Arab-Israeli Quarrel Strengthens King Hussein

By JOSEPH MASWEEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The new outbreak of the Arab-Israeli quarrel has strengthened King Hussein of Jordan. Young rulers have walked a more dangerous path. Hussein has defied Egypt's President Nasser and swung his country into the ranks of the Arab League. For Hussein, 22, the desert Arab is strewn with political body traps.

CALL TO MURDER
Nasser controlled radio and newspapers recently unleashed a vicious campaign against the King Hussein, who is regarded as a traitor to the Arab cause. Hussein's position has been precarious since British protection was withdrawn from his country at his own request.

REWARD FOR
Nasser, who already had deposed King Farouk in his own country, was the most recent to be assassinated. King Hussein is now the only Arab monarch left standing.

For their first began in earnest in July. The thermometer sank to 101 degrees below zero Dec. 12. Most of them are to be replaced before the start of another winter.
