

[WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER.]

(The following lines were written on hearing of the prevalence of diphtheria, and the deaths that have resulted therefrom, in Melville and surrounding districts):—

Weep! Melville—weep! thy silent grief
Draws forth a prayer of anguish deep,
From hearts that vainly seek relief,
While they their midnight vigils keep,
Beside the sufferer's lonely bed—
Beside the dying and the dead.

Weep! Melville—weep! thy tears are lost
In waves of grief that o'er thee roll;
No foreign foe—no warlike host—
Tread o'er thy fields without control;
Not famine's lean consuming hand—
But pestilence stalks through the land.

Diphtheria!—how dread the word!
A venture fierce for human prey;
Agent of Death! thy voice is heard!
And sorrow chases joy away;
One wing o'er Melville thou dost wave,
The other spans the lonely grave.

Dark as the night, thy shadows fall
O'er Little Sands and High Bank's Shore;
Flat River, too, has heard thy call;
But Melville, weep!—there are no more;
Six graves are fresh; the silent bell,
The church, the school—their story tell.

O Thou, who feels for human grief,
List to the cry of anguish deep,
From hearts that vainly seek relief,
While they their midnight vigils keep;
Seal up the grave, wipe off the tear;
Let hope dispel their darkest fear.

Modern London.

Last year, according to Col. Henderson's report, 26,710 new houses; covering a length of eighty-six miles, were built in the metropolitan police area, London, which now contains 4,788,657 persons—the largest number probably ever packed within fifteen miles of a common centre. Out of this enormous multitude twenty-three children and one hundred and fifty-four adults were entirely lost. Their disappearance is one of the mysteries of London, upon which but little light is thrown by the fact that fifty-four bodies of persons found dead and unknown and buried before identification. There were three times as many people killed on the streets of London in 1881 as it cost to storm Arabia's position at Tel-El-Kebir, and ten times as many wounded, the figures being—killed 252, wounded 3,400. There were 800 fires, 274 suicides, 11 murders, and only three convictions, 470 burglaries and only 91 conviction; 27,228 persons were apprehended as drunk and disorderly—a decrease of more than 8 per cent. since 1881, although there has been an increase of population of over 80,000. The temperance movement seems to be telling at last, even in London—the proportion of apprehensions per 1,000 of population for the last four years being:—1878, 7,809; 1879, 7,345; 1880, 6,345; 1881, 5,698.

Farm Notes.

The largest sheep-owner in Texas is a woman known as the "Widow Callahan." Her sheep, more than 50,000 in number, are divided into flocks of 2,000 head each.

The Forest and Stream tell us how a gang of burglars were betrayed by their dog. The tale runs thus:—After looting a boatman's house, the thieves made off with their booty, but unfortunately, omitted to look after their dog, and shut him in the house, where he was found in the morning.

The price of wheat at the present time is creating some consternation in English farming circles. A large farmer in an adjoining county to Herts has just trashed out twenty-four acres of good standing crop of wheat. The produce is 50 qrs.; 50 qrs. at, say 40s., equal to £2,000. Rent, rates, tithes, and taxes and expenses of tillage, harvesting, &c., will cause no profit, but a loss of £100 on the crop, which should be the mainstay of England.

The most successful sale of Polled Aberdeen cattle ever chronicled took place last week, when the entire herd, bred with so much care by the late Mr. Walker, Montpelton, near Banff, was disposed of. The forty animals disposed of realised £3,911 6s. or an average of £97 15s. 7d. The highest figure realised was 315 gs., paid for a seven-year-old cow, purchased by Mr. Wilken, who was loudly cheered when for 295 gs. he purchased another. For comparison, we give the averages at the four previous sales which show the highest averages:—At Montpelton sale 38 head averaged £49 6s. 5d.; at Tillyfour 70 averaged £48 1s. 6d.; at Balquharn 36 averaged £56 4s. 8d.; and at Aboyne 32 averaged £50 6s. Mr. Wilken's purchases were made on behalf of the Hon. H. M. Cochrane, Compton Canada. Then followed the sale of the Advie Mains Polled Herd, which was dispersed on Tuesday by Messrs. McDonald and Fraser of Perth. Animals of good character and pedigree were much sought after, and many of the stock were bought for exportation to America. Fourteen cows were brought into the ring, and the highest price was 234 gs. In two-year-old heifers, the highest was 103 gs. Of nine very superior yearling heifers, the highest price obtained was 325 gs. The average for 42 animals was £88 3s.
