HOME DRESSMAKING.

Practical Hints for Rich and Poor Alike.

Making Dresses at Home Enables You to Have Two Dresses for the Price of One.

It is a well-known fact that a first-class dressmaker charges a first-class price, and a second-class dressmaker usually turns out work worth less than the money she asks for doing it.

There are many women who are compelled by their social position to dress well, but who cannot afford to spend $20 or $25 for a single dress.

DRESS PARADE AT NEWPORT.

A Dream of Fair Women Gaily Apparelled—One Specimen from the Past.

Marie Fourcand describes the dress of a young lady at Newport thus rapturously: "She had a sailor hat of white enameled leather perched on one side, and a fascinating head, and wore a gown of white canvas with a pink silk shawl spotted in white."

THE SMART NEWPORT GIRL.

The skirt was in flaring circular shape and untrimmied and was merely a short Eton jacket. The sleeves were of incredible size, and there were startling revers spreading away from the pink silk shirt over the tops of them.

A white satin tie and belt completed the bodice, and slender white canvas shoes added the last touch of perfection to the smart costume.

An ideal summer corset is made in the simplest way and with the simplest things. An ordinary clothes-horse is first draped with soft India silk in cool, winding curves, then made fast against the wall. Above it is a narrow shawl, on which rests a few works, a bit or two of lace and a jug for flowers.

Castoria. "Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Castoria. "Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

Castoria. "Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

Castoria. "Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphia, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
