Unions Having Women Troubles

TORONTO (CP)—Trade unions are having women troubles. They can't get the girls out to meetings.

At the 14th annual convention of the Canadian Congress of Labor in session here delegates tried to find a solution.

Winnipeg unionist Effie Richardson of the United Packinghouse Workers of America complained that, of the 90 women members of her local, only five turn up at meetings—"and only two ever do anything."

Mme. Blanche Robert of Montreal, secretary of Local 115, Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America said:

"Most girls don't think of their jobs as permanent and they feel the same way about unions."

Most delegates were against the fine system as a means of drawing in attendances. Too dictatorial, they said.

"If you have films or something to zip up the meeting you'll get a crowd," said Mrs. Margaret Thetford of the CCL Toronto education office.

Appointment of more women to working committees was suggested by Doreen McNichol of Winnipeg, who belongs to the office and professional workers' union.

"Get the women working and the union movement will grow on them," she said.

Gen. Taylor Flew To Taipeh For Talks

TAIPEH, (AP)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, commander of the United States 8th army in Korea, flew here today for high-level talks with Chinese Nationalist planes and ships pounded the Red China coast for the 25th straight day.

Taylor told reporters he would not have time to visit Quemoy, Nationalist island base off the China coast which has been the focal point of a "vest pocket war" since Sept. 3.

Soon after Taylor's plane landed here, the Nationalist air force said its planes sank 35 large and small motorized junks in the Quemoy area.

The defense ministry said planes and ships attacked Amoy, Communist base seven miles from Quemoy, and other strongpoints from which the Reds have been shelling the Nationalist island.

Taylor, who came here at the invitation of the Nationalist government, conferred soon after his arrival with President Chiang Kai-shek. It was their first meeting. There was speculation that the two discussed the fighting around Quemoy, but there was no official confirmation.
