activities and get ready for the polling expected next fall. One job of the Advisory Council will be to choose a new federal president to succeed Senator J. Gordon Fogo, who died last summer. It has been reported the post will go to Duncan K. MacTavish, 53-year-old Ottawa lawyer. Acting president is Allan J. Woodrow of Toronto. In a pre-meeting statement, he said: "I believe this will be one of the most important conferences of the Advisory Council in the history of the Liberal Party. There will be a very complete discussion of the important issues of the day." All members of the cabinet in the capital are expected to take part in the sessions. Prime Minister

Islander Returns From Attending Trade Union Convention In Britain

Back from attending the British Trade Union Congress convention in Margate, England, where he represented one-half million members in the Trades and Labor Congress (T. C. L.) of Canada, Mr. Ken Green, Canada's only fraternal delegate from the T. L. C. of Canada, arrived on Prince Edward Island Saturday night from England via New York, with his wife, who accompanied him on his two month visit to Great Britain.

After a short visit with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Green, of Albany, P. E. I., he left yesterday to return to his home in Halifax.

In an interview with a Guardian representative, Mr. Green outlined events at the British Trade Union Congress and described his visit to many interesting places in England and Scotland.

The five day conference held at Margate, a large summer resort, from September 1st to 5th inclusive, was attended by more than 900 delegates from the British trade unions. 1200 observers also attended from trade unions and companies in many European countries, from Nigeria and two fraternal delegates from American Federation of Labor (A. F. L.).

In discussing what took place at the convention, Mr. Green said the domestic and foreign policy as pertaining to the labor movement in the British Isles is formulated and finalized at this convention.

One of its significant aspects, he said, was the realistic and progressive outlook of the labor movement in general in relation to the economic future of the country.

B. T. N. Congress
He said that the British Trades Union congress and its rank and file members have played a very important part in the economic recovery and development of the country since the last war.

The realistic approach to the monetary exchange position and the economic future of England was emphasized by the approach of labor to the matter of wages. Generally, he said, it was agreed that any drive would be made at this time for an all out wage increase.

The delegates also turned down a bid by certain elements to have the T. U. C. endorse a resolution carrying a veiled threat of general strike.

Another significant development from the convention was a strong appeal for the Labor Government to replace the present Conservative Government. Apparently the greatest present fear of the T. U. C. is rising prices brought about chiefly, according to the delegates, by the government's policies in respect to price controls, subsidies, and rationing.

The convention went on record as strongly opposing any effort of the present government to de-nationalize any of the nationalized industries, such as steel and transportation. The de-nationalization of transportation seems also to be feared, he said, by the Chamber of Commerce, which went on record as strongly opposing any move in this direction, and offering full support of the T. U. C. stand in this matter.

Speaking of the conference generally, Mr. Green said, that both he and Mrs. Green were very much impressed with the display of democracy in action at the T. U. C. conference. He said a polite hearing was extended to those suspected of being, at least, fellow travellers of the communist line.

In The Open
Mr. Green said that the attitude of the conference would seem to be "We want these people out there in the open where we can hear what they are saying, guess what they are thinking, see what they are doing, and plan our own efforts to defeat them on every front."

Prepare For Poppy Campaign

A meeting of the poppy campaign committee under the chairmanship of Comrade Harry Daley took place in the Summerside Canadian Legion headquarters on Friday evening. Keen enthusiasm was expressed by the canvassers, many of whom have already completed their list with most gratifying results. Comrades Bob Clark, Wilfred Boyle, Roland Phillips, George Peters and Percy Ramsay reported a substantial increase over last year's returns, while other comrades present fully anticipated "over the top" results before the campaign closes.

"The need is very great," chairman Daley said, "the demands on the poppy fund have been increasingly greater with each passing year." Comrade Daley made it clear that the Poppy Fund does not provide a regular source of assistance, but it does enable help to be given quickly in emergencies. He went on to point out that while the Poppy Fund is a national appeal, the money raised in Summerside is used to help needy veterans and their dependants locally and does not go into a common national fund.

The chairman also stated that Poppy Day giving was a way that all the people in the community could give expression to the memory of sacrifice and unselfishness of those who served Canada in the time of war.

Painting Arouses Great Interest In Alberton Area

"Refracting For The Races" is the title of a painting recently completed by Hubert Rogers, Alberton-born artist, who has spent the past summer near his childhood home in Vermont. Mr. Rogers was commissioned by the Canadian Club of New York City to paint for them a typical Island scene. For this painting Mr. Rogers has chosen a scene at Alberton harbour and his work has aroused great local interest.

In response to popular request this painting will be on exhibition at the Alberton Public Library Thursday afternoon from 2:30 P.M. to 5:30 P.M. when all who wish to view it will have opportunity to do so. In the near future the painting will be forwarded to New York where it will hang in the quarters occupied by the Canadian Club in the Waldorf Astoria.

N. S. C.C.F. Party Elects Officers

SPRINGHILL, N. S., Oct. 6 (CP) - Michael MacDonald, legislator from Reserve Mines, was elected provincial leader of the C. C. F. party in Nova Scotia at the closing session Saturday of the 12th conference of the Nova Scotia branch.

Donald Nicholson, Stellarton union leader, was re-elected provincial president.

The convention passed resolutions calling for such widely-diverged objectives as nationalization of the coal industry, a national health plan, a provincial public car insurance program for Nova Scotia, stabilized farm prices, substantial increases in teachers' salaries, vocational centres set up by the provincial government, public ownership of electric power, a provincial housing program, equal pay for equal work and adoption of the trade union act of Saskatchewan in this province to replace the present Nova Scotia trade union act.

Officers elected include Rev. J. W. A. Nicholson, Halifax, and D.N. Brodie, Glace Bay, veteran Nova Scotia socialist, as honorary presidents; Robert Crosby, first vice-president; Lloyd R. Shaw, second vice-president; Mille Cvitkovick, third vice-president; Claire Gillis, M.P., and Ralph Loomer, Falmouth, as National Council members. Mrs. Florence E. Welton was named provincial secretary-treasurer.

OSTER BED BRIDGE W. I.
The Oyster Bed Bridge Women's Institute met for the October meeting at the home of Mrs. Gordon Carr. The meeting opened by repeating the Creed in unison.

The minutes were adopted as read. Roll call was answered by six members, each paying 25 cents, which amounted to $1.75.

The treasurer reported $30.23 on hand. It was decided to send $5.00 to the Cancer Fund and to have the members bring their donations to the Orphanage Collection to the next meeting.

The Misses Hazel and Cora Matheson invited the members to their home for the next meeting, when Roll Call to be answered with membership fees. The meeting then adjourned and a delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

OTTAWA, Oct. 9 - (CP) - Most of the Transport Department's Special Projects Branch, drawing up plans for construction of the St. Lawrence seaway, will move to Montreal this month. About 10 engineers will be transferred from here between Oct. 20 and the end of the month, officials said. Guy Lindsay, director of the branch, is remaining here with a small staff.

Fertilizer - Laden Steamer At Summerside

S. S. Fana is seen entering port at Summerside last week, carrying 3,000 long tons of semi-granulated super phosphate from Baltimore for the Canada Packers fertilizer plant at Summerside. Hampered by rain showers, men worked late into the night unloading the white powdery cargo. The ship finished unloading operations and sailed from Summerside yesterday. Also seen in the photo are two Summerside yachts that could frequently be seen cruising under full sail about the Summerside harbor and to points on the mainland during the summer months. Former S. S. Troopers Cheer Anti-Allied Speech

VERDEN, Germany, Oct. 26 - (AP) - Four thousand former members of Hitler's S. S. (Elite Guard) cheered General Hermann Ramecke here today as he accused Allied soldiers of war crimes and demanded the release of all "so-called German war criminals."

(Reuters said Ramecke's speech was punctuated with shouts of "Eisenhower, filthy swine." Eisenhower was Supreme Allied Commander in Europe at the end of the Second World War.)

The S. S. troopers assembled in this 1,200-year-old city for the first big post-war reunion.

Ramecke, a paratroop general and one of the most popular German wartime leaders, told the S. S. men they had been fighting for their fatherland as well as any other German soldiers and that therefore, "all defamation of their honor must stop."

All those Allied officers and soldiers who bombed German cities are also war criminals," Ramecke said.

"If our soldiers are convicted as war criminals then it was also a war crime when the Allies bombed unprotected German cities and when the Allies now invent atom bombs," Ramecke said.

He urged S. S. troopers not to take up arms again in any cause as long as Germans still were held in allied prisons.

Ramecke himself was released last year from a French war crimes prison.

Former S. S. General Felix Steiner summoned reporters after the meeting and hastily told them Ramecke was a guest speaker and that the other S. S. veterans refused to identify themselves with his allegations.

Earlier, Steiner had urged his men at the rally to support plans for a United Europe.

Stevenson Sees Solution To Korean War In Moscow

Canadian Press Staff Writer By R. J. Anderson
NEW YORK, Oct. 26 - (CP) - The root of the Korean problem, says Adlai E. Stevenson, "lies in Moscow."

In a week-end of political sniping as the United States presidential election of 1952 drove toward its climax the Democratic presidential candidate thus replied to the announced plan of his Republican opponent, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, to seek in Korea some way to end the war.

The sharp-tongued Illinois Governor was derisive in a speech at Boston Saturday night of Eisenhower's intention, announced in Detroit Friday night, that, if elected, he would seek in Korea an "early and honorable end" to the war. Said Stevenson:

"The General has announced his intention to go to Korea. But the root of the Korean problem does not lie in Korea. It lies in Moscow. If the purpose of the General's trip is to settle the Korean war by a larger military challenge, then the sooner we all know about it the better."

The week-end was quiet on the hustings. Eisenhower abandoned the campaign trail temporarily to spend Saturday in New York City at a football game, with a plug for votes here and there, and Stevenson went to Boston for a major address.

In Derisive Speech
A special committee has raised $78,000 to cover expenses by selling $50-a-plate tickets to the dinner where the Wisconsin Senator, himself an issue in the campaign because of his Communist-in-government charges, will speak. It was announced that neither Eisenhower nor the Republican national committee is sponsoring or paying for any part of the half-hour broadcast.

Review Trend
As both sides prepared for the last, hard week of the campaign an Associated Press survey of political trends as of mid-October reported that newspaper editors and writers across the country thought Eisenhower was ahead then. But the editors said many voters apparently still had not made up their minds, making it necessary to rate the outcome Nov. 4 as "close and uncertain."

ers the upper hand for keeps. Only brilliant work by goalie Terry Sawchuck held the score down. The Red Wing netminder, beaten 9-0 Saturday night in Montreal, made 37 saves.

Stoddard clinched the game shortly after the final period began. Jim Conacher fired at point blank range but Sawchuck cleared away the rebound into the unprotected left side of the net.

The Wings counter-attacked furiously. Lindsay missed an open net but Alex Delvecchio managed to poke one home to narrow the gap with only four minutes left. Howe almost tied it up in the last minute but Worsley made a fine stop on his blazer from the left side.
