TALENT SHOWCASE A BRIGHT FILM PACKAGE OF CANADIAN MUSICAL STARS: Canada's stage and radio artists are among the world's finest, but few Canadians ever get to see them in action. Now at last, here's a small sampling from the bright array of Canadian musical talents presented for the benefit of all Canada in a glittering "Talent Showcase" Now at the Prince Edward Theatre.

Step up to the concert grand, folks, while Saskatchewan's Neil Chotem transforms the intricacies of Bach into the bounciest of boogie. Then listen as the Commodores raise four male voices in harmony to recount how old "Joshua Fit the Battle of Jericho." The mood changes abruptly as new Canadian Andree Lesco croons "Erzuli O", a haunting Creole lament from her native island of Haiti. As the final notes fade, the joint commences jumping again to the rhythm of "How High the Moon" with comely Ann Somers doing the vocal wandering and Maestro Chotem—this time sans white tie and tails—titillating the ivories.

The first movie round-up of Canadian talent comes to a close with Winnipeg's lovely Gisele—now starring in the Bob Crosby Show—singing "Black is the Color of my True Love's Hair", a quality ballad rendered in a style to make all Canadians proud of their own Talent Showcase!
