Large Attendance At Evangelistic Services At Montague

Unprecedented attendances — the largest in the entire history of the area—have greeted the visit of Evangelist Charles B. Templeton to the Montague area in his first week of Island-wide campaigning through July. Neither the theatre or Beaver Hall were able to contain the congregations and attendances of up to one thousand were reached, with hundreds of these unable to gain admittance.

Mrs. Constance Templeton, noted soprano soloist, joined Mr. Templeton in mid-week and sang, with great acceptance, at subsequent services.

Mr. and Mrs. Templeton will be heard in the Bedeque-Borden area this coming week as follows: Monday, July 10, at Bedeque United Church; Tuesday and Wednesday, July 11 and 12, at the Borden Rink, and Thursday and Friday, July 13 and 14, at the Bedeque Rink, and at Trinity United Church, Charlottetown, on Sunday at 11 a.m. and 8 p.m.

Appreciation From CP Members

The following letter of appreciation has been received by Mr. George Fraser, Director of Public Relations for the Province, from Mr. Jack Braley, Chief of Bureau, Canadian Press, Halifax:

"Dear George:

"This is to thank you very much on behalf of the CP Maritime members for the splendid reception given us on your beautiful Island and wonderful Dalvay.

"We all voted it was the most successful and interesting regional meeting on record and no small amount of the credit goes to George Fraser and the P. E. I. Government."

Four of the older boys, who are interested in life saving classes, were of considerable assistance as they amused the children on shore until it was time for their classes. Mr. Earl Burke, Chairman of the Southport S. W. S. committee, and Mrs. Burke, were among those present to watch the session. During the previous evening Red Cross S. W. S. films entitled "Heads Up" and Water Safety" were shown to over 50 enthusiastic children and their parents. Mr. Burke introduced Miss Lois Arsenault and Mr. Paul Cudmore who gave short talks on the importance of the Red Cross program.

tanks in South Korea. The tanks have not yet reached the front, however.

Lambert said the North Koreans had allowed the Americans to infiltrate northward 10 miles, then poured in flanking fire from the houses and hills of a village the Americans had passed through.

The Reds then drove a wedge between two American defence forces, he said, but were quickly brought under American artillery fire.

The Communist action, he said, had brought "to a crashing halt" the first American counter-move on the ground in the Korean war.

Reds Continue Push

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters continued to stress the southward push of at least three North Korean divisions. A midnight communique placed the invaders on a line roughly 70 miles south of the 38th parallel and said they were manoeuvring to envelop the defenders.

An otherwise unconfirmed report from a South Korean colonel said Pyongtaek, 14 miles north of Chonan and Chungju, 40 miles east of Ryontaek, had been recaptured by defending forces.

This suggested something of a no-man's land in the Chonan-Pyongtaek area, with both sides probing around in relatively small numbers.

MacArthur's communique said the North Korean third and fourth divisions were trying to envelop the defenders from a point north of Chonan to Mugung, 25 miles east of Pyongtaek, and 15 miles farther east of Chungju.

The front line now appears to run 40 miles across the North Korean invasion route from north of Chonan to Chungju.

The North Korean Fifth Division, mentioned for the first time in action, was placed by MacArthur some 26 miles north of Chungju and probing south and west. The Fifth Division had occupied Wonju.

Earlier field dispatches estimated 70,000 to 90,00 North Koreans now were committed to the invasion with 150 Russian-built tanks supporting them.

(Field stories have generally been running ahead of headquarters communiques by several hours or more but an advisory note early Saturday from Korea said the one telephone circuit was so clogged that headquarters accounts were catching up.

Better Flying Weather

Clear skies Friday gave the defenders' airpower a better chance to make itself felt. Light bombers swooped down on Red tank concentrations north of Pyongtaek and left an unspecified number of them in flames. Mustangs strafed the invaders in close support of the ground forces, ripped into enemy trucks, tanks, half tracks, troop cars, and one locomotive. There was no mention of Australian air activities.

Total enemy tank losses added up to a possible 16.

The communique announced loss of two B-26 attack bombers and three Mustang fighters. This meant the announced loss of 27 United States planes since the United States entered the conflict June 25.

Dedication Of New Window At Zion Tomorrow

The dedication of the new stained glass window at Zion Presbyterian Church will be held tomorrow morning at 11 a. m. with representatives of the three Armed Services in attendance. The new window is in memory of the 14 members of the congregation who lost their lives in the last war, and is placed there by the Women's Auxiliary of the Church.

A parade to the Church will be made by men of the Navy, Army, R. C. A. F. station at Summerside, and members of the Canadian Legion, accompanied by the Recce Band, directed by bandmaster R. F. Mugford. The parade will fall in at the Canadian Legion.

Lieut. Governor J. A. Bernard will be represented at the service by his Senior Aide de Camp, Lieut-Col. P. S. Fielding, M.M., E.D., and Mrs. Fielding.

Special speaker for the service will be the Rev. Fred Goforth, M.A., M.C., chaplain of the permanent army forces at Fredericton. Rev. Goforth was born in China, youngest son of Dr. and Mrs. Jonathan Goforth, pioneer missionaries of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. He was minister of Knox Church, Wallaceburg, Ontario, for five years, and lectured for two years on China, where he made a motion-picture travelogue. For the past ten years he has served as chaplain in the Canadian Army, being with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, 1st Canadian Infantry Division, through the Italian campaign. Rev. Goforth was awarded the Military Cross during the battle of Ortona, in December, 1943, and was wounded during the Lamone River campaign in December, 1944. He has been area chaplain (P) for New Brunswick since July, 1949.

Rev. Goforth has chosen as his subject for the morning service "Your Exeuse for being Alive", and will also speak at the evening service when he will take as his theme "Disenchantment."

Rev. G. Carlyle Webster, pastor of Zion, will be in charge of the service, and will dedicate the new windows. Special music will be supplied by the choir under the direction of Mr. Frank Johnston.

Jury Find Death From Drowning Was Accidental

A verdict of accidental death by drowning was brought in by the jury at the conclusion of the inquest into the death of Donald MacNevin, 38, of New Haven, held at the Cutcliffe funeral home, New Haven, last evening.

The deceased had been missing from his home where he resided with his mother and brother since Thursday, June 29th. His body was taken from the water of the West River on Sunday evening, July 2nd.

The results of the autopsy as performed by Dr. Harold Shaw, were read by Corporal A. W. Green, R. C. M. P., and stated that there was no evidence of injury before submersion, no alcohol in the stomach, and that death was apparently due to drowning.

Acting coroner for the inquest was Mr. W. J. MacDonald, J. P., of Bonshaw, and questions were asked the four witnesses by Mr. J. P. Nicholson, of the Attorney General's Department.

Corporal Green, the first witness to be questioned, told of being called to the scene, and seeing the body which had been taken from the water, and of finding tobacco and cigarette papers near by.

Lawrence Kickham, of New Haven, told of searching for the deceased after being notified of his disappearance, and on the Sunday evening walking to the shore with his two young daughters. The tide at that time was out and he had seen what appeared to be a shirt floating some short distance from the shore. He had met two other men at the shore and upon seeing the body had dispatched one of these men to contact the police. They then carried the body out of the water and left it on the shore until the arrival of the R.C.M.P. He stated that he thought the body had been in the water about four days due to the appearance of barnacles on the skin.

Joseph Kickham, son of the second witness, was then called to the stand and stated that he had walked down to the shore shortly after the body had been taken from the water. Upon arriving there he had found eyeglasses, false teeth, watch, and other miscellaneous articles which he thought belonged to the deceased.

The final witness called was Watson MacNevin, brother of the deceased. He stated that he had last seen his brother alive on the morning of June 29th, when he appeared to be in good spirits although he had not been feeling well for a few days. Upon arriving home that evening he was told by his mother that his brother had left shortly after he did that morning, carrying an axe, and walking towards the back field of their farm.

They did not become worried about his absence until Saturday when they decided a search was warranted, and began to make enquiries. He stated that there was a deep channel where the body had been found, not very far from the shore, and that his brother could not swim.

Members of the jury were Messrs. Hugh MacDonald, foreman, Neil Lamont, Harry MacKinnon, Donald MacFadyen, Joseph McQuillan, Thomas Devereaux and Melville Pollard, all of New Haven.

Full Program For British Scientists Here

The seven British Scientists who will pay a three-day visit to the Province over the week-end have a full program of activity lined up from the moment they land at Wood Islands on Sunday morning until they leave on Tuesday at noon.

The party, headed by Sir William Ogg, will be met at Wood Islands about 10.30 Sunday morning by officials of the Department of Agriculture here. Among those to greet the visitors will be Hon. C. C. Baker, Minister of Agriculture; Mr. R. C. Parent, Superintendent of the Experimental Farm; Messrs. R. R. Hurst, Officer in Charge of Plant Pathology, Dominion Science Service at the Experimental Farm; S. G. Peppin, officer-in-charge Seed Potato Inspection Services and H. W. Clay, Senior Livestock Fieldman.

The party will have luncheon at the Charlottetown Hotel and at 3 P. M. they will visit the Provincial Building and Confederation Chamber. Afterwards they will make a short motor tour of the City and in the evening, following dinner, they will be the guests of the Provincial Department of Agriculture on an air flight over the Province. They will gather for a fire side chat at the home of Mr. R. C. Parent that evening.

Monday morning they will visit the Experimental Farm and at noon will attend Rotary where Sir William Ogg has been invited to address the club. During the afternoon they will visit several farms in the central part of the Province, including that of Premier Jones.

Later they will visit the Experimental Farm where Sir William will plant an English Oak after which afternoon tea will be served. They will have a lobster dinner at Cavendish in the evening.

On Tuesday morning they will motor to Borden calling at some potato and livestock farms in the Freetown area. They will lunch on the Abegweit and will arrive in Amherst that evening.

Island Odds And Ends

Its quite a potato country east of Souris, right through from Souris River, Gowan Brae and beyond to Chepstow, Kingsboro, Baltic, North Lake and South Lake. Many a bushel reaches shipping points from the fields of such men as Fabian Howlett, Owen McCabe, Henry Mallard, Charles Ching, John Robertson & Sons, Robert Dixon, Clarence Rose, Francis Rose, L. D. Rose, Stanley Dingwell, Alvin McDonald, Bernie McDonald, Donald MacDonald and many other growers in this productive section of the Province.

Though a bit shaken by the experience of the year just past—most farmers in Eastern King's have again planted quite heavily. A few of these report that worms have destroyed many of "the sets" and may plant over again. Most people think it too late for replanting.

The Maritime Electric Company has a crew building a power line between Peter's Road and Murray Harbor North, a distance of about 13 miles. It is said that between 80 and 90 rural homes will benefit by this extension. Mr. R. K. Clements of Montague is superintending the work, which is progressing well despite bad weather.

Older veterans of the First World war and old time railroad men will regret to hear that "Archie" McEachern, formerly of Charlottetown and now a resident of Cornwall is ill in the P. E. Island Hospital. "Archie" served in the "Second Heavies" in the first big conflict and with the Veterans Guard in the last war, until illness forced his discharge. His present illness is a recurrence of one which forced his retirement from the C. N. Railroad a dozen or more years ago.

Al Cummings of North Lake, one of the best known anglers in the Province, is shaking his head in bewilderment about the failure of the trout to take either fly or bait. There are fish in the Lake, of that "Al" is sure, but they spurn everything thrown at them. Only one rod wielder, Councillor "Art" Gormley has had much success at the Lake in recent days. He caught ten very good trout over the Dominion Day holiday walk-end. Plenty of others from Charlottetown, Souris and points west have dangled a line with no reward.

Mr. Shaw MacMillan of Alberry Plains, former member of the local Legislature has been in the P.E. Island Hospital for several weeks. Meantime his mill-dam at Alberry Plains is being repaired and strengthened, and many tons of clay will soon reinforce it. Mr. MacMillan is one of Belfast's best liked residents, and is known to hundreds all over Queen's County. His ability as a platform speaker has won him more than an ordinary number of friends and acquaintances.

Human nature is—well— just human nature. Homecoming soldiers from the last war were just about unanimous in declaring they never wanted to see another battlefield—no more war-time soldiering for them. But now that the Korean business has possibilities of developing into something bigger, many an ex-flyer, infantryman or artillery gunner is wondering if the old tunic will fit. And it was the same after the first big "do", except that the lads of 1914-18 were "dads" in middle age for the most part, when Hitler kicked over the traces.

It may be said also, that the boys who kept shy of the last fracas will steer clear of anything that crops up in the next few years.

Race followers who attend the night show at the Charlottetown Driving Park tonight will see Col. Dan MacKinnon up behind "Babe" Britton once more. A bad actor at the start of last season the Babe was brought to hand by the Colonel and delighted track fans with his speed and competitiveness. Her performances over the last half of '49 were eye-opening, and to Col. MacKinnon race crowds willingly gave the credit. If she improves much this year—and she has plenty of speed—she might take a new record, as she did last year.

Charlottetown's police Chief, "Charlie" McArthur is clamping down on car drivers who park their cars anywhere, and anyhow. His men have been straightening out the careless and heedless ones with pointed instructions as to the right plan and manner to park. It might be called an educational program and if persisted in should turn out some graduates. The town's streets have too many vehicles moving through and parking on them, to permit safe navigation without some sensible checks and controls.

Sooner or later more parking space will have to be found, for the increasing traffic.

Marshfield Wins Softball Game

A very friendly and keenly contested softball game took place at Marshfield last evening with the Dominion Department of Agriculture Science Service boys losing to the home team in a close encounter by the score of 14-13.

The teams were evenly matched and the game proved to be a batting duel between the sluggers of both teams.

The Lab boys received good support from the many fellow employees present.

MacKinnon Cup Match Here Today

The first stage of the MacKinnon Cup Match, postponed from last Saturday due to unfavourable weather conditions, will get under way at two o'clock this afternoon over the Charlettetown Golf Club's Belvedere course.

The opening play, the first of three stages, will be an 18-hole, handicap, medal play, the winner being declared on a total points basis over the three stages.

No draws will be made for the match, and all contestants are asked to make up their own groups and arrange their own playing times, and need only report their entry at the Pro Shop before going out on the course.

Two Games In Island League Over Week-end

A twin bill in the Island Physical Fitness League will fall into action Sunday in Summerside and the local ball diamond. At Summerside the C. and B. seniors will play hosts to the Abbies while here at Charlottetown the Falcons and the R.C.A.F. Royals will meet for the second time this year.

Ment's Falcons will likely use Merlin MacKenzie, a righthander, against the Royals in an effort to solidify their second place standing in the league. The Royals on the other hand are expected to send McCullough against the Falcons, trying to take over undisputed third place in the league.

At Summerside the C. and B. crew are likely to send Cece Powell against the Abbies while the pitcher for the locals is expected to be Donnie MacLean. The construction crew will be out trying to run their undefeated string to five straight while the Abbies will battle hard to break their third place tie with the Royals.

Game times for both games is 2.30 and many fans are expected to sit in on the encounters.

K. Of C. Juniors To Play Exhibition At Summerside

The Knights of Columbus Junlors coached by Charlie Ryan and managed by Louis Butler will leave tomorrow for Summerside where they will tackle the Curran and Briggs junior team in an exhibition encounter to be played on the C. & B. diamond.

The locals, now entrenched in second place in the local junior loop, have a heavy hitting, slick fielding unit that should take a lot of beating. Their infield is about the hardest hitting combination in the junior league and their pitching, headed by Jackie Burke, Red MacKenzie, Phil Murphy and Donnie MacLean will provide a puzzle to the C. & B. batters.

The construction crew, on the other hand, have showed that they have plenty of class as brought out in their 9-1 win over the intermediate team from Moncton recently. With their imports getting the feel of local play and showing real top notch ball in their outings with the seniors, the game should be a natural.

Starting pitcher for the Knights will likely be Jack Burke but both Donnie MacLean and MacKenzie are ready for the word. Maurice Flynn will do the handling behind the plate. For the C. & B. team Finn will likely see action as the starting pitcher with Alan Stewart as second choice. Catching duties will likely fall on Louie Mitchell or Charlton, and American boy from Massachusetts.
