Ch'town Library Featuring Interesting Display Of Books

In conjunction with Young Canada's Book Week which is currently in progress, the Charlottetown Library is featuring a large display of books suitable to boys and girls of all ages.

This is the 11th year that the Canadian Library Association has sponsored Book Week throughout P.E.I. as well as all across Canada libraries and book shops are ready to help boys and girls become more informed about books and reading.

Patroness of Young Canada's Book Week is Dr. Hilda Neatby, head of the department of history at the University of Saskatchewan, who in her Book Week message said: "Young Canada's Book Week is dedicated to the mission of making good books better known to all young Canadians and to their elders."

Charlottetown librarian Miss Jean Gill urged everyone to visit the city library and see the display of children's books. "A visit to the library gives everyone a chance to become informed about the many fine books available for children," she said.

As in previous years the library is distributing to the boys and girls gay and attractive book marks which carry a selective list of books for children of all ages.

First Baptist Church Filled To Hear Evangelist Preach

A congregation which filled the main body of the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church of Charlottetown listened last evening as the evangelist, the Rev. Edgar J. Bailey spoke on the matter of possessing assurance of eternal salvation.

The service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. H. L. Mitton, and music was provided by the senior choir under the direction of Mrs. V. Leigh Dingwell with Mrs. Ronald Atkinson at the piano. One of the most helpful parts of the services has been the congregational singing to organ-piano accompaniment.

Mr. Mitton welcomed members of other communions to the service, as well as acknowledging the presence of the following groups: the Senior Women's Missionary Society, the Dr. Zella Clark Mission Circle, the Fern Levy Guild and the Kaye Lockwood Guild, and the 4th Charlottetown Boy Scout Troup (First Baptist).

Mr. Mitton spoke appreciatively concerning the visible response to the proclamation of the Gospel by the evangelist, and reminded the congregation that only three evenings remain before the mission ends.

During the question-and-answer period, Mr. Bailey was questioned concerning the doctrine of the trinity. This unique part of the service affords the evangelist the opportunity of a teaching ministry. Mr. Mitton explained that such questions for discussion must be in his hands by noon of the day of meeting.

Speaking on the subject, "This I Know," Mr. Bailey declared that man can be saved through the power of Jesus Christ, and, further, that he can know that the work of divine grace has begun in his life. "It is this certainty," he said, "which is the anchor and rock of our faith."

Prior to his sermon, Mr. Bailey sang with great feeling the selection by Marguerite Radclyffe-Hall, "The Blind Ploughman." Also heard as soloist during the evening was Mrs. C. T. Vallis.

Mr. Bailey's subject for this evening will be, "Starting The Christian Life." Rev. Robert Latimer, associate minister of Trinity United Church, will be guest soloist.

LOCAL BRIEFS

CARD PARTY WINNERS

The winners of the card party held by the Basilica Mothers Auxiliary last night were: Ladies' first, Mrs. Frank Doyle; second, Mrs. Melvin Burns; men's first, John Haggerty; second, Frank Doyle; freeze-out, Mrs. Leo Dowling and Harry Hughes; consolation, Clement Wynne and Mrs. Leo Dowling; door prize, John Haggerty.

SIGN MOVED

A resident of the Brighton area was startled last night when driving home to find a large hole in the street right in front of her car lights. She managed to stop in time as her car bogged down in soft mud. Apparently a detour or warning sign has been moved to face in another direction on Riverview Drive.

STORE HOURS

The Charlottetown Retail Druggists Association met Monday night at the YMCA with the vice-president Sid Stead as chairman.

Store hours for the month of December were discussed and a schedule adopted to the satisfaction of all present.

The next meeting of the Association will take place in January and will be a dinner meeting.

WORD RECEIVED

Mrs. V. S. MacWilliams of Charlottetown has received the news of the death of her brother Lester G. Bowman at his home in New Westminister, B. C. Survivors include his wife, the former Maude Younker, Kingston, P.E.I., four daughters and three sons. There are also three sisters Mrs. J. R. Clark, Beechy, Sask., Mrs. Arthur Henderson, Downers Grove, Illinois and Mrs. MacWilliams of Charlottetown. Burial took place in New Westminster.

Douglas Jung Arrives For YPC Meeting Here

Douglas Jung, national president of the Young Progressive Conservatives, arrived by plane last night to attend the annual meeting of the P. E. Island YPC at the Charlottetown hotel this afternoon.

Mr. Jung retires from office the last of this month at the end of his two-year term. During it he said he travelled over 50,000 miles visiting various associations.

He remarked that a survey in 1958 showed 94 YPC clubs in Canada while today there are over 150 ranging from Whitehorse in the Yukon to St. John's, Nfld. Mr. Jung said this "tremendous expansion is due the encouragement given young Conservatives by Prime Minister John Diefenbaker".

In this connection he noted that the present representation parliamentary representation includes 60 members under the age of 40. "We are very much the party of youth as our young men see there is now a real opportunity for them to render service to their country".

In telling of the extent of the growth of the clubs he noted that he had personally presented the charter to the Whitehorse group.

SHAW'S VICTORY

Asked how other parts of Canada reacted to the recent election victory of Premier Walter Shaw, Mr. Jung said "the result—here was greeted with jubilation in the party. Speaking as a British Columbian I think the victory in Prince Edward Island was an inspiration to us to accomplish the same thing in our province."

He believes the election result here which brought this province in line with Ottawa politically would let Prince Edward Island find a closer association existing there.

"Prime Minister Diefenbaker has in the House expressed deep sympathy for the special problems of the Atlantic Provinces and I think he will want to see that they receive their fair share of the country's prosperity", he stated.

Island

carried away and of making threatening statements that can only harm the cause. He decried work stoppages for slow-downs which, he said, would only tend to inconvenience and annoy the very people whose support they were seeking to obtain.

SAID MISLEADING

Mr. Easter declared that the statement of Finance minister Fleming that $242,000,000 would be required to implement the recommendations of the Commission was mis-leading and exaggerated. He contended that this figure contained approximately $75,000,000 allocated to the Armed Forces and the RCMP who were not Civil Servants, and further that $107,000,000 represented the Government's share of the cost of providing superannuation benefits for all three services, but that such an expenditure was not required in this fiscal year.

In referring to Mr. Fleming's statement that it was financially impossible for the Government to grant an increase at this time, the speaker quoted the two main principles as outlined by Prime Minister John Diefenbaker in determining the salaries in the service. First, the salary must be enough to do the job, and second, they must be fair as between Civil Servants and people outside the service.

"There is nothing in these prinicples which says anything about finances", the speaker maintained.

"In times of recession or depression the Civil servants did not look for a raise, but today, Canada's economy is booming and still we can not get a raise", he said.

"It would be interesting if someone would stand on his feet and tell us when we can get a raise", Mr. Easter declared.

He explained that a meeting was held after Parliament adjourned to discuss the Pay Research Bureau's findings and that still later the Finance Minister asked the Association officers to use restrictive influence on Civil Servants and request their members not to be impatient. "Then on the 13th day of October, 'Black Tuesday', we were called to his office and told that there would be no salary increases".

"We were all led up the garden path by Mr. Fleming, only to be thrown into the brambles in the end."

The speaker urged positive action by the members to ensure their feelings on the question would be made known to the members of Parliament and that they would talk to their friends and explain the cause.

Mr. Tombs said the meetings were of an informative nature to acquaint the public with the cause of the quarrel with the Government. He stated that the Government's decision was "based on expediency without justice or fairness".

He explained that the Commission was responsible to parliament and must make recommendations relative to Civil Service salaries. This was the first time that its recommendations had been flatly rejected, he declared, thus placing the Commission in an untenable position.

"As Civil Servants, we do not have any rights, only privileges, and are denied the right to bargain", he stated, and urged the members to make every effort to have a bargaining clause inserted in the new Act to be presented at the next session of Parliament.

Mr. Macquarrie said he was not empowered to speak for the Government, but expressed the view that the Government can not "a priori" accept the findings of the Commission. "Naturally you have a case", he told the meeting, "but we must think of the over-all financial structure". "One group", he said "cannot get complete priority." He disclaimed that there was any element of expediency in Mr. Fleming's decision not to grant salary raises and that there was any evidence of the Civil Service being arbitrarily or callously treated.

TONE PRAISED

He declared that he was happy to have received the information offered at the meeting and would regret to have the present Government become the "Bete-noir" of this dispute. He appreciated the tone of the meeting and that it was good for the members to get together to discuss the question.

Mr. MacDonald stated that he was gratified with the manner in which the Civil Servants were approaching the question, and that he was pleased to learn their side of the matter. He complimented the Civil Service in this province, as did Mr. Macquarrie, for their co-operation and willingness to give service to the public.

He explained that in attempting to find a solution to the question, the budgetary difficulties should be kpt in mind and that goodwill should prevail in seeking the answer.

At the conclusion of the meeting a vote of thanks was extended to the speakers by Sinclair MacLeod.

Free Church Congregations Honor Minister And Family

A representative number of the members and adherents of the Charlottetown, Stanchel, and Birch Hill congregations of the Free Church of Scotland in P.E.I., assembled on Monday evening, November 9th at the I.O.O.F. hall to honor Rev. and Mrs. J.H. Bishop and family, who are soon to leave for Port Arthur, Ont.

Gordon Ross, chairman of the evening's program, after a few remarks, called on Prof. Roy Campbell in behalf of the Charlottetown congregation to read an address, which expressed appreciation of the ministry of their pastor and the deep regrets at his departure.

Finley J. G. MacDougall, senior elder, made the presentation to Mr. Bishop of a well-filled purse.

On behalf of the Senior and Junior W.A. Miss Melda Ross presented Mrs. Bishop with two pictures of Island scenery; and Miss Brenda MacQuarrie and Roger Frizzell presented rings to Naomi Ruth and Alan George Bishop.

On behalf of the Stanchel congregation an address was read by Alex Aiken and presentation was made by Lester D. Cairns.

On behalf of the Birch Hill congregation remarks and presentation was made by Russel Jenkins.

The evening was spent socially and in tape recordings of remarks and sayings of those assembled. Refreshments were served by the ladies.

The social gathering was brought to a close by the singing of Psalm 23 and prayer by G.M. Grant.

AT TRYON

On Thursday evening, November 12th, members and adherents of the Cape Traverse congregation of the Free Church of Scotland, assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dawson, Tryon to honour Rev. and Mrs. J.H. Bishop and family.

E. C. Bell acted as chairman and after a few well chosen remarks called on Robert Carruthers, an elder of the Cape Traverse congregation, to give the address and to make the presentation of a purse of money to Rev. and Mrs. Bishop. Miss Bell made the presentation to the children, Naomi Ruth and Alan George.

Arthur Dawson, remarked on Mr. Bishop's ministry and on behalf of the congregation, expressed deep regrets at the loss which the church was having by Mr. Bishop's departure.

Rev. R.J. Murray, also spoke and the evening was spent in conversation and in tape recordings. Refreshments were served by the ladies.

Nurses Alumnae Hears Speaker

A talk on the preventive aspects of scarlet fever and poliomyletis by Miss Alice Trainor featured the regular meeting of the Nurses Alumnae of School of Nursing of the P.E.I. Hospital, Nov. 17.

The meeting was held in the Cundall Home presided over by Mrs. Anne Burhoe. Miss Janet Ives read the minutes of the last meeting. The next meeting will be held the third Tuesday in January.

Handicrafts made by the members were auctioned by Miss Bethia Tweedie and Mrs. Annie Willis. Luncheon was served by Miss Helen Crosby, Miss Ella Wood and Mrs. Audrey Tinney.

Teachers Hear Three Talks At Workshop

Spring Park School was the location of a workshop for the president, vice president and one other executive member from each of the Prince Edward Island teachers' federation's nine locals Saturday. All locals were represented.

The president of the federation, John Hughes of Montague presided at the two sessions.

Three outstanding leaders in the profession gave fine talks on three topics with which the locals' executives must deal. Miss Mabel Matheson, past president of the P.E.I. T.F. spoke on parliamentary procedure: Sister St. Lucius, past president of the Charlottetown urban local, spoke on program planning and Mrs. Marjorie Dover, first vice president of the federation spoke on committees, salary, public relations and curriculum committee.

These talks were followed by discussion in smaller groups.

Mr. Hughes, spoke briefly, emphasizing the very important topic of ethics both within the federation and in public relations.

306 Donors Needed Today To Reach Red Cross Quota

Husbands and wives, fathers and sons, mothers and daughters, many new donors, whole families turned out "en masse" at yesterday's morning, afternoon and evening Red Cross blood donor clinics and brought the day's total to 486. This number, combined with Monday's response of 508 brought the total to date to 994 which is 19 over the objective set. At least 306 will be required at today's afternoon and evening sessions to bring Charlottetown's total to the desired 1,300.

Mrs. R.G. Fleming of North Rustico was one of the outstanding donors at yesterday's clinics. She was presented with her pin for 30 donations. Mrs. Fleming is one of the faithful donors who rarely misses reporting at a clinic and has made three donations during the past year, two at Charlottetown and one at North Rustico.

Major W.L. MacKinnon of Charlottetown, who is also a donor with more than 20 contributions to his credit, brought along his 18-year old son who has had cerebral palsy and is presently a high school student.

Representatives of St. Elizabeth's Aid of St. Vincent's Orphanage were the helpers at the afternoon clinic, while members of the St. Dunstan's Parish Council assisted the mobile blood donor team at the evening sessions. Local nurses and members of the Queen Charlotte High School Red Cross council were also among the efficient helpers at yesterday's clinics.

The times for the final sessions at the Community Centre today are between 2 and 4 this afternoon, and between 7 and 9 this evening when the objective is at least 306 donors.

Doctors Attend Health Talks

Dr. Burton Howatt, provincial health officer, and Dr. T. A. Laidlaw, chief of staff of the Prince Edward Island Hospital, left this week to attend the three-day national health conference being held at Civil Defence College, Arnprior, Ont.

While there they will discuss formulation of plans for protection against radiation in the event of nuclear warfare and also study the effects of radiation on the human body.

The two doctors, on their return, will be medical advisers to the civil defence headquarters in this province.

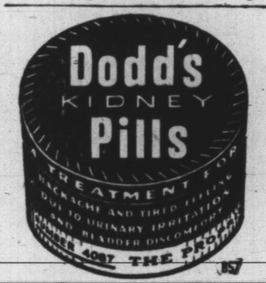
Trinity YPU Shown Movie

The Tuesday evening meeting of Trinity Young Peoples opened with a hymn-sing led by Hester MacPhee. The worship was conducted by Helen Bryan and Joyce MacKie.

After business a movie was shown on stewardship and training entitled "What's Your Opinion About Community Service," and a discussion followed.

The recreation was led by Joan Willis and Bonnie MacKie and the meeting concluded with Taps.



Texaco Gets First Cargo

The first tanker to bring supplies for the Texaco Company of Canada's new bulk storage plant in Charlottetown arrived in port shortly after midnight Tuesday from Montreal.

The MT "Birbranch" under the command of Capt. E. Desrosiers of Montreal, yesterday pumped 27,209 barrels of gasoline into one of the huge storage tanks, completing the job by 10 a.m.

Built by the Marine Industries Limited of Sorel, P.Q., in 1942, the ship, owned by the Branch Lines, is 252 feet long with a beam of 43.9 feet and gross tonnage of 2,404.

Single screwed, her 1,360 horse power Dominion Sailzer deisel engine operating at economical speed drives the ship along at a little better than 10 knots.

The Firbranch cleared from here shortly after 11 a.m. bound for Montreal to pick up a cargo of heating oils which is expected to be delivered here next Monday. To be delivered her next Monday. Her final call at Charlottetown for this year is estimated to be about Dec. 8.
