Suggestions on Oysters.

The International Fisheries exhibition, so soon to take place in London will prove of peculiar interest to those countries that depend to large extent on their fish products. Our Island must be well represented not only in its fishing products but also by some acute observer who shall keep us informed of whatever may be of use in the advancement of our fishing ventures.

Our ordinary oyster would secure a good price in the English market, but why should we be satisfied with our ordinary one? Let the best kinds be found out and transplanted to our shores; and, above all, let an effort be made to settle the English "native" on our waters.

This "native" has its historical aspect. The old Romans had exemplary tastes, and they distinctly preferred the oysters of Rhotupie to any others. This place was somewhere in the vicinity of the Isle of Thanet, and there is little doubt that the existing "native" is a direct descendant of the Roman delicacy.

The Corporation of Quebec has been condemned to pay twelve hundred dollars and costs to a person who sustained injuries from a defective sidewalk. The decision is an important one, and should be carefully noted by our civic authorities.

The communication of Mr. Pitts which appears in to-day's EXAMINER is of some importance. If the position of the light is misleading, then, an immediate change should be at once made.

REPRESENTATIVES of American fruit-growers ask for absolute free trade in their products between the United States and Canada. Probably the farmers would be willing to join with the horticulturists and favour free trade in grain with all the world—if a tariff were asked for—just as England clamors for free trade in manufactures to which she does not fear competition.

The Rifle.

HALIFAX VS. CHARLOTTETOWN.

This very interesting shooting match was fired on Friday at Bedford Rifle Range, and resulted in a victory for Halifax. It will be remembered that last Autumn Major Dogherty, on behalf of the Charlottetown Rifle men, invited ten of the Halifax Rifle men to fire a friendly match here, and after an exceedingly close contest, Charlottetown won, leading their opponents by two points.

At the conclusion, the Halifax team entertained the visitors at the Belle Vue Hotel where a bountiful repast was prepared by the proprietor, Mr. T. Beech. After spending a very pleasant half hour after dinner, the party broke up, every one expressing himself as being well pleased with the friendly meeting that had taken place between the two teams.

The Khedive's Manifesto

Egypt Not to be Annexed.

Lift for Wolsey and Seymour

Special Despatch to the Examiner.

LONDON, Sept. 24. The Khedive of Egypt has issued a manifesto to his people, in which he declares that England was compelled to interfere in the rebellious proceedings of Arabi, on account of the great financial and canal interests she has in the country.

[The action of England regarding the Canal, threatens to overwhelm the international lawyers with extreme confusion and innumerable complications. The Canal is owned by a French Company, having its legal domicile in France, while nearly half of its shares are held by the British Government. It runs through territory belonging to the Khedive, who is himself, in some degree, subject to the Sultan.

It has been officially announced in London that Sir Garnet Wolsey and Admiral Seymour are to be raised to the peerage in acknowledgment of their distinguished services in the late Egyptian campaign.

Seizure of the "Irish World."

Several bundles of the New York "Irish World" have been seized at Liverpool, England, and have been detained by the Custom House Officials.

Rumored shooting of the Queen.

Much excitement has been caused here by the news that the Queen had been shot. Late on Sunday night the rumor was spread abroad in all directions and it was the cause of much uneasiness, that Her Majesty, while near the Stables at Balmoral had been shot and killed. There was no foundation for the rumor.

Another Railway Accident!

News has reached here of a dreadful railway accident in Austria. Fifteen persons were drowned, and thirty persons were injured by the falling of a railway bridge, precipitating the whole train into the river.

Loss of the "Phoenix."

To the Editor of the Examiner.

DEAR SIR,—The attention of the Government should be directed to the necessity of making some change in the position of the light here—though the light itself (Catoptic revolving, well kept, and in admirable order) is visible in clear weather, it is, probably, as any other light on this coast—yet, owing to its distance inland (nearly half a mile from the point) is, in thick or hazy weather, practically useless, or even worse, tending rather to mislead than direct.

H. M. S. "Phoenix" which was stranded on the reef near this point, on the night of the 12th inst., was, when she struck, coming from the northward under short sail before a heavy N. E. gale and sea, with thick rain squalls, and when the light was sighted, apparently steering a safe course, that would take her four or five miles clear of the Point, but the deceptive distance of the light, with probably an error in calculating the force of the current, which was then setting on the flood at the rate of five or six knots to the W. S. W. as it does here during heavy westerly gales (though the Admiralty Book of Sailing Directions gives it only two knots) this took her upon her port bow and swept her upon the reef.

Similar instances to this occurred when the S. S. Quebec, of the Dominion Line, whilst on a voyage from Halifax to Montreal in September 1879, struck within a few yards of where the "Phoenix" now lies, the evidence before the Court of Enquiry of the Board of Trade as to the cause of that mishap conclusively showed that the accident occurred through miscalculation of the distance of the light from the reef, the master supposing it to be upon the bill of the Point.

H. M. S. "Northampton" having on board the Admiral, Sir Leopold McClintock, with the "Foam" and "Charge" are anchored near the "Phoenix" and doing good work. The guns and much of the equipments have been saved, and every thing of value will be recovered if the weather continues moderate for a few days longer. The "Phoenix" is not, as yet, seriously injured, and it is possible an attempt will be made to float her off before the close of navigation. Her officers and crew landed safely, but lost much of their clothing and effects. They embarked on board the flagship yesterday. They were lodged in McClintock's lobster factory at the Point and the surrounding farm houses, and were very kindly treated by the people in the neighborhood. They, however, suffered greatly before leaving the wreck, were exposed upon her deck to the fury of the gale from Tuesday night until Thursday when it abated and they succeeded in launching their boats and landing through the breakers.

It must be some consolation to Capt. Grenfell to feel that, though he lost his fine ship through no fault of his own, he succeeded in saving every man on board. His officers and crew behaved nobly, though naturally anxious to leave the ship the moment she struck—(this would doubtless, with the heavy sea then running, have caused the loss of many lives if an attempt was then made to land)—obeyed his orders to remain without a murmur, though for a time the inhabitants on shore feared that few of them could be got ashore alive. It spoke well for the discipline of the ship that over a hundred men should be kept in control under such trying circumstances.

It is strange that the Dominion Government rendered the Admiral no assistance, nor, so far as I can learn, tendered any to either the Admiral or Capt. Grenfell. Had this disaster occurred on the coasts of some foreign state, would they be treated with the same indifference and neglect? How much, then, is our loyalty worth when put to the test?
