bottles), and have a fine appetite; the least distress or swelling after eating, bowels regular in action every day, and food tastes as good to me as when a boy; my bladder trouble has entirely disappeared. I have now experienced so much of a great change that I feel it my duty to testify to the wonderful effects of your remedies.

Very truly yours, B. T. ELWELL.
