Charlottetown's Mayor Extends Best Wishes

"It gives me sincere pleasure as your Mayor to extend to you my best wishes on this holiday season and to hope for you the happiest New Year you could have," Mayor Walter J. Cox said last night in a New Year's message to the citizens of Charlottetown.

"Last February you honored me with the post I now hold and as 1965 draws to a close I can look back on a year which saw our city make great strides on the road to progress. We all join, I am sure, in wishing for Charlottetown the place it deserves in the Canadian scene and for its people the part they have earned in the Canadian way of life.

"My earnest hope is that the coming year will bring to the city and to all its people the prosperity and happiness so richly deserved. And so to all of you I say a Happy New Year."

Queens MP Welcomes New Year With Hope

"Although under the aegis of a United Nations resolution, 1965 was proclaimed as International Cooperation Year, there were many threats to the peace in the last 12 months," Heath Macquarrie, MP for Queens, said last night in a New Year's message.

"Bitter warfare between Pakistan and India erupted on more than one occasion, opening the danger of wider and more painful involvement. In the Dominican Republic a war of major proportion was averted. In Southeast Asia the stalwart and heroic stand of the United States and South Viet Nam prevented the success of the communist incursion, but the price in blood and sacrifice is ever mounting as is the danger of escalation of the scope and range of the conflict.

"The bitterness of centuries erupted in Cyprus and only the exertion of a few United Nations members prevented a major explosion. In Rhodesia events moved to a crisis which threatened the stability of that unhappy country, the peace of the African Continent, and the continuity of the Commonwealth.

"But while tensions abounded and confrontation sometimes turned to conflict the fragile peace was maintained and a world-wide holocaust avoided. The United Nations, immobilized for so much of the year, was able to re-activate itself in the closing months of 1965. Canada continues to bear a worthy share of international responsibility and in Cyprus and many other danger areas Canadian young men stand firm in holding the line for peace. As the year closes, major diplomatic efforts towards lessening the danger of full scale war are in progress. All men of Good Will wish for the success of such endeavours.

"While in Canada we faced again the familiar threats to our unity and stability the year closes with at least some progress being made toward better understanding between our founding races.

"Happily our national economic prosperity continues as do efforts within our Atlantic region to better our position both relatively and absolutely.

"Of all the land and all parts of our own land, Prince Edward Island continues to be among the most blessed. We can all greet 1966 with good hopes and good will.

"To all Islanders and especially those of Queens County, I extend warm good wishes for health, success and happiness in the New Year."

Appointment To Senate Is Delayed

OTTAWA (Special) — Prince Edward Island's senate vacancy will not be filled for some weeks yet, Prime Minister Pearson announced at a press conference here Wednesday.

Questioned about the fact that there are 12 vacancies in the senate at present, including the one on the Island caused by the resignation of Senator Thomas V. Grant, Mr. Pearson said he will not make any senatorial appointments until after the votes of confidence are taken on the throne speech debate in the Commons.

S'side Mayor Has Greetings

SUMMERSIDE — The Mayor of Summerside, George A. Key, has extended to all citizens "best wishes for happiness and contentment during 1966."

In a statement he noted the year just ending has been quite unique in the fact that the administration of Summerside has been under the jurisdiction of two mayors due to the resignation in August of Mayor W. E. Jenkins, through illness and the subsequent election of himself by acclamation.

The year 1965 has enabled the Council members to bring to fulfillment many of its earlier plans of raising essential municipal services to the standards required of an ever-growing community. Certification of which is evidence by the total value of building permits issued during 1965 of over $2,500,000.

Mayor Key stated that during his short term in office and with the co-operation of the members of the Council, many requirements director for Confederation Center will handle the commentary. The technician is Doug Wood.

Immediately following, the CBC radio network will carry another program from Charlottetown entitled "One Year From Tonight." This program will examine Prince Edward Island's plans for centennial year. It was taped previously in the Confederation Chamber.

Four immigrants from the Netherlands received Canadian citizenships at a citizenship ceremony in Queens County Court before Judge C. St. Clair Trainor yesterday afternoon.

Present for the ceremony were Albert Dennis, clerk of the county court and Rev. John G.E. Ball, representative of the Canadian Bible Society.

To be eligible for Canadian citizenship, a person must be a resident of Canada for five years, who is fit and proper to accept the responsibilities of Canadian citizenship.

Those applicants who received citizenship certificates were Jacob Bondt, Sophia Elizabeth Bondt and Daniel Bondt, members of a family who reside in Kingston, P.E.I., and Gerrit Kuipers, also from the Netherlands, who resides at Stanley Bridge.

EARLIER CEREMONY

town is now studying for a doctor's degree in New Brunswick. He was principal of St. Jean's Elementary School.

Mr. Morrison is married to the former Benita Priscilla Binns of Charlottetown. Judge Trainor, in speaking to the new citizens after the citizenship ceremony, said "the wish I have for you today is that you become great citizens of Prince Edward Island and of Canada. It is not big things that make a country great but the little everyday things done by individuals in a society that makes a great nation."

Car Stolen, Recovered

A late model Chevrolet car was stolen from in front of the Basilea Recreation Centre at approximately 8:45 last night. Sergeant Keith Wakelin and Constable Robert Crockett of the city police force were out on routine patrol and discovered the vehicle at the Yacht Club wharf. It had a quantity of groceries in it, but nothing was missing.

A juvenile was apprehended in connection with the theft and a spokesman for the police said last night he will appear in juvenile court.

A 1964 Ford owned by Keith Hooper, reported stolen from 41 Summer Street on Tuesday, hadn't been recovered at press time. The car is blue in color and bears New Brunswick license plates.

Including this car, the city police have received 16 stolen car reports this month.

New Bible School Scheduled To Be Opened In Sherwood

A new venture in Christian education will open in the Sherwood Elementary school building this coming Sunday morning. The Central Christian Church of Charlottetown is sponsoring the opening of a Sunday Bible School for that area. The first service will be at 9:45 a.m. on the first Sunday of the new year.

Sherwood is one of the fastest growing communities on Prince Edward Island with a large number of new families moving into the area each year. Already living in Sherwood and vicinity are a good number of the members of the local Christian church, including two elders and several Bible school teachers.

A number of people from the Central Church have been working on this project for some time, studying the area and its spiritual needs. They have obtained a staff of Bible School teachers and officers who will be welcoming all who care to attend on Sunday morning. Graded classes are being set up, from the primary children through the adults. For the present only the Bible school service will be conducted on Sundays from 9:45 until 10:45 a.m. In a couple of weeks a Bible study and prayer meeting group will be organized to be held on Wednesday evenings in the different homes in the Sherwood community.
