Summerside Store And Church History Reviewed

The history of Summerside's most impressive business district and its churches was reviewed yesterday by the Summerside Rotary Club by Mr. J. Frank Arnett. Mr. Arnett is a charter member of the club and past president. His address brought to light how some stores of Summerside, which are one of the town's greatest assets, came to be established and their development. Now they "must be regarded as the finest for any town of like size in Canada."

NOTED FORMER ISLAND

(Continued from page 1) world. Prior to 1929 there was little demand for Canadian seed outside the United States. In that year Mr. MacLeod made arrangements through regular trade channels for a trial shipment of 33 bushels of B.C. grown Burbank certified seed potatoes to be shipped to the Argentine. The experiment proved successful. Canada had good seed to sell and the export market has continued to expand, with about 2 1/2 million bushels being shipped abroad from the 1954 crop.

BORN IN UIGG Born in Uigg, P. E. I., Haddon Spurgeon was the name for the great evangelist Charles Haddon Spurgeon. MacLeod early in life left the home farm filled with his own special brand of evangelical zeal and started to spread the "Gospel of Potato Improvement" first in his native Maritimes and later in the great open spaces of Western Canada, where men have a reputation for doing things in a big way. The story goes that in his early days when one acre was considered a big potato field, Mr. MacLeod talked so convincingly to a prospective seed grower on the prairies that the wheat farmer was all for planting a full 160 acres "as a start".

A graduate of Truro and the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, Mr. MacLeod is still remembered by many old time potato growers in Alberta and Saskatchewan as the first certified seed potato inspector to come knocking at their door with his potato story.
