

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

JUNE 19, 1884.

Editorial Notes.

Mr. Gladstone says that, notwithstanding the tone of a large section of the American press on the dynamite outrages, he has the fullest confidence in the friendly sentiments which the American people generally entertain toward England.

The general feeling in England on the subject of the dynamite outrages is not unfairly represented by Punch. It represents John Bull and Brother Jonathan talking, while O'Donovan Rossa appears as a skunk in the distance. Brother Jonathan says, "John, why can't you shoot down that beast?"

The melancholy circumstances incident to the illness and death of Mr. John Murphy, have given rise to a great deal of sympathy in this community. Mr. Murphy left his own home ill, hoping to find in the coolness of his brother's home the health he lost in the heat of the tropics. But—he arrived here, to find his brother dead, and to die himself.

The following from the Moncton Times is in accord with a report which has been current here for some days:—

"We are informed on what we believe to be pretty reliable authority, that Judge Hensley will be the next Governor of Prince Edward Island, and that Hon. W. W. Sullivan, the present Premier, will be appointed to the vacant seat on the Bench. These appointments if made would, we believe, be eminently satisfactory to the people of Prince Edward Island."

The London Times reviews the events which have led to the position in Egypt and admits that the evils both of native and foreign rapacity have become worse instead of better under English occupation. It charges the present disorganization of Egyptian affairs to the want of a distinct policy on the part of the English Government, and contends that the greater part of the present difficulties might have been avoided by a firm administration.

A veteran teacher has passed away. Mr. Donald McKay, whose death is announced in another column, taught the Grammar School at Malpeque sixty-two years ago; and from that time until 1879, when he closed his last school, has taught almost without intermission. He was one of the very first teachers on the Island, who received public money for his teaching; and he was one of the first teachers who passed an examination under the provisions of the Free Education Act. It is probable that he instructed a greater number of the youth of this Province than any other man. Until last year, he enjoyed comparatively good health; and he departed quietly and happily on Wednesday last in a serene and venerable old age.

Mr. Blake's retirement from politics is inferred from the fact that he has again appeared in Court. A Toronto despatch reminds us that he "rather ostentatiously withdrew from the practice of his profession in order, as he said, that he might give his whole time to the service of his party. Last session he stated that, in order that he might do this, he had given up an income of $20,000 a year, for one of $2,500, which it was supposed at the time was what his name was considered worth to the firm with which he was connected. The fact that he has recently renewed his practice, having appeared in court to argue some cases, lends color to the rumor that he contemplates giving up politics. Certain it is that the management of party matters since he has been leader, has not increased his popularity in his own party, among whom there is a very decided spirit of revolt."

The Montreal Gazette remarks:—"The opposition have a peculiar way of confounding debt with taxation. The object of these unfair tactics is, of course, to deceive the people by creating the impression that every dollar expended by the government for useful and profitable works involves a burden on the taxpayer. As a matter of fact, the net interest on the public debt paid last year was $271,717 less than in 1879-80, and as the saving of interest through the redemption of the 5 per cent. loan is estimated at $325,000, there is a net saving of $596,717, for which the country could borrow $15,000,000 without being under the necessity of increasing the taxation. The loan just issued by the Finance Minister bears interest at the rate of 3 1/2 per cent., which is equivalent to a saving of $350,000 annually on the debt of 1883, and which on the issue now made will save $50,000 annually as compared with the rate previously paid."

Respecting the Canadian loan which has just been issued on the London market, the Journal of Commerce says:—"The Globe is preparing for another assault. It announces that the new loan ought to be placed at three per cent., and if it should turn out that such terms cannot be obtained, then of course the responsibility will be thrown on the Finance Minister, by those who have spared no effort to prevent his success. We shall be very glad indeed to find that the state of the money market is such as to enable the minister to obtain a loan at 3 per cent., but we do not hesitate to state beforehand that the agent of the Dominion Government in London may be relied on to give the best advice to the minister that it is possible to procure."

An Arab, said to be the only survivor, has arrived at Korosko, and gives an account of the massacre of the garrison and 2,000 of the male inhabitants.

CRICKET AND LAWN TENNIS MATCHES—THE BALL TO-NIGHT.

His Honor the Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Haviland give a ball this evening in honor of the Canada and her officers.

The games at the Park were very enjoyable. Quite a large number of ladies and gentlemen played Lawn Tennis, and Prince George took part in two games. In the first His Royal Highness played with Mr. Pelham, against Mr. A. J. Warburton and Mr. F. Arnold, the former being winners by six sets to two. In the second, His Royal Highness played with Mrs. Arnold against Mr. Pelham and Mrs. Maxwell. This game was not finished, but the score was four sets for the former and two for the latter.

The following is the score of the cricket match:—

PACE OF THE CAMEL.

As a matter of fact, and in spite of its having carried Mohamet in four jumps from Jerusalem to Mecca, seven miles an hour is the camel's best pace; nor can it maintain this rate over two hours. Its usual speed is about five miles an hour—a slow, louching pace, beyond which it is dangerous with nine camels out of ten, to urge them, or else, as Asiatics say, they "break their hearts" and die "literally" on the spot. For, when a camel has been pressed beyond this speed, and is spent, it kneels down and not all the wolves in Asia will make it budgie again. A fire under its tail is as useless as food in front of its nose. The camel remains where it kneels, and where it kneels it dies.

Talmage has been considering the quantity of gold produced in late years, and in a recent sermon says that the time is coming when "the people will eat from silver plates and drink from golden chalices." If the good preacher had gone on and told his flock what would be on the plates and in the chalices he would have done no more than his duty.

The Scott Act.

ADDRESS BY REV. N. MACKAY, OF SUMMERSIDE.

(From the Toronto Globe.)

A meeting was held at Parkdale, Ont., on Friday night under the auspices of the Parkdale Scott Act Association.

The principal speaker was the Rev. N. McKay, of Summerside, P. E. Island, who had delivered an able address at the Presbyterian Assembly. He said:—"No part of my work as a minister of the gospel is more important and more serious, affecting the interests and well-being of the millions, than the work of removing the cause of intemperance. He came, he said, from the beautiful Province of Prince Edward Island, whose soil was composed of the disintegrated old sandstone rock, and where you could plough for one thousand acres and not find a stone as big as your shoe, and the beauty and quality of the farms and of the farming was superior to anything he had ever seen elsewhere. He did not come here to teach principles of temperance. These were well understood in Ontario, and that the people are fully awake to them is evidenced by the nature of their License Act. He was one of the number who, in P. E. Island, got together before the Scott Act was passed to be ready to avail themselves of it, and immediately it was passed we put it into operation in Prince County, that being the first County to adopt the Act. One of the chief dangers in the present campaign is that of indifference. This was our trouble at that time. Our friends were so indifferent that we only polled 1,200; but the liquor party were also so indifferent that they only polled 200. No sooner than the Act was passed, however, our work and difficulties began. We appointed an Inspector on salary for every county, and at once brought up the offenders against the Act. But appeals were made, and the constitutionality of the Act was questioned, so that no judge could be got to enforce the payment of fines. Thus from the year 1879 to 1883 the Scott Act was a dead-letter. We obtained plenty of evidence, carried our cases, but could not collect a dollar of the fines. The result was the law was openly defied, and wild drunkenness and complete debauchery obtained among the people. Nearly every second man carried his flask, and the dreadful effects of free rum were everywhere apparent. In 1883 the constitutionality of the Act was declared, and in three months we had the thing crushed under our feet; not, however, without energetic action against difficulties, and we very speedily had the traffic under control, so that you can now travel from end to end of the country and not see any signs of drunkenness. The day before last Christmas, said the speaker, I travelled with a friend round the bay on which our town is built, a distance of eight miles. We tried to find a drunken man, but although we met 73 teams, some of them with four or five persons on them, we could not see one single individual.

THE WORSE OR DRINK.

Three years ago a weak man dare not travel that road alone. He would not say there was no drinking. There are some who, having the means, get liquor in from St. John or Halifax, and keep it in the house, but they are the people who are hastening their own speedy end, and these will soon die out. They had also doctors, as in Halifax, who abused their powers, but public opinion will soon set that right, and if it is not strong enough you will join us in demanding a law that will restrain these men. When we set to work to bring the Scott Act into operation we were told the temperance people were against it; and we said "then we ought to know it." When a man canvasser met a Protestant he would say that Scott was a Roman Catholic, and when he met a Catholic he would say that the fanatics who were running this were bigoted Protestants. If he met a Tory he was told that the Act was carried by the Mackenzie Grit Government, and if he met a Grit he would tell him that it was a Tory dodge. The temperance advocates stumped the country, however, and met these statements everywhere, the result being that they had a majority of one-half more than all the votes polled on the first submission of the Act, although the election was in the midst of the severest and coldest weather of the winter of 1882-3. They had also the complete co-operation of all religious bodies,

PROTESTANTS AND CATHOLICS,

not one single priest or minister being opposed to their principles. In one of our townships were a number of French voters whom they could not influence, and when the liquor men went among them the priest met them and told them to go about their business, they were not wanted there. The result of this was that they had now completely captured the country, and a drop of liquor cannot be got there unless in some back room a law-broker runs the risk of a $50 fine. To carry this Act out, however, there must be work and sacrifice made, and a band of half a dozen men must keep watch on the enemy. There must also be no mistakes made in serving processes and other legal technicalities, summonses and writs must be properly made out, and John Smith's summons must not be served on Thomas Jones, and vice versa. The feeling all over the Dominion is growing in favor of total prohibition. The revolution of feeling during the past ten years is marvellous. He (Mr. McKay) attended this first assembly as a Presbyterian twenty-nine years ago, and if he ventured then to speak of total abstinence some D. D. would get up and chop his head off. He had heard D. D.'s quote the example of Christ, as one of the local liquor dealers in Toronto is now doing in letters to the clergy. The man, the speaker continued, who quotes Jesus as an abettor of modern bacchanalism is a blasphemer. The temperance people mean to conquer; their object is to free the Dominion from the traffic. But if in the present struggle they are beaten, those who do their duty will have the satisfaction to know that whatever lives are lost, whatever souls are damned, and whatever blood is shed, they will be able to look to heaven and say, "Our hands have not shed this blood."

The rev. gentleman's address was thoughtful and eloquent throughout, and was listened to with great attention. A vote of thanks was moved by Mr. Clement, of Waterloo County, who said he had met a commercial traveller who stated his belief that the Scott Act would carry even among the Germans in Waterloo if tested. The motion was seconded by Mr. Johnson, of Parkdale, and carried.
