

DECLARATION DAY.

At a quarter after nine o'clock last evening High Sheriff Longworth declared the candidates elect for Queen's County. In the Second District Messrs. McKay and Wise being equal, a number of special votes were objected to on both sides because they were not filled up and signed strictly according to law. After hearing argument from counsel for both McKay and Wise, Mr. Sheriff Longworth stated that he had decided to count all special votes that had been received in the regular way, either from the Sheriffs of other Counties or from the presiding officers of this County, provided that it appeared from the votes that the voter had done all that was necessary on his part to be done. Three of the jurats to the special votes were not signed by the Presiding officers, and he was asked on this ground to reject the votes. The Sheriff declined to do this because he must presume that these Presiding officers did their duty and did not take the votes without first administering the necessary oaths; and besides he had the Presiding officers' affidavits, which accompanied the special votes, that the oaths were duly administered to the voters. In addition he had the returns at the back of the poll books, which showed that these very votes had been duly given. But the Sheriff was of opinion that his duty in the present instance was ministerial and that was to add the special votes to the Poll Books, and he did not consider that he had any authority whatever to decide on the regularity of the votes when the mistakes complained of were those of his own officers, for whose conduct the Sheriff himself was responsible. Had the Sheriff thrown out the three votes referred to, McKay would have had a majority of one, and consequently would have been declared elected. Instead of this, he made the following special declaration: "In the Second Electoral District of Queen's County I return Donald Farquharson, being a candidate having the highest number of votes as duly elected as one member to represent the said District in the House of Assembly; and as to the second member to represent said District, inasmuch as Joseph Wise and Donald McKay have each an equal number of votes, I shall make such return as to the second member as by law I am authorized to make." Mr. Peters, on behalf of Mr. Wise, demanded a scrutiny, which the Sheriff granted, stating that he would meet the electors of the Second District at Milton at four o'clock this afternoon, for the purpose of proceeding with it. Mr. Peters, however, subsequently withdrew his demand for a scrutiny; and the matter rests, it being understood that the case will be carried to the Supreme Court.

The following is a statement of the votes at the various polls in King's County as declared by High Sheriff McDonald.

THE COLONIAL EXHIBITION.

British Hospitality--Fetes, Dances and Excursions.

ATTRACTIONS AT THE CANADIAN COURT.

New Openings for Trade.

(Special Correspondence of The Examiner.)

LONDON, June 28, 1886.

Colonists now visiting London are much feted. On Sunday there was a special service at St. Paul's especially for visitors, and on Wednesday night a special meeting of Empire Lodge of Freemasons, No. 2,108, was held at the Criterion, Piccadilly, to welcome the many Colonial brethren who are at present in the metropolis. Almost every race under the sway of the Queen was represented. On Thursday a Colonial fete was held in the Crystal Palace, ending with a grand display of fireworks.

On Friday night the grand event of the season took place, some 4,000 Colonials being entertained at the Guildhall by the Lord Mayor and Corporation of London. Dancing was kept up in the great hall till an early hour. Sir Charles and Lady Tupper, Sir Frederick Middleton, Sir A. T. Galt and other well known Canadians were present. A sprinkling of black and bronzed faces, coupled with striking Indian and Chinese costumes, gave marked variety to the throng. Uniforms were freely worn, the City authorities donned their most gorgeous robes, and the toilettes of the ladies were remarkable for their richness. Old Londoners pronounce the ball one of the best ever held in the Guildhall for very many years.

This week opens with a four days excursion, for which special invitations have been issued to a limited number of colonists. The trip covers the following: To Oxford, Leamington and Birmingham; by road to Warwick Castle, Guy's Cliff, Kenilworth, Stoneleigh Abbey, Stratford-on-Avon, Clifton House, and Charlecote Park. Lunch by the Mayor of Oxford; banquet and conversation by the Mayor of Leamington; lunch by Lord Leigh; lunch by Mayor of Stratford-on-Avon, returning to London on Dominion Day.

At the Exhibition, the Canadian Courts, are daily gaining in appearance, and about all the exhibits are now in place. The work of decorating the Courts is all done. It is only fair to Canada to say that some of the other Courts are not yet in full order, and that changes are being made daily in the Australian, Indian and New Zealand section. Canada shows up well in the Fine Art Gallery in Albert Hall. Prominent among her exhibit is that made by Robert Harris, whose pictures daily attract crowds of admiring visitors. It is really amazing to note how the attendance keeps up day after day, though as yet only a few excursions have come in from country districts. At an early date cheap excursions will be organized, so as to enable the rural portions of the dwellers in the British Isles to run up to London and see the great strides made by the Colonies in manufactures and arts, and also to examine for themselves the richness of Canada's agricultural products. While here and there one can see where an improved display might be made, yet as a whole I see little or nothing wanting in the courts of the Dominion. Some of our manufacturers have been slow to avail themselves of this grand opportunity to open up trade not only with England but also with far distant colonies, but the push shown by others is highly creditable to us as a people. In organs, pianos and sewing machines, Canadian exhibitors are doing a large and they say, lucrative trade. Our Indian goods sell like hot cakes, and large orders are coming in for furs, boats, mounted game, canoes, etc. Every facility is given for the exhibition of inventions, and Mr. Combs, formerly of P. E. Island, and now of St. John, runs a dozen or more articles that he believes will just suit the tastes and requirements of the British public.

My advice to every Colonist visiting London is to do the exhibition as fairly as possible. It takes three or four visits before one can master the details of this monster show, and then every hour it becomes more enjoyable and instructive. Early morning is the best time for sight seeing, as the courts are densely thronged in the afternoon and evenings; except Wednesday's, when the admission is put at 50 cents to keep out the common people. This is pure English style, you know, and for which the Colonial heads are not all responsible.

Consecration of St. Joachim's Church Bell.

On Sunday His Lordship the Bishop of Charlottetown, attended by Rev. Father Charles McDonald (St. Dunstan's), attended at Vernon River to consecrate the new bell lately procured for the handsome Church of that Parish. In the morning a gentle shower laid the dust, and many were present from the city and elsewhere, in addition to the usually large Parish congregation. The Church, which is the handsomest in the Province, presented a crowded appearance in honor of the occasion. The beloved Pastor of the Church—Rev. James Phelan—himself took up the collection, which was very liberal. Rev. Father Charles preached a practical and earnest sermon from the 160th psalm, 4th verse, and immediately after mass, at which he was celebrant, the consecration services were proceeded with. The consecration of the bell—the finest in the Province—took place immediately in front of the Church, where it had been specially placed. People of various denominations were present, and were evidently impressed by the beautiful and solemn ceremony which dedicates even the bell of a Catholic Church to the service of God.—Com.

"Dress!" exclaimed a Chicago girl. "It all depends on the way you swing it. That is the great secret after all. The English woman cannot swing it at all; the American woman swings it pretty well, but the average of a French woman is a problem."

Supreme Court.

July 12. Wm. L. ACOTT, appellant, and Geo. Jenkins, respondent—An action of trespass. The Court declared that there was a bona fide dispute as to the title of the lands, and gave judgment in favor of the appellant, without costs to either party. Davies for appellant; Morson and McLeod for respondent.

Scaforth AITKEN, appellant, and Geo. Jenkins, respondent—Same evidence, judgment and counsel as in the previous case. Several special cases were settled between the parties to the suits, and the Court adjourned, sine die.

The Fishery Matter.

The Montreal Gazette says: "The matter is really in a nutshell: Canada proposes to maintain her rights and protect the interests of her fishermen so long as the United States declines to enter upon reciprocal trade, and it is for the latter to determine the duration of the existing state of things."

Wiggins' Storm.

Prof. E. Stone Wiggins, the Canadian weather prophet, insists that the great storm he predicted for this fall will be on hand. He says he does not anticipate further great changes in the weather until the fall. September will open cold and stormy premonitory to his great storm on the afternoon of September 25th, and the great wave of elements will come as sure as the sun in heaven. It will be a storm of unparalleled violence, and after sweeping across the Atlantic and traversing the country will exhaust its energies upon the rugged front offered by the Rocky Mountains. The fishermen of the Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland have not been slow to appreciate his predictions, and have made arrangements to be in port on the date of the destructive storm.

Serious Railway Accident.

Word was received at Winnipeg on Friday that the train which left Vancouver on the 7th had been caught in a forest fire on the morning of the 8th and the baggage, mail cars and two passenger coaches burned, the passengers, however, escaping without injury. At first the report was not credited and as telegraphic communication west of Medicine Hat is stopped there is no means of ascertaining reliable information on the subject. Later reports, however, confirm the first account, and the latest information shows that it is substantially correct. It appears that the train in question, which was the second through train for Vancouver, left that place on the 7th with three passenger coaches and a composition mail, baggage and express car. Farwell, at the second crossing of the Columbia River, was reached without accident or delay and the train left on time for Donald. Between these two points the track runs for many miles through the belt of very heavy timber. As the train approached, the timber was discovered to be on fire, but not so extensively as to raise any apprehensions of danger. When the burning belt was reached, a portion of the train suddenly left the track, caused, it is supposed, by burning of the ties, and before the cars could be removed the fire destroyed the mail and two passenger cars. The mail, however, was saved. Passengers arrived in Donald twelve hours late and reached Winnipeg at midnight on Saturday.

Bright's Reply to Gladstone.

Mr. Bright has replied to Mr. Gladstone as follows: "I am sorry my speech has irritated you. It has been as great a grief to me to speak as I have spoken as it has been to you to listen to read." Mr. Bright argued that Mr. Gladstone's asking last November for a majority to enable him to be independent of Mr. Parnell was by the country as well as by the Liberals understood to mean a majority to resist Mr. Parnell, and not to make a complete surrender to him. Referring to Mr. Gladstone's objection to his quotation of his phrase describing the Parnellites as marching through rapine to the disruption of the Empire, Mr. Bright says he believes there is now such an Irish conspiracy, and that it is expecting and seeking its further success through Mr. Gladstone's measures. Concerning the Irish land purchase bill, Mr. Bright thinks both Mr. Gladstone's friends and enemies throughout the country have the right to know the Premier's intentions concerning his future actions on the measure, and adds: "Your language seems to me rather a puzzle than an explanation, and the language of your colleagues is contradictory, though little clearer."

THE FISHERIES MATTER.

Secretary Bayard Gives Some Good Advice.

PORTLAND, ME., July 13. In a letter to the owners of the schr. Cushing, seized at Shelburne, Secretary Bayard points out his efforts to solve the fishery problem, and says that in the meantime it is the duty and manifest interest of all citizens entering the Canadian jurisdiction, to ascertain and obey the laws and regulations there in force. For all unlawful deprivations of property or commercial rights, this government will expect to press for redress and compensation for innocent sufferers.

Still Arming.

LONDON, July 13. The French Government has ordered 60,000 repeating rifles to be distributed among the French troops before August. This action is attributed to the conduct of Germany in recently arming army battalions in Alsace Lorraine with similar weapons.

The West India Trade.

OTTAWA, July 13. It is understood that a commissioner will be appointed to proceed to the West Indies and South America with a view to the enlarging of the trade between Canada and those countries.

EARTHQUAKE.

THRILLING DETAILS.

A Terrible Spectacle.

FATAL RESULTS.

Whole Villages Destroyed.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.

The recent volcanic eruptions in New Zealand were the most destructive in the world's history. A terrible storm of thunder and lightning after midnight was followed by successive shocks of earthquake in quick succession up to 7 a. m., when a leaden-colored cloud was observed advancing from the south, spreading out until it covered the sky. While still moving, it burst with a sound of thunder, and shortly after showers of fine dust began falling. Mount Tarawera was the first volcano to break forth, and hardly were the flames seen issuing from its crater before the entire Paersa range of mountains belched forth in sympathy, hurling flames of burning lava and stones over the surrounding country. For the first time in tradition the extinct volcano of Ruapeha was awakened into activity. The entire country, over an extent of 12 miles long by 20 in breadth, was nothing but a mass of flame and hot crumbling soil, which in places rose to a height of forty feet, capped at the highest point by "Tekephe Grepers," said to have been the grandest in the world. During all this time showers of dust continued to fall, until at last it became so dense as to make the day appear as dark as night, and not until the second day did the dust cease falling. The dust emitted a strong sulphurous smell.

Numerous small native villages were totally destroyed. Warsaw was covered to a depth of ten feet with dust and ashes. Raitomahana was completely engulfed, as were also some other small villages in the vicinity. A great many lives were lost.

Further details say that the severity of the shock led people to believe that the island would sink into the sea. The sensation experienced was fearful beyond description. Immediately after the first shock, the inhabitants rushed frantically in all directions. When a second shock came, the entire country for miles around was lit up by a glare from the volcanoes.

The scene was as grand as it was awful. Huge volumes of smoke, illuminated with flames, suddenly burst forth from large mountains sixty miles away, and above the smoke could be seen huge masses of fire, resembling meteors rushing through the sky. The natives who escaped death, gathered in groups and, filled with abject terror, held religious services; but when another shock would cause the earth to tremble they would fall with their faces to the ground, quivering with fear.

BRITISH ELECTIONS.

The Result so Far.

THE CONSERVATIVE POLICY.

LONDON, July 13. The Tories have now elected 291 members; Unionists, 66; Gladstonians, 154; and Parnellites, 74. Negotiations between Lord Hartington and Salisbury are in progress. Lord Hartington has pledged himself to support Salisbury's Local Government Bill and reject all the approaches of Mr. Gladstone. If Gladstone remains in office the first move of the Unionists will be to vote "want of confidence."
