

FACT: According to an old wife's tale, if you have eyebrows that connect in the middle, you will be rich.

OPINION: If I were rich, I'd get a curse word shaved into my big eyebrow.

FACT: Shortly after the invention of the X-ray machine, con artists began selling X-ray-proof underwear.

OPINION: It takes a lot more than X-ray-proof underwear to keep people from staring at my package.

FACT: In 1966 pickle packers presented a giant 12-foot statue of a pickle nicknamed "Picklecasso" to the city of Chicago.

OPINION: A year later, a drunken Picasso presented his pickle to the city of Pictou while yelling, "Say hello to my little friend!"

FACT: In 1946, the first slinky was produced. Only 400 were made and sold out in one and a half hours at a department store in New York City.

OPINION: If people were that impressed with something stupid that can walk down stairs, they'd love my cousin, Rudy.

FACT: About 100 people die every year when their vehicles collide with animals.

OPINION: I once ran into a moose's rear end. It wasn't until then that I realized why that beer company is called Moosehead and not Big Ugly Ass of Moose.

FACT: In 1936, a car crashed in Connecticut when the driver discovered a mouse on his steering wheel.

OPINION: I drive with my cat in the car to avoid any problems with mice, but that doesn't solve my snake problem.

FACT: The first bubble gum, called Blibber Blubber, was a failure because it stuck to the skin.

OPINION: It also failed because it was made out of whale fat.

FACT: During the National Convention of the Democratic Party in 1924, the chairman's gavel came apart as he was using it to signal for order. The head of the gavel struck a delegate on the head and knocked him unconscious.

OPINION: At the Republican Convention, they just fire a shotgun in the air three times for order.

FACT: A shop called Deja Vu in Troy, New York was robbed twice by the same man.

OPINION: A shop called Deja Vu in Troy, New York was robbed twice by the same man.

FACT: In 1993, a burglar at a glue factory in Brazil was caught after he got stuck to the floor.

OPINION: The same thing happened to that guy who tried to rob a porno theater.

FACT: In 1965, two men in Cleveland ended up firing handguns at each other during an argument over an unpaid bill. One of the bullets from one gun traveled directly inside the barrel of the other gun, and the bullets fused together.

OPINION: That's just stupid. I would have aimed for the other guy's gonads before trying a tricky shot like that.

FACT: Contented cows give more milk.

OPINION: If I was a cow, the only way I would be content is if people stopped grabbing at my tits.

FACT: In a herd, some cows are more popular than others.

OPINION: Cows Ice Cream is popular because they found a way to sell people frozen cow sweat on a cone at the low, low price of five bucks.

FACT: Some cows dunk their hay in water before eating it.

OPINION: Others just rub it in their own filth, like at Cows Ice Cream, home of the fifty dollar milk shake.

FACT: On a British golf course in 1995, a golf ball hit off a tree, struck a sheep in the rear end and stuck.

OPINION: If I was a sheep, I'd rather have a golf ball stuck in my arse than a member of the Royal Family.

FACT: In 1995, a woman in Austria was killed when a bolt of lightning struck the reinforcing wire in her bra.

OPINION: Just to be safe, I think women should stop wearing undergarments and overgarments.

FACT: 7.5 million toothpicks can be made from one cord of wood.

OPINION: If I got wooden teeth, would I need to use a tooth pick made out of real teeth?

FACT: Modern lumbering can cut and strip a tree in less than a minute.

OPINION: You'd be surprised how many squirrels lose their limbs thanks to modern lumbering.

FACT: At least one elephant has been trained to water-ski.

OPINION: Most elephants are too modest to wear wet suits.

FACT: An elephant can sneeze with enough force to knock a dog unconscious.

OPINION: When an elephant farts, nobody is safe.

FACT: Four-wheel-drive vehicles are gradually replacing camels for transportation in the desert.

OPINION: A vehicle may get you from point A to point B, but a camel is the only form of transportation you can cuddle.

FACT: In Egypt, camels have been taught to clean windows by licking them.

OPINION: I once tried to clean my windows by downing a bottle of windex and licking the glass, but my tongue got cut because I forgot to remove the screen.

FACT: The cost of funerals is increasing faster than the rate inflation

OPINION: Inflation? No wonder funerals are so expensive, with the high cost of balloons and all.

FACT: They now make biodegradable coffins.

OPINION: I don't want no biodegradable coffin. When I die, I plan on doing as much damage to this planet as I can. It won't be my problem anymore.

By Stephan MacLeod

