MR. & MRS. FLOYD LANDRY AND ATTENDANTS.

Married At Charlottetown In Double Ring Ceremony

The marriage of Mary Jean Jay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Jay of Charlottetown, P.E.I. to Floyd Cecil Landry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Landry of Georgetown, P.E.I., took place at Saint Dunstan's Bascilia on February 3rd., at 9.15 p.m. Rev. Father Frank MacDonald officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was lovely in a floor length gown of white nylon brocaded lace over taffeta, with a matching bolero. The long sleeves tapered to points over the hands. A tiara of seed pearls and sequins held her shoulder length veil of tulle illusion and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Lottie MacDougall cousin of the bride was bridesmaid. She wore a ballerina length gown of yellow nylon lace with yellow accessories and carried a bouquet of white and yellow mums.

The best man was Albert Landry, brother of the groom. Ushering the guests were Mr. Harold Landry and Mr. Paul Jay.

A reception was held at the Queen Hotel for relatives and guests of the bride and groom. Following the reception the bride and groom left on a wedding trip to various parts of the Maritimes. For travelling the bride wore a Royal blue wool sheath dress, with fur jacket and royal blue accessories, and a corsage of white carnations. Later the groom will leave for Barriefield, Ontario, where he will be taking a position in the Canadian Army.

MARY HAYWORTH

Should Wife Entertain Husband's Associates?

Dear Mary Haworth: My husband has recently joined the staff of a federal agency. Is it proper for us to invite various senior members of the staff and their wives to our home? Or should we wait until after we have been invited by older colleagues?

Is a younger staff member ever correct in inviting an older staff member, before the latter has been hospitable to him? Can you refer me to a book dealing with general procedures in Washington social life? G.R.

NEWCOMER ISN'T "PUSHY"

Dear G.R.: It is not good form to be pushy, socially, whether you are younger or older than the people around you. Newcomers to a group situation make a better impression if they wait for a signal, before becoming outreaching in pursuit of closer exchange.

Your best bet is to be friendly and interested, but demure and composed, rather than aggressive, on the score of getting acquainted with your husband's associates and their wives. Let them make the first move to include you as friends. Be ready, however, to respond cordially, as an appreciative attractive guest, and later, as a skillful hostess.

For a savvy book about Washington social customs, try Vera Bloom's vastly interesting, instructive, anecdotal volume: "Entertaining Lady: An Informal Guide to Good Living" (Putnam's)—published in 1949. It discusses etiquette, cookery, party giving, home decorating, personal chic, travel sense, the art of good conversation, etc., with humor and authority—and also tells the reader how not to be a bore M.H.

CLOTHES, HAIR, FRET

Dear Mary Haworth: I am a girl 16, much interested in good grooming. I choose colors to accentuate my blue eyes; and wear pink, yellow, blue and white most often. Is this right? Also I wear eye make-up, thinking this will help. Is this correct?

I have another problem, too—my hair, which I wear pony tail, but I am getting tired of it. I have always wanted to go to a noted hair stylist who really knows what he is doing. But I realize it would be very expensive; also I am afraid to get my hair cut, as many people mightn't like it; and it might not be becoming.

I have a rather full face and keep my bangs curled and combed to the side. What to do about these problems? Please advise me. E.S.

SEEMS PICAYUNE

Dear E.S.: Maybe I've forgotten how it feels to be 16, and taking stock of oneself in the mirror, in search of ammunition with which to conquer the world. Still, it seems to me that your concern about appearance is a little too anxious, detailed and, well, picayune, to be really fruitful—in the sense of adding to your attractiveness.

So much attention to contrived looks, at your tender age, suggests a too-meagre personality—an insufficient interest in the life about you; a lack of real relatedness to other people, in terms of genuine affection, sympathy and reciprocal acceptance.

In truth, it is the unstudied simplicity of unspoiled youth—the freshness, unaffectedness, the unawareness of self—that gives plus loveliness to the young. But your "picky" concern to accent the color of your eyes, and fear that a haircut might prove unbecoming, rob you of that freedom of being, as regards looks, that gives a sort of wild rose grace to girlhood.

BETTER NOT GILD

So much for the philosophy of teen-age charm. Now for specifics. Eye make-up at 16 is comparable to dabbing dirt on the face. At best it gilds the lily, makes one look pointlessly older, and possibly cheap. Preferably, groom your lashes and brows faithfully with a cosmetic brush made for the purpose. Apply a harmless ointment to add luster; and use a lash curler. That is artifice enough.

Wear any colors that appeal to you. Don't be tiresome about your blue orbs. Experiment with new hair styles. If you find a cropped coiffure isn't what you want, remember clipped hair grows long again. M.H.

BONNIE HAT

BY ALICE ALDEN

BLITHE bonnets that just seem to sing of spring provide the antidote to late winter blues and wardrobe weariness. Beguiling and bonnie is this flirtatious profile hat of gold-colored antique Milan straw. Hattie Carnegie decks out the stepped-up crown with an orange poppy and a black velvet band. Shown with a golden wool suit, it would also do right by one in black.

Popular Island Couple Married In Toronto

Wanstead United Church, Toronto, Ontario, was the scene of a very lovely wedding recently, when Gladys Joyce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe A. MacDonald, York, P.E.I., became the bride of Althol George Jenkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis H. Jenkins, Southport, P.E.I. Rev. C.W. Tomplin performed the double ring ceremony. Miss Ann Mason played the nuptial music.

The church was beautifully decorated with large baskets of white mums and gladiolas. The guest pews were marked with large white satin bows and white mums.

The bride, given in marriage by her cousin, Mr. Victor Hartwig looked lovely in her floor length gown of white net over satin, with an overskirt of white brocaded lace worked with dainty designs of seed perls. It featured a fitted bodice to form a high neckline on long pointed sleeves.

Her finger tip veil of tulle illusion embroidered with sequins fell from a juliette cap scalloped with sea pearls. She carried a white Bible with white satin streamers and red roses.

The bridesmaids were: Mrs. Walter Dickieson, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Victor Hartwig, cousin of the bride. They wore identical ballerina length gowns of red velvet with matching hats and mitts. Each carried a colonial bouquet of white and yellow baby mums.

The groom was attended by his uncle, Mr. Winston Chandler. The ushers were Mr. Marrill MacDonald and Mr. Alnon Jenkins.

The mother of the bride wore a blue suit with pink and white accessories. Her corsage was of pink sweetheart roses. The groom's mother wore a navy dress with white accessories. Her corsage was also of pink roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Muirhead's Restaurant for forty-five guests. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Miss Ruth Reid, friend of the bride, was in charge of the guest book. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Winston Chandler and responded by the groom.

Out of town guests included; Mrs. Roscoe A. MacDonald, York Mrs. Hollis H. Jenkins and daughter Heather; Southport; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jenkins also of Southport; Miss Muriel Willard, Morell; Miss Ruth Reid, Mrs. James Anderson of Summerside Mr. Ralph Harris, O'Leary.

Congratulatory telegrams were received from Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Chappell, York; Mrs. Mack Vickerson, Cornwall; Mr. Roscoe MacDonald, York; Mr. and Mrs. T.L. Thompson, Summerside; Miss Muriel MacDonald, York.

For travelling the bride chose a red velvet dress with navy and white accessories. Her corsage was of red roses and white gardenias.

Previous to her marriage the bride was tendered several showers by friends and relatives in Toronto and Oshawa.

The happy couple left amid friends and confetti for Niagara Falls and Buffalo. On their return the took up residence at 46 Glenshaw Crescent, Toronto, Ontario.

Substantial Fish Stew An International Dish

"At this time of year fish stew is a good choice for the substantial dish at dinner, not only because it is Lent, but also because the weather is still chilly and cold," the Chef observed.

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC

"Along the Mediterranean, bouillabaisse is a favorite. It's little complicated to make at home, but a good canned version is available. In Italy mussel stew is often served," I said.

"Here in the States, we originated oyster stew and clam chowder, both available in canned or frozen form, and also fish chowder, and New England lobster stew," I added. "We have quite a repertoire of substantial fish stews available in this country at present.

"As the main dish, fish stew servings should be very generous, preferably in bowls and accompanied with hot toast, or not-sweet corn sticks, muffins, or dark bread and butter. Add plenty of crisp celery, radishes, and carrot sticks to munch.

"Included a salad in the meal and finish with a fruit dessert to complement the fish."
